Betrothed

PRINCESS ILEANA

ILEANA TO WED COUNT

BUCHAREST, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Official announcement was made today of the engagement of Princess Ileana, only daughter of Dowager Queen Marie, of Rumania, to Count Alexander Hochberg, second son of Prince Hans Henri XV, of Pless.

The betrothal had been rumored for some time. The Princess and the Count have been friends for years, and the romance reached its culmination some weeks ago when Princess Ileana paid a prolonged visit to the Castle of Hochberg in Silesia.

Princess Ileana is 21 years old. She was born on December 23, 1908. Her husband-to-be, whose full name is Count Alexandre-Frederic - Guillaume - George - Konrad - Ernest - Maximillien, is three years her senior. He was born in London on February 1, 1905.

The count comes from one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in Europe, which traces its feudal ancestry back to the twelfth century. Princess Ileana is the aunt of King Michael of Rumania.

DOG TEAMS HEAD FOR WRECK

Bodies Believed Buried Under 18 Cases of Gasoline in Cabin; Craft Is Smashed

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Mushers from North Cape, Siberia, today headed their dog teams toward the spot where the wrecked airplane of Carl Ben Eielson, noted Arctic flier, and his companio, Earl Borland, was located Saturday, expecting to find the bodies of the two long-missing birdmen.

Belief that Eielson and Borland were killed when their plane crashed and their bodies would be found under 18 cases of gasoline in the cabin was expressed here after a more detailed report of the finding of the wreck was received.

LONG SEARCH

Joe Crosson and Harold Gillam, Alaskan fliers, who for more than a month had been searching for the missing aviators in the North Cape area, located the wrecked plane, climaxing a search which has lasted more than two months and which recently beecame an international affair with the entry of Russian aviators.

When Crosson and Gillam sighted Eielson's ship, only a small part of a wing and a portion of the cabin protruded from the snow, wreckage was scattered in all directions. The engine was 100 feet from the cabin. Crosson opened a door of the cabin and a slab of bacon fell out.

INSUECTION NOT CLOSE

Messages describing the discovery of the wreck indicated that Crosson and Gillam did not inspect it clasely at once, believing that Eielson and Borland had been killed by the impact and that their bodies would be found buried in the snow and ice.

Later messages gave rise to the belief that Eielson and Borland died in the cabin of their ship and that the gasoline cases concealed their bodies.

SOVIET FLIER AIDS HUNT.

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Boris Chuchnovsky, famous Soviet airman, landed at Taishet, Siberia, today, en route for North Cape to aid in the search for the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland.

Mrs. Hoover, Well, Attends Services

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—President and Mrs. Hoover attended services at their regular Quaker meeting house of the Friends Orthodox Church yesterday.

Mrs. Hoover, who recently had a severe cold, appeared to be in splendid health. She recovered from her cold some time ago, and has been going out quite frequently of late.

Life of Woman Added to Dry Shooting Toll

Here is an instance of how an innocent woman was shot in the government's attempt to enforce prohibition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A gun battle between United States customs inspectors and Mexican liquor smugglers in El Paso, Texas, September 11, 1924, cost the life of an innocent Mexican woman.

This case, listed in the Customs Bureau in Washington, was investigated for the Washington Herald in October, 1929 by the San Antonio (Tex.), Light, a Hearst newspaper, through a resident correspondent in El Paso. The correspondent, after checking the records reported: "Mrs. C. Andavasa, an innocent Mexican woman, unfortunately was in the line of fire between Mexican liquor smugglers and American customs inspectors and was shot through the hip. Smugglers escaped, but Americans took woman to hospital for treatment."

BRITISH CANCEL 2 CRUISERS

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—As the naval powers moved toward compromise today on two of their most troublesome problems—the physical methods of limiting fleets and Italy's demand for parity with France—Great Britain made a new gesture of faith in the naval conference success by announcing that construction of her two newest cruisers has been canceled.

CONFERENCE CHEERFUL

The twin attack on two of the most difficult of the conference problems started the second week of the conference in an atmosphere of smiling confidence.

A tonnage measurement plan for limiting fleets was discussed for more than two hours at the Downing street session.

The Big Five did not finally complete the agenda but did decide that the question of tonnage measurements be taken up first at the next session of the full conference.

It also was decided to let the other subjects come up in the alphabetical order of the coun-

WHEELER ASKS DRY QUIZ FOR G.O.P. CHIEFS

Blames Enforcement Failure On Politics; Mitchell Favors Bureau Transfer

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Prohibition enforcement has failed because national Republican administrations have made it a "political football," Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, charged in the Senate today.

Wheeler called upon President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission to summon members of the Republican National Committee before it to determine "how prohibition officers are appointed."

BACKS DRY TRANSFER

While Wheeler was speaking in the Senate, Attorney General William D. Mitchell was urging the House Expenditures Committee to expedite action on legislation to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

Wheeler was incensed by the action of the administration in transferring John F. C. Hebert, former prohibition chief in Baltimore, to the Montana-Idaho district. He charged Hebert was guilty of corruption and was kept in the prohibition service through the influence of politicians.

Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, immediately repudiated newspaper statements that Hebert was his protege. Borah said Hebert had such a record of "corruption and malfeasance," according to Department of Justice investigators, that he "should be in a penitentiary."

Wheeler said the administration must "want to punish my state for selecting two Democratic

Verdict for Fagan In Arrest Reversed

The verdict won by P. T. Fagan, president of the United Mine Workers in District No. 5, against the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company for false arrest was reversed today by the State Supreme Court sitting in Philadelphia.

Fagan won a verdict of $5,000, later cut by the judge to $3,000 in Common Pleas Court. He charged he was falsely arrested by coal and iron police in June, 1927, in front of the Wabash Building.

BLONDE STANDS BY DAGUE ON DEFENSE

Tells Lawyers They'll Have To Represent Sweetheart If They Want Her Case

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Irene Schroeder will stand by her sweetheart, W. Glenn Dague, in their battle to escape the electric chair for the alleged slaying of Corp. Brady Paul, state highway patrolman.

"If you want to represent me you'll have to represent Dague, too, the Blonde told Attorneys K. H. Powell, of Youngstown, O., and J. Elder Bryan, former district attorney, of Lawrence County, as they were permitted to see her for the first time today.

RUSH OF LAWYERS

The attorneys talked with Irene for half an hour in her cell in the Lawrence County jail. They did not disclose their attitude on her ultimatum as to Dague, but it is believed they will accept her dictum and assume the task of defending Dague also.

There was a rush of lawyers who wanted to represent the "trigger woman" suspect as soon as she was placed behind jail bars upon her return from Phoenix,

DRAFT POLICE FOR RED RIOTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Hundreds of policemen will be on hand tomorrow to prevent a demonstration by Communists at funeral services for Steve Katovis, strike picket who died from a shot fired by a policeman, with whom he had battled.

The International Labor Defense today sent out a call to all Communists and sympathizers to "mobilize toiling masses" for a "giant protest" at the funeral.

Scores were beaten in a battle between police and Communists in City Hall Park here Saturday.

Police Commissioner Whalen said that, while he regretted reports that innocent bystanders had been beaten in the fight, he would see police downed any "undue" demonstration at Katovis' funeral.

FARE, DRIVER UNINJURED IN STRIKE ATTACK

Sympathizers Flee After Boulevard Attack; Police Answer Fake Riot Call

Little violence accompanied the operation today of taxicabs by the Parmelee Corporation as the drivers' strike went into its third week.

Strike sympathizers stoned a taxicab moving out Bigelow boulevard at the Seventeenth street incline and Deputy Sheriff Howard Garland, 23, was hit in the head with a brick. Windows of the cab were smashed and Garland was rushed to Mercy Hospital as the sympathizers fled. There was a paying passenger in the cab but he and the driver escaped uninjured.

FAKE RIOT CALL

A dozen motorcycle policemen drew a crowd of several hundred persons in the vicinity of Pennsylvania station when they answered a telephoned riot call. The call was a fake.

The ure today of cabs whose windows were broken during Friday's and Saturday's violence led to erroneous reports that many windows had been broken by bricks hurled by strikers today.

2 ARRESTED IN FIGHT

There was one untoward incident downtown. Police reported that an imported driver and a truck driver became involved in a fist fight at the Baltimore and Ohio station. They were arrested and listed as Charles Konnelly, 23, of Copeland street, and D. S. Ritner, 26, of Spahr street, the cab driver.

The 1,400 strikers, demanding more pay and recognition of their union, were to meet again today in Moose Temple, having refused at yesterday's meeting to give

MOVIE ELOPERS FACE PARTING

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 27—(INS.)—Less than 24 hours after she had eloped by airplane to Yuma, Ariz., to marry Grant Withers, screen actor, Loretta Young, youthful actress, today faced loss of her new husband.

Mrs. George Bilzer, mother of Miss Young, announced she would immediately begin annulment proceedings.

Loretta, Mrs. Bilzer said, is only 17.

Withers and Miss Young both admitted today they had made a "mistake" and would not contest the annulment proceedings.

Mother-in-Law of Peers Leaves Cell

LONDON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Kate Meyrick, night club proprietress and mother-in-law of two peers, who was sentenced January 29 last year for corruption of police officials, was released from Holloway Prison this morning. She was greeted by her two daughters, both of whom married peers of England, her son, and a number of friends in evening dress.

MERCURY RISES AFTER 2 DIE

Rising temperatures today brought a break in the long cold spell which yesterday caused two deaths. Rain or snow tonight and tomorrow was predicted. Colder weather is expected during the week but it will not be severe, according to present indications. The lowest temperature predicted for tonight by Forecaster W. S. Brotzman is 35 degrees.

The victims of the cold were I. L. Brown, 63, night watchman at the County Home at Woodville, and an unidentified man, aged about 65. Brown was found Sunday on the county property. The unidentified victim was found in Our alley. Both men died from cold, the coroner reported.

Another Sunday Sell Out, A New 1930 Record Set

Again yesterday every copy of Sunday's Sun-Telegraph was sold out and a host of new friends who were unable to get copies were disappointed.

When this same situation developed a week ago, the Sun-Telegraph took steps which it believed would guarantee a Sunday Sun-Telegraph for every family that desired one yesterday.

But, seemingly extravagant estimates of the number of Sunday papers the Sun-Telegraph would need for distribution fell far short of the demand yesterday.

This must not happen again.

Won't you help us to welcome the host of new readers—members of that wonderful family comprising the largest circulation ever achieved in Pittsburgh of any newspaper?

Each new reader or prospective reader is earnestly requested to place his order for next Sunday's Sun-Telegraph at once, preferably by telephoning the Home Delivery Department of this paper—Grant 6500.

Like the dinner party hostess, if we can get anything like an idea of the number of guests to expect, all will be well, and the giant color magazine and news section presses will be kept running just as long as is necessary.

Remember, the Sunday Sun-Telegraph is FIRST IN NEWS, SUPREME IN COLOR PRINTING, COMPLETE WITH INFORMATIVE AND ENTERTAINING FEATURES—A COMPLETE NEWSPAPER.

Hoover Declines Permit to Evade Fishing Laws

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover believes that laws should be uniform and that an exception should not be made for even the President of the United States.

He advised the Virginia Legislature today he appreciated the courtesy of a pending bill to permit him to fish any season of the year in Rapidan River, which flows by his Virginia mountain camp, but said he had no intention of fishing except when others could fish.

Further, the President does not believe any stream should be fished out of season.

Woman Wins First Seat on Pittsburgh Exchange

The first woman to own a membership in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange was awarded her seat this morning by Judge Edward C. Chalfant, of Orphans Court.

The award was made in Judge Chalfant's decision in the case of Mrs. Mary Louise McLaughlin Sterrett against the Thomas McLaughlin estate. Mrs. Sterrett alleged that the stock exchange seat of her father, the late Thomas McLaughlin, had been given to her by her father shortly before he died. McLaughlin willed the income from his entire estate to his daughter during her lifetime. The estate, valued at $130,000, contended that the stock exchange seat was properly included among its assets.

Mrs. Sterrett showed that her father had written a note on his deathbed granting the seat outright to his daughter on December 12, 1928. He died on January 28, 1929. Mrs. Sterrett made application to the exchange on June 19, 1929, for formal transfer of the seat. This was refused her on the grounds that the membership was part of the estate, the income of which was hers during her lifetime.

In his decision, Judge Chalfant held that the membership had been legally transferred to Mrs. Sterrett, with McLaughlin's nurse as a witness, and could not, therefore, be included in the estate.

The latest valuation of a seat on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange was set in October, 1929, when a transfer was transacted for $20,000.

ground in the battle with their employers.

FIRMNESS URGED

Urged by the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in a fiery speech to "hold out for 40 per cent and a closed shop" the strikers yesterday afternoon shouted down other speakers and wound up the meeting no nearer settlement than when they walked out two weeks ago.

Although newspapermen were barred from the drivers' meeting, as is the case with all meetings held by the men, Father Cox handed a prepared statement to reporters in the corridor outside the hall. This statement, which he said was the speech he made, declared:

STRIKERS CHEER PRIEST

"The propaganda inspired by the taxicab companies, that the men have no chance, is a myth. How much have the companies made since the men went on strike? How much will they make if the men are not recognized? Where will the company secure 1,400 drivers? There are thousands of people who will never again ride a cab unless the demands of the men are met.

"We believe Pittsburgh workmen, our citizens, should receive fair wages and working conditions before stockholders from New York, Chicago and other places receive fat dividends. I will never advise the men to return to work unless they receive 40 per cent in wages and recognition as a union and closed shop."

His speech was greeted with tumultuous cheers. The tone of the crowd changed when Henry G. Burger, of Cleveland, international representative of the International Brotherhood of Chauffeurs, Teamsters, Stablemen and Helpers of America, took the floor. Drivers who were in the meeting said that when Burger attempted to read the agreement of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis suggesting a settlement, he was shouted down and there were cries of throw him out."

PROTEST INJUNCTION

A resolution "vigorously protesting the issuance of the injunction against the Pittsburgh Cab Chauffeurs' Union" was adopted at the meeting.

The meeting was under guard of about 20 city detectives, and a cordon of police was stationed in Penn avenue near the Moose Temple.

Strikers and strikebreakers arrested yesterday were given hearings in Central police court today. J. T. Harley, discharged deputy sheriff for the Yellow Cab Company, admitted he had been drinking when he threatened to "clean out the garage." Police testified that when Harley was fired he exclaimed "All-right, I'll join the strikers." He tried to drive a cab from the garage, police said. He was fined $25.

A revolver was found in a touring car of the Yellow Cab Company driven by Nick Marino, 24, of Vine street, after Marino had been arrested for driving past a red light, police testified. He was held for investigation after admitting he had a police record.

2 GUARDS PAY $25

Police testified to finding a half-pint of moonshine, two pieces of gas pipe and a mace in a cab guarded by Cecil Matthews, 23, of Youngwood, and James Sham, 26, of Latrobe. They said the pipe was used as a handle for the auto's jack. Each was fined $25. They had been arrested when the driver, Ray Newman, of Philadelphia, tried a left turn. Newman was discharged.

A mace and a piece of gas pipe also were reported found in the cab manned by Tony Olivieri, 25, of Bedford avenue, and Robert Novick, 26, the guard, of Harmar street. Police testified Olivieri, who drove through a red light, had no driver's permit. Both were turned over to Traffic Court.

William Kearns, 28, of Cape May avenue, was discharged when Phillip Rodgers, 25, cab driver, could not identify him as the driver of an auto which bumped Rodgers' cab.

ROXIE LONG FREED

Rocco De Pippo, alias Roxie Long, 34, of 1707 Cliff street, and C. Petty, 21, of 1604 Cliff street, arrested at First avenue and Ross street when police reported they found a revolver and an iron pipe in De Pippo's car, near the Yellow Cab garage, were discharged.

Herman Gordon, secretary-treasurer of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, announced today that his union had passed a resolution indorsing the strike and "protesting to the city administration for permitting the importation of gangsters as strikebreakers."

ARRAIGNMENT NOT SET

Prosecutor John Powers of Lawrence County, has not decided, he said today, when the two prisoners will be arraigned for a preliminary hearing.

Irene was permitted another short visit yesterday with her 5-year-old son, Donnie, whose boyist boast, "My mamma shot two cops," brought about the nationwide man hunt for his mother, Dague and Tom Crawford, brother of Irene, who thus far has eluded capture.

AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

"I went to Sunday school today, mom," the little fellow confided to his mother in her cell. "They told me all about God just like pops."

He attended class at the Epworth Methodist Church in company with children of Jock Dunlap, county probation officer. He was taken to Irene's cell a short time after his return from church.

Irene wanted to know if Donnie had seen "Daddy." She referred to Dague.

"Yes I saw him," the little chap replied, "but daddy doesn't love me any more."

Dague's wife and mother of his two children was reported en route here to visit her husband, but she had not arrived this afternoon. What the purpose of her trip is, officials say they have no idea. They received a wire yesterday from Mrs. Dague informing them of her intended visit.

Counsel Retained by Kin Of Slain Highway Officer

JEANNETTE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Attorney Frank S. Ruff, of Jeannette, has been retained by the family of the late Corp. Brady Paul, of Troop B, Pennsylvania highway patrol, to assist District Attorney John S. Powers, of Lawrence County, in the prosecution of Irene Schroeder and Walter Glenn Dague, charged with the murder of Paul, December 27.

Attorney John M. O'Connell, of Jeannette, a classmate of District Attorney Powers, of New Castle, accompanied Attorney Ruff to New Castle this morning, where the latter began laying the groundwork in the prosecution of the case.

Roosevelt Urged To End Island Liquor Ban

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Mateo Fajardo has suggested to Gov. Theodore Roosevelt that he urge Congress to remove legal restrictions to permit the sale of liquor again in Porto Rico. The island had voted against such sale before the Eighteenth Amendment was made and a passage in the Volstead act made the latter specifically applicable to Porto Rico.

Fajardo, a sugar manufacturer, who is prominent in island affairs, said he believed that the wealth of the island would be increased and that it would be enabled to compete with Cuba and other points in the West Indies for the tourist trade if dry restrictions were removed. If the governor makes no recommendation, he said he would urge the insular legislature to act.

SAYS DRYS LIKE ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The New York Times today quoted William E. Sweet, formerly governor of Colorado, as expressing the opinion that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, would be acceptable to dry Democrats as a presidential candidate in 1932.

Mr. Sweet, who has been a leader in prohibition movements in his own state, is visiting New York.

He said it was time for the dry Democrats and Democrats of the South to get together; otherwise Alfred E. Smith was likely to get the nomination again, with no prospect of election.

Praising the administration of Gov. Roosevelt, Mr. Sweet said:

"Twice Gov. Roosevelt has placed Gov. Smith in nomination. Perhaps turn about would be fair play."

Mr. Sweet condemned Democratic organization efforts in some parts of the South to discipline officials who bolted Smith.

New Jersey Judge Victim of Mastoid

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Judge John J. White, 66, of the Court of Errors and Appeals and president of the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel here, died yesterday after a recent mastoid operation. After practicing law in Philadelphia for several years, Judge White came here in 1901. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He spent his early boyhood on his father's farm near Mount Holly, N. J.

London Needs Bath, Says U. S. Stenog at Parley

Stenographer in the U. S. State Department, now in London with American delegation to Five-Power Naval Conference. Written exclusively for International News Service.

(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—This thing called London needs a spring cleaning!

About the first thing that impressed us upon our arrival here a week ago last Friday was the dirty look which all the buildings have. They look as if they had never seen a cleaning. But, I guess, it is the weather, and because they are so old, anyway.

After the cleanliness of our own Washington, almost any place would look dirty.

Somebody has said that all Englishmen are good looking—more attractive than our American boys. Well, I haven't seen any of them yet.

The Englishmen I have seen start looking saggy from the pants up. But I guess they don't try to look like sheiks.

However, there is one thing that can be said for them. They sure are polite, and they treat you like a lady. Most of our boys treat you with the nonchalance that they would treat their sisters. You know, the American boy has almost completely forgotten that a girl still believes in romance and wants to be flattered about her looks. When they do start getting romantic, most of them are so amateurish you want to giggle at them.

As for the English girls, they seem to lack individuality. I have seen a number of pretty English girls, but they were not attractively dressed. In fact, their clothes look as if they were as standardized as the tin lizzie.

Why, when we first arrived here all the newspapers said we dressed like film stars. I wish we could make ourselves believe that.

I think what strikes me most over here is the slowness of things. In the restaurants or hotels they take an age to get your meals for you. Everything seems to move very slowly. Why, if you do move in a hurry everybody stops and stares at you. The other day, for instance, when I rushed up Piccadilly Circus because I was in a hurry to meet a girl friend, everybody on the street looked at me as though they thought I had gone mad.

QUEER MALADY KILLS WITNESS IN RUM PLOT

Inquiry Starts Into Death Of Key Man to Trial of 102 Accused Oklahomans

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Circumstances surrounding the death of the government's principal witness against 102 officials and residents of Pottawatomie County, on the eve of their trial on charges of participating in a giant conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, led today to initiation of an investigation by Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney.

Marion Fuller, former chief of police of Earlsboro, Okla., died here Saturday night. He had admitted participation in the alleged "rum rebellion," St. Lewis said, and furnished information on which the government expected to base its case.

FAMILY SUSPICIOUS

Fuller died in an Oklahoma City hospital, his death certificate describing his fatal malady as a liver infection. Members of Fuller's family, the district attorney said, had voiced suspicions regarding his death which St. Lewis declined to divulge.

The witness, who also was a defendant in the trial, was confined in the Garfield County jail at Enid, several weeks ago, at his own request. He said he was afraid to remain at large. His health, which was poor when he entered the jail, became rapidly worse, causing his removal to the Oklahoma County jail here. He was taken recently from the jail to the hospital where he died.

BRANDED COLLECTOR

Fuller was charged in the indictment with being a "collector" for the alleged conspirators, who, the government contends, organized to control the manufacture, transportation and distribution of liquor in Pottawatomie County. He was removed from office in 1927 after an investigation by the attorney's general's office. Later he was arrested for questioning in connection with the robbery of the Canadian Valley Bank at Asher, Okla., but was freed at his preliminary hearing.

IRENE'S KIN HELD IN THEFTS

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Three brothers who were arrested here late last week on charge of robbery, are wanted in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Michigan, in addition to Ohio, according to police. The trio, William Holland, 30, and Albert Holland, 24, both of New Cumberland, W. Va., and Robert Holland, 16, of Bellaire, O., told officers they were cousins of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, held at New Castle in connection with the killing of a highway officer.

William was being held for Wheeling, W. Va., police today for the alleged theft of diamonds there, and the other two were taken to Steubenville to face charges of burglary and larceny.

Police said that when the brothers were arrested, Robert was found in a room guarding articles believed to have been taken in robberies.

15 White Crusaders Executed by Soviet

RIGA, Jan. 27—(INS.)—The Soviet government today announced the execution of 15 leaders of the religious peasant sect known as the "White Crusaders."

They were sentenced to be shot to death by the Voronesh Tribunal last November on charges of propagating religion.

HANSON JUDGES WILL EXPLAIN RELEASE

Joint Statement Promised Next Monday From Three Involved in 'Short Term'

A joint statement on the modified sentence which released William Hanson, convicted racketeer, from the county jail after serving 16 days of a four months' sentence, will be made by the judges in the case next Monday, two of three jurists promised today.

"We will meet with Judge William T. Darr, of Jefferson County, upon his return here next Monday and will refresh our minds as to just what took place in the Hanson case," said Judge Thomas J. Ford today. "Then we will issue a statement explaining our action."

Judge Josiah Cohen concurred in this plan.

Judges Ford and Cohen were quoted by Judge Darr as having been present when a decision was reached to release Hanson from jail upon payment of $500 fine, at a private meeting in chambers.

"We have nothing more to add to our statement today," Judges Ford and Cohen said.

Assistant District Attorney John P. Haggerty was present at one of two consultations on the Hanson case but offered no objection to commuting the sentence, he said, as he had no orders to object.

EAT PANCAKES, 1 DEAD, 2 SICK

One man is dead and two others are seriously ill in the McKeesport Hospital from poisoning due to eating pancakes, according to the coroner's report.

Ralph Jones, 33, of Butler, Pa., died in the hospital after he and his two companions, all bridge workers employed temporarily at at the National Tube Company's plant, had made pancakes in their room, at 606 Locust street, McKeesport, with the contents of a can marked "flour."

The two others, George Groves, 44, of Akron, O., and James Johnson, 49, of Uniontown, Pa., were taken to the hospital two hours after Jones was admitted.

Hospital authorities are undetermined as to the nature of the poison. The coroner's report indicated that it was ptomaine.

SCHOOL HEAD GETS QUERIES

A committee of South Hills citizens objecting to the plan to establish part-time sessions at South Hills High School, today called upon Dr. W. M. Davidson, superintendent of schools, with a list of 60 questions. The questions implied that the crowded condition at the school should have been foreseen.

"Some of the questions seem pertinent, others seemed framed with hostile intent," Dr. Davidson commented at a two-hour conference. The committee denied hostile intentions.

Dr. Davidson promised to answer the questionnaire at a meeting next Wednesday.

Patrolman John Chandler, of the East End station, entered a restaurant at 7613 Frankstown avenue today and asked for a glass of water.

When a pretty girl waitress approached, he furtively scanned a photograph of a missing Homer City (Pa.) girl which he had clipped from the Sun-Telegraph Friday.

"What's your name?" he demanded.

"Yes, I'm Mary Miller, the girl you're looking for," replied the young woman.

Patrolman Chandler arrested Mary, 17, and her chum, Edna Lapinos, 18, the latter in their room at 7428 Idlewild street.

Mary told police she and Edna left Homer City January 13.

"There was no work in Homer City and I couldn't get along with my father," Mary said.

The two were held on charges of being runaways pending arrival of their parents to take them home.

The clipping which aided Chandler told of Mary's writing to her mother that she was employed in East Liberty.

MEETING OFF

During the afternoon it was announced that because of the length of the morning session the British and Japanese conference scheduled for today had been abandoned.

Announcement of cancellation of work on the British cruisers Surrey and Northumberland was made by the admiralty without explanation. These are the two ships on which Prime Minister MacDonald suspended work shortly before his visit to the United States last year. The absence of official comment on today's announcement was taken as further evidence of Great Britain's faith that some agreement would be reached during the present negotiations.

MONEY POOL CHICAGO'S LONE HOPE

Strawn Rescue Committee Will Force End of Payroll Padding, Other City Waste

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—It is now a matter of sink or swim with Chicago's government as it flounders in the financial jungles and administration leaders today turned toward the Silas H. Strawn committee's $50,000,000 rescue pool as its only salvation.

Public officials, it was agreed, will have to co-operate with the Strawn committee's rescue pool—the only imminent salvation of the city, county and school board in their frantic search for cash to meet current expenses.

The pool would lend the local government enough money on tax anticipation warrants to tide them over until the tax bills are collected, when business interests comprising the pool would redeem the warrants in payment of their taxes.

But the Strawn committee's pool of big business interests stands ready to loan the local governments cash only under an agreemnt that the duly elected public officials will co-operate with the pool's managing committee to cut all expenses down to the bone and permit the committee to have something to say about how the money is to be spent.

WHEELER ASKS DRY QUIZ

senators. We don't want any carpetbaggers sent out there to enforce the law. The real fault with prohibition lies with the politicians, and a lot of honest women are fooled by them. The President of the United States sends a perfectly meaningless telegram to the Women's Christian Temperance Union."

SUPPORTS MELLON

Mitchell told the House committee he was in accord with the recommendations of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon favoring the transfer of the prohibition unit, and indorsed the Williamson bill to effect the change. He said prohibition unit attorneys in the Treasury would be transferred to his department, and would not be put under civil service.

Representative Schafer, (Rep.), of Wisconsin, reminded Mitchell that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition cases, had written that one reason for failure of dry enforcement was the "spoils system" in appointing district attorneys.

In answer to questions by Schafer, Mitchell said the proposed bill would give the Justice Department adequate authority to investigate the diversion of industrial alcohol under Treasury Department permits for illegal purposes. He added that co-operation between the departments on the permits could be expected. A plan has recently been put forward by extreme House drys to transfer the alcohol permit machinery to the Justice Department, although it remains in the treasury under the administration's program.

MILK TO DROP CENT A QUART

The price of milk to consumers will be reduced one cent a quart to 13 cents, effective February 1, H. B. Steele, secretary of the Dairymen's Co-Operative Sales Company, announced today. Cream will be reduced from 18 to 17 cents a half pint, two cents on the pint and four cents a quart. The announcement followed a conference Saturday of dealers, producers and consumers in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Ordinarily a cut in the retail price of milk does not come until March or April, it was explained, but it was made earlier this year on account of conditions in the milk industry.

Eielson Was Air Pioneer, Honored for Efforts

DAYTON, O., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Lieut. Carl B. Eielson, believed killed with the finding of his wrecked plane off North Cape, Siberia, was one of the first fliers in the country to conduct a regular air mail route, this service being between Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1921.

He also was one of the first fliers to pilot a plane successfully with skis replacing landing wheels.

Because of his efforts in establishing the air-mail route he was made an honorary life member of the Order of Pioneers of Alaska, an honor conferred on but two other persons, the late President Harding and Col. Frederick Mears, the man who built the railroad into Alaska.

In 1927 Eielson and Capt. Hubert Wilkins, Arctic explorer, whom he was piloting on a flight over the North Pole, became stranded 100 miles from Point Barrow when their plane became disabled, and for 25 days were reported lost. During that period they walked from their ship to Point Barrow. The following year they successfully made the flight over the pole.

Lieut. Eielson in April of last year was presented with the Harman trophy for outstanding aviation flights by President Hoover, and, with Capt. Wilkins, was honored by the Swedish government for the North Pole flight.

LEGISLATION UP FOR MAIL CONTRACTS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—An "Air-minded Congress" is preparing to consider legislation to speed what may be the next great step in aerial transportation — the establishment of transocean dirigible lines.

With leading financiers and rich corporations already studying the possibilities of the new mode of transportation overseas, Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, father of all air legislation enacted by Congress, announced hearings would be started on proposals to speed airways development.

"AIR MARINE"

Legislation already introduced by Kelley proposes to aid in the building of an "air marine" by granting liberal government mail contracts, just as the United States now is building a great ship merchant marine and has developed the airplane mail.

The first proposal considered is expected to be aid in establishing an American Zeppelin line from California to Manila, already in prospect by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation.

"I feel that airship ocean transportation will become practicable, and Congress must prepare for it before the time arrives," said Kelly.

"Undoubtedly the Postoffice Committee will hold hearings on bills I have introduced, providing for the granting of ocean airship mail contracts on a basis of $2 a mile. Heads of great concerns have estimated they would be ready to go ahead with ocean airship transportation in 1931.

JOINT SERVICE ONE PLAN

"My bill, which affects routes 2,000 miles or over, would aid the establishment of the California-Manila line, which undoubtedly will be the first.

"Some corporations interested, I understand, have given study to the proposal of Commander Burney, of Great Britain, to create a joint service, employing American ships and the two new dirigibles built by his company.

"It is expected these airships can carry 10 tons of mail, which could be sorted en route. A regular postoffice would be built in them. Carrying such quantities, they could provide a low mail rate."

LEAN TO GERMANS

The Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation has indicated it is discussing trans-Atlantic plans with German Zeppelin interests, rather than British.

The historic round-the-world flight of the Graf Zeppelin was closely watched by those interested in transoceanic dirigible mail routes. The Graf Zeppelin was paid $94,840 for the mail it carried on this flight, according to postoffice authorities. Because the mail was sought by stamp collectors, the postage rates were higher than would ordinarily be the case, it was said.

LOUISE DODSON HEADS G. O. P. WOMEN

Former Pennsylvania Girl Takes Over Post Created By National Committee

By HARRY WARD
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A new personality today is directing the manifold duties of the women's division of the Republican National Committee.

She is Mrs. Louise M. Dodson, a middle-aged, bob-haired woman with iron-gray hair, who dresses in the mode, and who has a background of 27 years' actual experience in practical politics.

Mrs. Dodson, who was born in Luzerne County, Pa., and spent many years in Iowa, has taken over the duties of another colorful woman, Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of Kentucky. Mrs. Hert will continue as vice chairman of the Republican National Committee.

KNOWN AS ORGANIZER

The woman who henceforth will guide the activities of feminine Republicans has to her credit the establishment of a state organization among women which paralleled that of the men's, running righ down through the districts, counties and municipalities, precinct by precinct. That was in the successful Iowa fight for women's sufferage by state referendum which antedated the national amendment.

DIRECTED CAMPAIGN

In the 1920 campaign, she directed the national organization of women, and she has been on the stump in electeion years ever since. Her contribution to the Hoover campaign was management of the women's division of the Western headquarters under the late Secretary of War James W. Good.

KAISER, 71, HAS QUIET BIRTHDAY

Doorn Exile Attends Church With Kin, Receives Staff; Flag Flies Above Castle

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm, for more than 11 years in exile, celebrated the seventy-first anniversary of his birth quietly today.

He attended divine services with his family this morning. His staff and servants also were present and later he received their congratulations. During the day the Hohenzollern flag floated on the castle and over the entrance gate.

The former monarch then occupied the time reading hundreds of telegrams and letters from admirers, while flowers arrived in profusion from many sources.

The former crown prince and princess, Prince Adelbert, Prince August Wilhelm and the Duke and Duchess of Hesse, who arrived Saturday night for the birthday festival, took lunch and dinner yesterday with the former Kaiser. There were no other guests.

None of the grandchildren came to Doorn, not even Wilhelm, the eldest son of the former crown prince, who is studying at Koenigsburg University. According to a Berlin representative of the Hohenzollerns, Wilhelm "found the expense of the trip from East Prussia to Holland too big."

RUM RUNNERS GET 6 MONTHS

On the heels of a report that an investigation was being made into delayed criminal cases in Federal Court, two old liquor cases were disposed of today.

Jacob Sokal, convicted December 13, 1927, on charges of transporting moonshine, and, with four others, found guilty, May 28, 1928, on conspiracy charges, was sentenced to six months in jail in the latter and fined $400 in the former case, by Judge R. M. Gibson.

Two of Sokal's fellow defendants in the conspiracy case, Morris Blaustein and Isaac Stein, were sentenced to six months in jail each. Two others, Joseph Bodnar and John Williams, were granted new trials.

The case of C. W. Bott, who pleaded no defense to selling and transporting liquor last May 29, will come up again Monday.

DISTILLER'S TAX CLAIM FAILS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Frederick C. Renziehausen, former wholesale liquor dealer of Pittsburgh, today lost his fight to charge prohibition with a loss of more than $1,000,000 in his liquor business and thus be allowed to reduce his income tax.

The Supreme Court ruled against Renziehausen, who contended he suffered the loss in the Large Distilling Company and a wholesale liquor firm with the arrival of prohibition.

Fourth Crash Victim Dies

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Ed Butler, of Miami, one of the five occupants of a plane which fell into Lake Worth a week ago yesterday, killing three men, died today of injuries received in the crash.

GIRL DREAMER GETS TITLE

PEPPERELL, Mass., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A 16-year-old girl whose day dreams had brought her visions of being a titled lady of quality, has had those dreams come true.

She had been humble Lucy Harriett Fagge, daughter of a humble choreman, who was so poor after her mother died he couldn't care for her, and sent her to her grand-mother's home in grammar school and last fall had worked in a factory for a month.

Yesterday she came home to her father.

For many years he had been Boston. There she had come to Johnny Harry Lee Fagge, who worked at odd jobs.

Then last week word came from England of the death of his brother, Sir John Charles Fagge, of Dover, baronet, and the passing of the title and estates to him.

He asked his daughter to share his new fortunes.

In his modest home here Sir John informed Lucy yesterday of her ancestry, telling of her distinguished forbears, whose names occupy two full pages in Burke's Peerage. He explained that she now is Lady Lucy.

MINISTER HURT IN KANE BLAST

KANE, Pa., Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Two persons were injured, one dwelling was shattered, two other buildings were damaged and windows of houses in an entire block were splintered here today in what is believed to have been an explosion of gas in an unoccupied house owned by Edward C. Reeves.

The Rev. A. G. Kirkpatrick, pastor of the Church of God, and Jacob B. Cox, were cut and bruised by the explosion which damaged their homes.

All fires in the Reeves home had been turned off when the owner left town and the cause of the blast is being investigated by police and firemen who were told that two unidentified men were seen to enter the house last night.

The rear of the Reeves house was blown 75 feet from its foundation. The roof of the other half was blown over the house next door to the roof of a house two doors away.

Aged Man, Youth Injured in Crash

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A 92-year-old man from Tamaqua and a Hazleton youth, 15 years old, were hurt here in an automobile collision. Neither is believed to be seriously injured and the youth, Francis Babbish, was allowed to leave the hospital, but the nonagenerian, Max Davison, remained there for treatment for cuts and shock.

The aged man was in a car driven by his son, G. C. Davison, of Tamaqua, and young Babbish was in a machine piloted by Newton Saxon, of Hazleton. Both drivers were ordered to appear at Traffic Court.

Six Men Blinded By Alcohol Roam Streets, Lost

GARY, Ind., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Six men were found groping their way along a Calumet City street last night. They had been drinking alcohol, they told police. All may be permanently blinded, physicians declared, and the minds of three of them appeared to have been affected.

The one member of the group whom police found rational said the men had purchased the alcohol from a Hammond druggist, explaining that they want it to remove varnish.

BORDONI ASKS CITIZENSHIP

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Irene Bordoni, motion picture and stage actress, who is a little bit worried just now over the possibility of being a woman without a country, today applied for American citizenship.

Miss Bordoni became an American citizen once, automatically, by her marriage to E. Ray Goetz, motion picture producer. But the marriage was annulled in Chicago three months ago, as it was found to have been performed before the expiration of the time limit forbidding Goetz to remarry after a divorce.

One lawyer told her, Miss Bordoni said, that the annulment took away her American citizenship, and another, she said, informed her that it failed to restore her French citizenship.

In her application today Miss Bordoni stated that her parents were Corsicans, and that she spent her childhood on the island.

All true Corsicans, she explained, claim to be cousins of Napoleon Bonaparte.

LYTELL VICTIM OF SURPRISE

When Bert Lytell, stage and movie star, awoke in the William Penn Hotel today, he turned to the telephone and in drowsy voice ordered breakfast.

Fifteen minutes later the breakfast arrived, and with it a famous waiter and a no less famous waitress.

The "help" were Edwin Carawe, movie director, and his wife, the former Mary Aiken, of the cinema.

Close friends of Lytell, they slipped into town unannounced. The first glimpse Lytell had of them was when they wheeled in his breakfast. Surprise party!

The Carewe's, divorced and remarried, are returning to the East from Havana, where they enjoyed another honeymoon.

Youth Confesses Shooting of 2 Women

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—An 18-year-old boy confessed to police today to wounding two women here in recent weeks and was identified shortly afterward by one of his victims. Police say he answers the description of the gunman who has been sought by them for the murder of one young woman, wounding of the two others, and attacks on many more.

The police did not know if the suspect was connected with the murder. He did not admit any of the crimes excepting the wounding of Miss Beatrice Gallagher and Mrs. Mary Pshock, who were shot shortly after Christmas.

FORAN REPORT GIVEN HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Preliminary reports relative to the Treasury Deparment's investigaion of charges against Col. Arthur Foran, comptroller of customs of New York, have been transmitted to President Hoover, but final recommendations on his reappointment will no be completed for several days, it was said today.

The only obstacle to a favorable report on Foran's record in office arises from his alleged directorship in a number of South American steamship companies. At the Treasury it was said that the law prohibits such participation in private business by government officials. So far as charges that Foran was lax in law enforcement, particularly with relation to liquor smuggling, the investigation showed he had fulfilled his duties in office.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman declared that there were no proceedings pending for the removal of Foran following charges as to his official and personal activities made by James K. Shields, superintendent of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League.

FOX THEATERS SUIT FILED

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—A stockholder's suit for appointment of a receiver in equity for the Fox Theaters Corporation has been asked in Federal Court by Maurice Shutte, holder of 100 shares of the Class A stock.

Defendants in the action are Fox Securities Corporation, Fox Theaters Corporation, William Fox and members of the board of directors of Fox Theaters Corporation.

According to David Kahn, attorney for Shutte, the action was precipitated by applications made for a receiver for the Fox Film Corporation. The complaint states that Fox Theaters owes Fox Film $17,000,000, for which it has not at present sufficient liquid assets to meet. It adds that appointment of a receiver for the film corporation would force him as receiver to sue at once for the payment of this debt. For that reason, Mr. Kahn said, it is desirable to have a separate receiver appointed at once for the theaters corporation.

Ask Venue Change In Triple Killing

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A change of venue was sought by defense today at the opening of the trial of Walter Crabtree, charged with killing three persons December 18. The first move of the defense was the withdrawal of a not guilty plea previously entered, and a motion for a postponement of the trial. The request was refused.

Crabtree is on trial for the slaying of Justice of the Peace H. Carter Inskeep. He also is charged with murder in the killing of Ben E. Miller, county jailer, and Edward Woolford.

Raskob Son Forfeits $25 Bond as Speeder

NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 27 —(INS.)—A bond of $25 on a speeding charge was forfeited in police court today by John J. Raskob, Jr., a Yale student and son of the former executive of General Motors. Young Raskob, in company with another Yale student, was arrested on the Post road Saturday, while en route to New York.

Weather Conditions.

The pressure distribution is unusually irregular this morning. There is a low pressure area centered over the lower Mississippi valley, which extends northeastward over the Ohio valley; another centered over Northern Arizona and another over Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Highs are centered off the Atlantic coast, over the central plains, and over the far Northwest. This distribution of pressure is producing cloudy weather over much the greater portion of the country, and rain or snow over large areas. The most pronounced rainstorm is over the central valleys, where rainfall was heavy in Arkansas and Louisiana.

There was a change to somewhat colder over the central and southern plains, elsewhere the temperature changes since yesterday were towards warmer. Zero weather covers only a few small areas over the Middlewest.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Franklin is 2.1 feet; Lock No. 7, 10.5; Pittsburgh, 10.0; Dam No. 4, 6.0; Dam No. 5, 6.0; Dam No. 8, 8.0, and Dam No. 10, 5.7. The dams are down.

ASK COURT RATE POWER CURBED

ALBANY, Jan. 27.—(INS)—An echo of New York state's fight against the telephone rate increase set for February 1 will be heard in the Legislature tonight when Democratic leaders offer a resolution asking Congress to curb federal courts in granting utility rate increases.

The resolution will specifically ask Congress to remove from the jurisdiction of federal courts all questions of intrastate rate regulation.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt favors the resolution and is understood to have assisted in its introduction in the Legislature at this time. Republican legislative leaders have refused comment on the possibility of its adoption.

The increased rates which the New York Telephone Company has announced will put into effect the first of the coming month are the result of a decision of the Federal Court declaring the company should be allowed to net a 7 per cent return.

MINISTER HELD IN FUND MISUSE

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 27.—(AP)—W. P. Noffsinger, a former preacher and secretary of the Tri-County Mutual Protective Association, was held in jail here today pending a grand jury investigation of charges that he spent more than $50,000 of the association's funds on lavish gifts to Mrs. Margaret Shaffer, formerly a waitress in a restaurant at Indianapolis.

Noffsinger was arrested yesterday at his home in North Manchester and was brought to jail here. He is guarded carefully, officers said, to prevent him from carrying out a threat to end his life. He has a wife and five children.

Noffsinger's arrest was ordered following an investigation made by Milton K. Alexander, chief inspector of the State Insurance Department. The specific charge against him is misuse of $850 of the funds of the Tri-County Mutual Protective Association, an insurance company. Noffsinger holds a position as lay minister of the United Brethren Church.

Beauty Clinic for Jobless Planned In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A municipal beauty clinic to assist persons handicapped in getting jobs is proposed by J. G. William Greef, commissioner of hospitals. He believes victims of birthmarks, warts, cauliflower ears and the like should not be at the mercy of quacks. Dr. Greef has assigned a member of his staff to determine which is the best hospital for such a clinic.

Justice Holmes, 89, Confined With Cold

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Justice Oliver Wendel Holmes, who will be 89 years old in March and who has been presiding over the Supreme Court during the absence of Chief Justice Taft, was detained at home today on orders of his physician.

The distinguished jurist attended a conference held by the court Saturday, but it was said today he had developed a cold over Sunday and was staying indoors as a precautionary measure.

REPAIRING LOSS FROM FLOODS

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 27.—(INS)—Rehabilitation work began today in many places throughout the flood-stricken lowlands of the Wabash and White rivers even though many families are still marooned without food or medical attention.

Aviators are continuing their relief work by dropping small parachutes loaded with food and medicine and warm clothing. Several planes yesterday flew over flooded areas distributing supplies.

Other relief volunteers worked through the flooded areas in small boats carrying supplies to refugees. Several colonies of families are still dependent on airplanes for their food and medicine.

Forty persons held prisoners in the home of George Gremore, near Orville, Ind., yesterday received their first supplies of food and clothing since the flooding rivers trapped them.

Plans are being formulated in several of the stricken areas to build higher and stronger levees to prevent a recurrence of the flood ragedy of this winter.

WILL OPPOSE ZONE CHANGE

Vigorous protests are anticipated at the public meeting of Mt. Lebanon board of commissioners tonight by citizens of that section when they will attempt to block the passage of an ordinance changing the zoning of Washington road. The passage of that ordinance will introduce commercial projects into the residential districts.

The sponsors of this protest are members of the Mt. Lebanon Civic League. J. A. Walsh, president of the league, in a bulletin distributed to the property owners, stated that the rezoning will affect the property owners and that the passage of that ordinance involves the complete disregard of pre-election promises to maintain Washington road zoning regulations.

Delirious Patient Shoots Nurse, Dies

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Tom P. Kerse, a nurse, was in a critical condition in a local hospital today with a bullet wound in the head, which police said was inflicted by her patient, F. L. Heath, 36. Heath died yesterday of pneumonia about four hours after the shooting. Police said their investigation indicated that Heath was delirious at times and that he said shortly after the shooting that he remembered having wounded his nurse.

Hawks Will Attempt U. S. Glider Flight

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Frank M. Hawks, air speed demon, will attempt to span the United States next April in a motorless glider, towed by an airplane, it was reported here today. Hawks, who holds non-stop speed records for crossing the United States in an airplane and for the round trip from coast to coast, has received the backing of an oil company which will finance the glider trip, it was said.

Girl Students Leap To Safety From Fire

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Six students, five of them girls, of the Newport Business College, leaped from the third story of the Coggeshall Building into a firemen's net today after they had been trapped in the building by a fire which caused damage estimated at $100,000. Sixteen other students and three instructors were taken from the building over ladders.

Suit Tests Tax on Government Bonds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today consented to pass on a tax controversy of far-reaching importance, involving the right of the federal and state governments to tax the gains derived from the sale of bonds issued by the other, presented in a case brought from Minnesota by the federal government against Charles W. Bunn.

Jones in Morals Court after Mrs. Minerva Haley, 1408 Our way, testified Carpenter had stolen her $69 coat while in her home ostensibly in an effort to rent a room. With aid of police she recovered the coat, she said, at a pawn shop.

New Bubonic Plague Cases in Argentina

SANTA FE, Argentina, Jan. 27—(AP)—Two new cases of bubonic plague were sent to the hospital here yesterday, giving rise to fear that an epidemic of the disease may impend. To date there have been two deaths out of a number of reported cases. Health officials have tightened port regulations in an effort to prevent additional introduction of the disease.

Adams to Address Club at Sewickley

At a dinner of the Dorian Club of Sewickley tomorrow evening, Maj. Lynn J. Adams, head of the Pennsylvania State Police department, will talk on his experiences with the police force since its founding 25 years ago.

The Dorian Club, a Masonic organization, has invited the public to attend the dinner.

RIVERA STAKES ALL ON VOTE

MADRID, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Gen. Primo de Rivera, premier and dictator of Spain, growing impatient at reports at home and abroad of the weakness of his government and of impending trouble, has called upon the Army and Navy which had placed him in power to say flatly whether he should continue his efforts to govern the land.

The premier issued a formal note to the heads of the Army, Navy and civil guards at 4 a. m. today, seemingly impulsively, for he had given no previous indication of any such intention. With a dramatic gesture he said he would resign within five minutes should the reply be that he is no longer wanted.

The dictator said that the best answer to reports of Army disaffection was for the Army itself to state its opinion.

REDS CONTROL LAW PRACTICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A Moscow dispatch today said private legal practice in Russia is now a thing of the past.

At a barristers meeting officially convoked it was decided to dissolve the collegium of advocates—that is to say close down the Moscow bar—replacing it with a "collective" under Communistic management.

The collective would examine all applications for counsel and distribute briefs. Henceforth any barrister giving private consultations will be prosecuted for fraud. Several well known advocates have been excluded from the collective as bourgeoisie.

Steam Main Bursts In Lower New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—A column of steam shot several hundred feet into the air when an 18-inch steam main burst in Cliff street, near Fulton street, in lower Manhattan today. The steam tore a hole 10 feet in diameter in the street. Windows in nearby buildings were broken and a policeman standing 50 feet away was thrown to the ground. No one required medical attention.

Ohio Sanitary Suit Substitute Allowed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS)—The Supreme Court today granted the motion of Arthur J. Aubrey and John A. Callan to drop their suit against the Mahoning Valley Sanitary District and Youngstown, O., and permit Josephine Gottlieb to be substituted to prosecute the appeal.

The case involves validity of the State Sanitary District Act.

TWO CONVENIENT DOWNTOWN STORES AND CAFETERIAS

The ATWATER KENT Mfg. Company has never had any shares of its stock on the market.

It owns outright its business and its manufacturing plant. It has been in business for more than twenty-seven increasingly profitable years, has always done business on its own capital and has never borrowed a dollar.

All its resources and experience are concentrated upon just one thing—the making and selling of fine radio instruments. Production in its thirty-two acre factory is scientifically controlled, so that Atwater Kent dealers always have enough radio on hand to meet the public demand, and are never overstocked. Its inventory is never excessive.

Single-minded devotion to its one job—the production of the finest radio that can be built—has put the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company today in the strongest position it has ever held. Strongest in the excellence of its product—Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio. Strongest in the confidence of the public. Strongest in stability, which is the keystone of permanence in any business.

A. Atwater Kent, President.

THIS is a facsimile of an advertisement published in newspapers November 1, 1929. Since then the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company has moved steadily forward. Public demand for its radio is so great that for many weeks the factory was unable to keep up with orders, although production has been materially increased. Its collections are absolutely normal—showing the responsibility of the business men who sell Atwater Kent Radio.

More than ever before, the purchaser of radio is concerned with the stability of the manufacturer who makes his sets. The Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company has been stabilized for twenty-eight years.

A. Atwater Kent, President.

POULTRY, PET SHOWS OPEN

With the opening today of the Pittsburgh poultry show in Duquesne Garden, and the first annual pet show in Motor Square Garden, a series of surprises were in store for Pittsburghers.

About 2,000 exhibits were entered in the poultry show which opened at 10 a. m. The pet show will be opened tonight.

The largest class of the poultry show was the Blue Andalusian Club, with exhibits from Los Angeles, Cleveland, and points in Oklahoma, Missouri, Wisconsin, Maryland, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York and Alabama.

RABBITS, PIGEONS GALORE

Peafowl, rabbits, pigeons and turkeys have likewise been gathered in some numbers at Oakland exposition. The entire collection is housed on the second floor of Duquesne Garden, where the judging will take place tomorrow, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The Pittsburgh show is one of the five largest in the country, termed the "Big Five." It ranks with those in New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis.

The annual banquet held in connection with the show is set for Wednesday night, in Webster Hall, when officials of the show will meet exhibitors and poultry experts from many sections of the country, who come here annually to attend the show.

RESEMBLES NOAH'S ARK

Motor Square Garden has been transformed into a miniature Noah's Ark, in preparation for the pet show. With the exception of canaries and parrots, no pet will be barred. There will be a flea circus, dogs and cats of every known variety, including the three-foot-tall Italian greyhound, "Mose," entered by firemen of Engine Company No. 38; a 15-pound lobster, exhibited by Miss Virginia Walters, of Homestead; tropical fish from the Allegheny Aquarium, goats, rabbits, tortoises, monkeys, raccoons, ducks, pigeons, the monkey-faced chicken, bantam roosters, hens with egg records, and Ray Krim's "pet" aeroplane, which he made himself, an expert piece of workmanship for a 6-year-old, and a list of other exhibits too long for classification.

No entry fee is charged for any of the pets.

LINKS MOSES IN GERMAN SALE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Senator Moses of New Hampshire is among others accused by Francis P. Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation, as having assisted German interests in an effort "to throttle the American chemical industry," Dr. Garvan made public a deposition he had prepared in the discontinued government suit over sale of the Bosch Magneto Company. The deposition was filed in the Boston federal court.

Garvan said he had "assembled evidence of the German penetration of American industry, involving Cabinet officers of the Harding regime and Senator Moses of New Hampshire as allies of the German interests in their attempt to regain control of the American situation."

CITES 10-YEAR FIGHT

The deposition describes Garvan's 10-year legal fight to justify his official participation in the sale as an official in the office of the alien property custodian.

MOSES EVADES CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Taking note of a charge by Francis P. Garvan, former alien property custodian, that he had sought to assist the German chemical and dye industry, Senator Moses (Rep.), of New Hampshire, remarked today:

"Mr. Garvin is evidently a very sick man."

McKinley Banquet Slated Saturday

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, of Illinois, will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the McKinley Commemoration Society in the William Penn Hotel Saturday night. Charles Milton Newcomb, humorist, also will speak. Fred W. M. McCulloch president of the society, will preside.

In addition to the speaking program there will be selections sung by the boys' choir of Trinity Cathedral and group singing lead by W. A. Davis.

Watches and Rings Stolen From Store

Watches and rings valued at $700, were stolen, police say, by thieves who broke a show window in Cudo's Diamond Parlor, at 213 Diamond street. Patrolman John Reilly discovered the window shattered shortly after 3 o'clock today. He notified the proprietor and a check was made on articles left in the window.

Ad Solicitor Held In Embezzlement

L. C. St. Clair, 40, of 617 Pressley street, was held for court charged with embezzlement by Magistrate Ray Schneider in North Side Police Court today. He was employed as an advertising solicitor by the J. L. Lewis Publishing Company, police testified, and was alleged to have retained funds collected.

Books Recall Early Balloon Flight

BOSTON.—A curious old catalog of books on aviation in the print department of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, brings to mind the interesting and often amusing inventions, scientific and literary, from the time of Leonardo da Vinci to the first successful ascent, in 1783, by the Montgolfier balloon. Where the variable mind one may accept 83 as the high point in the history of ballooning. All before that date was experimental. Since that time man has been perfecting the invention.

Auto Stalls on Crossing; Two Leap, Safe

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—W. A. Henderson and his son, J. H. Henderson, both of Houston, had narrow escapes from serious injury yesterday when their automobile was demolished by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train at Gamble stop, near here. The machine stalled on the tracks and both leaped to safety a moment before the crash.

German Plant 'Naps,' Grows More Leaves

BERLIN, Germany.—After "sleep" of from 15 to 20 minutes, a plant recently developed in Germany produces new leaves. So sensitive is it that if the leaves are touched or a match burned near them they immediately wither and fall off. In about a quarter of an hour after the withered leaves have dropped off new ones grow out. The plant is a member of the mimosa family. It grows in great quantities in India, where it is gathered and sold for commercial purposes.

SHOUSE ATTACK ON HOOVER HIT

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A statement by Jouett Shouse that President Hoover's card index of federal employes "suggests a use for political purposes of federal patronage to an extent heretofore undreamed of" has been branded by Walter Newton, secretary to the President, as without "truth or basis of fact."

Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, issued his statement from Democratic headquarters, following published reports of the "Presidential questionnaire." The card index, it was stated, was to be kept by Secretary Newton.

Secretary Newton, from the White House, issued this statement:

"I have been advised of the statement just issued by Jouett Shouse of the Democratic propaganda bureau.

"There is not an item of truth nor basis of fact in it. In fact neither the President nor I ever heard of the matter until it appeared in the press.

"It appears that for decades the regular White House staff in a regular routine way has kept a card index of Presidential and other non-civil service employes.

"In a routine way eight months ago cards were sent out for the purpose of bringing down to date that list. No inquiry was made as to any civil service employes. This list is, of course, kept current. I find on inquiry that 300 cards have been catalogued since last March.

"Several weeks ago this same Democratic propaganda bureau launched an attack on the President. It was so unfair as to invite almost condemnation, with the result that the public has been free from their assaults for several weeks.

"This last is just as baseless as were the others."

GIRL, TWO BOYS HURT COASTING

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—When a bob sled on which she was riding with several companions struck a pole near her home, Anna McCloskey, 19, of Vestaburg, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. She was removed to the Mercy Hospital at Pittsburgh. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon.

Two young men are in the Monongahela Hospital suffering injuries received while coasting. They are Samuel Sandis and Harrison Hodgson, of Monongahela. They were hurt when their sled collided with an automobile.

Edgeworth Firemen Arrange 21st Dance

The Edgeworth Volunteer Fire Department has arranged for its twenty-first annual ball to be held in the Edgeworth School Auditorium, Friday night. In addition to dancing there will be cards and refreshments.

Obituary

Virginia R. Campbell.

Virginia R. Campbell, daughter of the late Col. David and Eliza Campbell, died Friday at her home, 36 Beaver Road, Sewickley, where she had lived for several years. Her father organized the Duquesne Grays, one of the famous military organizations during the Civil War.

Miss Campbell was born in old Allegheny, where her family resided before moving to Sewickley. She was active during the World War in caring for soldiers going to France. She was an active member of the Presbyterian Church, of Sewickley. She is survived by her sisters, Miss Florence Campbell, Mrs. Lidie C. Stewart and Mrs. James Crossen Chaplin.

Miller Funeral.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Herschel Miller, 68, founder of H. Miller and Sons Contracting Company, who died Friday in his home at 311 Roup street. Services were conducted in his home and burial was in the B'Nai Israel Cemetery. Mr. Miller came to Pittsburgh in 1880 and eight years later established the contracting concern. He served as its president until his retirement several years ago. He was a member of the B'Nai Israel Congregation and several charitable organizations. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lena Miller; 12 children and 12 grandchildren.

Sherrick Funeral.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Curtis A. Sherrick, 66, a retired Pennsylvania Railroad conductor, who died Friday in his home at 110 Railroad avenue, Carnegie. Services were to be conducted in his home and burial was to be in Chartiers Cemetery. Mr. Sherrick had worked for the railroad 48 years, 40 as a freight conductor. He had resided in Carnegie 33 years. He leaves four sons, Samuel, William, Albert and Carl Sherrick; two daughters, Mrs. Eva N. Sexton and Mrs. Ethel M. Russell, and a brother, F. N. Sherrick.

John L. Fogal.

John L. Fogal, 68, retired North Side business man, of 2004 Termon avenue, died yesterday in the Homeopathic Hospital. For many years Mr. Fogal conducted a feed business on the North Side, retiring 17 years ago. He was born in Wexford and had resided in the county all his life. He leaves his widow, Mary E. Urban Fogel; three brothers, Harry D. Fogal, of Valencia; Wesley P. Fogal, of Greenville, Pa., and Charles A. Fogal, of Wexford, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary J. McClintock, Mrs. Anna V. Williams and Mrs. William Dean, all of Pittsburgh.

Bishop Describes 'Ideal Clergyman'

LONDON.—The bishop of Coventry, England, addressing a diocesan conference, is reported to have thus defined the "ideal clergyman": He should be young and married to a wife with an attractive personality and, preferably, a private income, and she should be "a real leader in all parochial work," where her husband should be director, as it were.

Silver Dollar Made Appearance in 1792

WASHINGTON.—The original coinage of the silver dollar was authorized in 1792. By the act of January 18, 1837, the weight and fineness of the coins were changed. The act of February 12, 1793, provided for the discontinuation of the coinage of silver dollars. The acts of February 28, 1878, and March 3, 1890, authorized the recoinage of silver dollars. The silver purchased under the act of 1891 was consumed in 1904. There was no further authorization to purchase silver for dollars until the passage of the Pittman act of April 23, 1918. From that time on silver dollars have been issued each year.

Realtors Hold Key Goes With House

WASHINGTON.—A key reposing in a coat pocket 100 miles away from a house is as much a part of the house as the roof on it and should be handed over to the new owner in the event of sale, says the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Kansas Sunflower Passing Rapidly

SUBLETTE, Kan.—The Sunflower State may have to change its name to the sweet clover state for Kansas sunflower is passing. The Kansas Highway Commission is confronted with the responsibility. The passing of the sunflower, it is said, is due to the vigilance of highway weed cutters at seasons when the state flower blooms profusely.

DRY SPY LIED, JAILED WOMAN DECLARES

Posed as Friend, Then Swore Falsely, Mother of Baby Born Dead in Cell Says

By WOOSTER TAYLOR,
Universal Service.

A few words from her lips and down went the whole fantastic structure of the district attorney's prize prohibition case.

Leaning back there in a rocking chair before the fireplace in her little home, her face still drawn and pale from her recent ordeal, when her baby was born dead in jail, she said:

"Mr. Patton didn't tell the truth.

"He swore that he bought beer in our home on December 15, when we had never even met him at that time, and I can prove it. He was never inside our house until the following Saturday, December 21. He came here with Harry Stanley, a neighbor of ours. The reason I recall the date so well is that I was just before Christmas and he was telling us how his wife was down visiting her folks at Modesto, and he intended driving down after her. Mr. Stanley had already eaten dinner, but Mr. Patton had not, so we invited him to sit down with us.

EATS, THEN INFORMS

"That was the first time he had set foot in our house, yet he swore in that affidavit before Judge Baugh that he bought beer here December 15.

"He said whisky, too—beer and whisky.

"I wish he would come here and say those things to my face—that I sold beer and whisky."

She went on to tell how they had taken Wesley Owen Patton into their home as a friend because the neighbor had brought him and how he came around the next day, Sunday, and invited them to take a ride in his car.

Straight from their hospitable handclasps, the taste of their food still on his lips, Patton crept away to his friend and employer, D. M. Laughery, and reported that he had purchased liquor in the Brown home.

DOOR SMASHED IN

He fixed the date in sworn affidavit as December 15, and it was on that testimony that Laughery smashed in the door of the home on New Year's Eve and that Judge Ray Baugh sentenced the expectant mother to 75 days in jail.

She had some surprising things to tell about that, too—about the way her trial was rushed through—and of what actually took place in the prison—but this vital question of time comes first.

"If she can prove her statement," said her attorney, former Judge J. A. Bardin, "we will have a cause for the criminal action for perjury against this man Patton."

AIR PICTURES WIN PRIZE

WASHINGTON, an. 27.—(AP)—Mastery of the upper air and his use of long range photography has won for Capt. Albert W. Stevens, of the Army Air Corps, one of the most coveted aeronautical prizes, the Mackey trophy.

Stevens is the flier who late last year successfully photographed Mt. Rainier and a group of high, snow-covered peaks at a distance of 227 miles, aiming his camera by compass at subjects far beyond the range of his own vision.

This achievement was one of three, all exceedingly meritorious in the opinion of the board making the award, which were combined to produce results of great value to aviation.

The first accomplishment noted by the awarding board was his flight last February to an altitude of 35,611 feet with Lieut. Harry Johnson as pilot. Not only was a record set for two-place planes, but Stevens made extensive notes on altitude conditions affecting aeroplane flight.

Stevens, on Inauguration Day, made the first night photographs of the Capitol and White House in Washington. Using powerful flares dropped from his plane and timed to flash at a predetermined altitude and time, so as to coincide with the best exposure of his photographic plate, Stevens obtained photographs which for clarity of detail surpassed many daylight efforts.

The distance photograph of Mt. Rainer was made on a 14,000-mile aerial photographic tour of the northwest. In adition to this picture he obtained a great number of scenic photographs which are ranked as some of the most beautiful ever made, whether from the air or on the ground.

Commenting on Stevens achievements, Major Gen. Fechet, chief of the air corps, noted that "it is typical of him that last summer in attempting to shield an intricate aerial camera from a fall he took a bad fall himself and broke his arm rather than allow one of his cameras to suffer harm."

AWARD PRIZES TO BOY SCOUTS

Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute, today announced the prize winners among members of Troop No. 11 (First Baptist Church), Boy Scouts, who participated in the recent smoke survey of the Oakland district. The awards were for excellence in observing and reporting.

First prize, a stop watch, has been given to Eldon Skees. The other prizes are: Second, a pedometer, to Jack Walters; third, scout axe, to Lyle DeVilling; fourth, scout knife and scout manual, to Alvin Snyder. Each of the 14 other members of the troop who participated in the survey has been given a scout knife. Ira D. Johns is the troop scout master.

The survey, carried out under the joint auspices of Mellon Institute and the Municipal Bureau of Smoke Regulation, had for its purpose the determination of the amount of air contamination by smoke from residences in Oakland. It was carried on for two weeks and led to improvement in firing practices in many homes in the district.

Unknown Cremated On Burning Dump

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—The body of a man so badly charred that identification was impossible, is being held by Deputy Coroner N. R. Debout following its discovery in the Lincoln Hill mine, west of here. The man, apparently in search of work, had prepared to sleep at night near a burning slate dump. He was overcome by fumes and his clothes caught fire.

Historical Society Re-elects Officers

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—Officers of the Washington County Historical Society have been re-elected for the year as follows: President, J. F. McFarland; vice president, J. V. Clark; treasurer, Nellie Beaman; secretary, Jane S. Hall; curator, Louis Van Orden; directors, James I. Brownson, Charles M. Ewing, W. H. Buckingham, J. V. Clark, and George E. McCaskey.

Negro Woman Cut, Accused Man Held

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Sarah Green, Negro, is in the hospital suffering from knife wounds on the arm and chest, alleged by the police to have been inflicted Saturday night by John Miller, Negro. The cutting occured in the home of Henrietta Marshall. Miller was arrested.

GIRL WOUNDED BY BULLET

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Stella Gebronskey, 16, of Phillips, is in a serious condition at the Connellsville Hospital from a bullet wound, accidentally inflicted while she was engaged in making up a bed at a hotel here.

The girl had come to visit a sister, Mrs. Andrew Wargo, whose husband is proprietor of the hotel. She found the gun under Wargo's pillow and said she was carrying it into the next room when it exploded. Wargo and his wife found the young woman on the floor and called medical assistance.

The bullet passed through her body, an inch under the heart and just missing the lung. Physicians believe she will recover.

Police, Firemen To Oppose Ripper

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 27.—Members of the police and fire departments, who may be ripped out of office by the change of Beaver Falls from a borough to a city, may contest the action of the civil service board in court.

The board has ruled that all employes must take the civil service examinations, and then be elected by city council. Old employes contend that according to rulings of the courts the civil service rules will not apply to police and firemen who have been in service prior to the formation of the third-class city.

TRIPLE ACTION
ends coughs FAST
"It was pitiful—such a LITTLE girl and such a BIG cough."
"There is something terribly pathetic about a little girl coughing. My niece was on a visit to me and somehow she caught a bad cough. I was worried, all right! On the advice of the druggist I gave her Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup. It worked like a charm. In four hours her cough was much better. Just to be careful I kept her in the house for two days—and she got well completely."—MRS. M. GAFFNEY
Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup ends coughs so quickly because it has Triple Action: 1—it soothes, 2—is mildly laxative, 3—clears air passages . . . Made by the makers of the famous Smith Brothers' Cough Drops.

BYRD SECURE, SAYS MESSAGE

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 27 (AP.)—Don Wallace, amateur operator of a radio station here, said he was in touch with the Byrd expedition at the South Pole between 1 and 4 A. M. today and that the [illegible] showing [illegible] possibility of [illegible].

Informed by Washington newspaper reporters [illegible] there was some alarm [illegible] in the United States and that other nations [illegible] asked to aid in reaching [illegible] near the South Pole, the operator answered:

"Much as [illegible] nothing. We expect to [illegible] storage soon. Everybody is more worrying [illegible] than he is. We are taking all [illegible]. We are not alarmed."

Wallace said the message sent by the operator was dictated personally by Rear Admiral Richard Byrd.

Reports have been circulated that the expedition may have insufficient food supplies to last it through another winter.

U. S. Fighting Rich Narcotic Makers to Limit World Dope

By WINIFRED BLACK
Universal Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Just enough "dope" manufactured in the whole world for the legitimate use of doctors and scientists and not one pound or ounce or one grain more.

That is the American plan for the control of the narcotic menace and today the news from Geneva looks as if the American idea may be at least considered with some show of impartial justice by the League of Nations opium advisory committee.

The sub-committee which was appointed yesterday to consider ways and means of carrying such a plan into practical use seems to be a good working body.

Switzerland, Germany, Japan, France, Great Britain, India, Holland and Italy are all represented, and John Kenneth Caldwell, the American, has been asked to "sit in" as an unofficial observer.

Cavazzoni, of Italy, is sure to hold that committee down to business as long as he is in it.

Italy does not raise opium and it does not manufacture any kind of narcotic drugs, and Italy is determined to keep the dope evil out of Italy—no matter where else it creeps like a slimy snake.

Japan seems to be making a good straight fight for the real control of the culture and manufacture of dope.

Germany, France, Switzerland, Great Britain, India and Holland are all in the dope traffic up to their elbows, and it is very interesting to see exactly how they are going to meet the plain, practical American plan of plain, practical limitation.

It seems rather a pity that China is not represented on the sub-committee. China is making a desperate effort to throw off the yoke of dope slavery which was forced upon that country by Great Britain at the expense of a hideous war.

I wonder if the Swiss delegate will bring his personal adviser to the sessions of the sub-committee, the gentleman who sat next to him during all the sessions of the last opium conference.

Very intelligent and practical person this particular gentleman. He ought to know something about the drug trade. He is the head of one of the great drug-making and drug-selling and drug-exporting firms of Switzerland.

41 Drug Factories

There are just 41 great narcotic drug factories on earth and one-quarter of one narcotic drug factory can turn out enough dope to stupify and deprave the entire world.

Big business will have representatives somewhere within easy reach of that sub-committee—be sure of that.

Whether the sub-committee will pay attention to big business when the resolutions which will determine the next step in the fight are drafted or not remains to be seen.

Take the little matter of the "ester."

Do you know what an ester is? I never heard of one in my life—until now.

An ester is an innocent drug that can be exported and imported freely.

A manufacturer can import a ton of these "esters," take it to his factory and remove the acid, and there he has a basket of chips with a quantity of morphine which is not accounted for or recorded. And he can slip that morphine in and out of all sorts of interesting channels and never even call up a friend on the telephone about it.

Ordinary Morophine

An ester, you see, is morphine—just plain, every-day death-dealing, brain-stealing, heart-breaking morphine which has been treated with an acid.

It's morphine—till you put in the acid.

And after the acid is in the drug it is not morphine at all, its an "ester."

There are all kinds of "ester," scores and scores of them—simple little idea, isn't it?

Japan does not like the "esters."

At the last opium conference an earnest British delegate raised the question of "esters."

He said the situation was grave and he asked that benzoyl-morphine be put on the list of drugs controlled by the conventions.

Good honest gesture, wasn't it?

The only trouble about that idea is that benzoyl-morphine is just one "ester" and there are 99,000 other "esters" pouring gaily out of the factories daily like water pouring from a broken fire hydrant.

What will the new sub-committee do about the "esters?"

Let's watch and see.

Hold Companion Of Injured Girl

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Serious injury of Miss Stella Crum, 21, and arrest of her companion, William Hackenberg, 30, on a charge of driving while intoxicated, resulted from an automobile accident here. Miss Crum was taken to a hospital and Hackenberg was held in jail under $2,500 bond.

Chaplin Declares Talkies Lack Artistry

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 27—(INS.)—Although Lon Chaney, one of the noted "holdouts," has at last signed to make talking pictures, Charles Chaplin, famous film comedian, today reiterated that he has no plans of making similar pictures.

"With me it is not a case of not wanting to talk," said Chaplin. "But my medium has been pantomime and I do not want to turn now to an inferior medium of expression.

"Talking pictures, with all the lavishness of their production, still lack artistry. I have yet to see one that impressed me as being artistic."

CHURCH FACES LABOR NEED

WASHINGTON Jan. 27—(AP.)—Formation of an industrial fellowship of the Episcopal Church to interpret for the church the problems of labor and inform labor of the aims of the church was announced here by the Rev. Charles N. Lathrop, executive secretary of the social service department of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The announcement was made after a meeting of Episcopalian workers from a dozen states. They expressed concern over "the rapid mechanization of industry and the displacement of industry," and said that if the church was to function effectively it "must function in and through an industrial order of society."

"We are persuaded," the statement said, "that it is impossible for labor to solve the problems of industry alone. We are equally persuaded that it is impossible for employers alone to solve these problems.

"We believe that the most effective way for the church to aid labor is to encourage the men of labor within the church to help in the solution of these problems as churchmen and Christians. We believe the same holds equally true for employers.

"We do not desire to emphasize our denominational differences; we do believe that labor or employers as churchmen can most effectively assist the Episcopal church in formulating the policy on these vital industrial questions."

Pneumonia Victim Slays Nurse, Then Dies

Heath had been critically ill since Tuesday and was often delirious. Dr. Frank Caravati, the family physician, said.

He told police he shot the nurse when she knocked him down. The police theory was that Heath was delirious and tried to get up and that the nurse's efforts to quiet him were annoying, and prompted him to shoot her.

Mrs. Kerse was taken to a hospital suffering from a portion of a bullet in her brain.

WILCOX, FRIEND OF T. R., DIES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Ansley Wilcox, prominent lawyer and personal friend of Presidents Cleveland, McKinley, Roosevelt and Wilson, died yesterday. He was a schoolmate of Woodrow Wilson and had the distinction of entertaining as his house guest Theodore Roosevelt when the latter took the oath of office as president upon the death of President McKinley.

Mr. Wilcox was born at Augusta, Ga., January 27, 1856. He was graduated from Yale in 1878 and became prominent in the practice of law. He headed the movement for jury reform which led to the adoption of the New York jury law in 1895. He also was active in the affairs of the State Ballot Reform Association.

BOY, MAN SLAIN, FOUND IN SNOW

LAUREL, Md., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Frozen and covered by a blanket of snow, the bodies of Alfred Wellford, 14, missing since last Monday, and Lynn Montgomery, 25, a racetrack follower, were found in Laurel Grove, a thicket in the heart of the town, by a young man and a woman.

The bodies were lying on an overcoat, the lad face downward, with a bullet wound in his breast, and Montgomery resting half on him with a bullet wound in the temple. Montgomery had a pistol clasped in his hand. There was no sign of a struggle.

Joshua T. Wellford, the boy's father, said his son had attended school Monday and had completed studying after his return home, and had gone sledding. He said his son and Montgomery, who was an exerciser for the Ascot racing stables, and recently had been employed as an exerciser for Breckenridge Long, former assistant secretary of state, had been close friends for some time, but recently Alfred had said that he "did not like" his former companion.

"I understand, however, that Montgomery kept after Alfred," the father said, and added that, the race track man had always sought the companionship of boys 13 and 14 rather than those of his own age.

The bodies were found by Miss Eunice Watkins, of Laurel, and Louis Jewett, of Washington, when the latter investigated what he at first thought to be a bundle covered with snow. A coroner's investigation has been ordered.

I'll never be without this dainty, healing cream

"A friend of ours who is a nurse at City Hospital was visiting our family one day and I told her how I was suffering from frightfully chapped hands. The minute she saw how raw and red they were she made me send right out for a jar of Noxzema Cream. After rubbing it into my hands a few times they all healed up. It made them so soft and white, too. Believe me, I'll never be without this dainty, healing cream again."

If anyone knows what is good for chapped hands doctors and nurses do. For, in order to keep their hands clean and free from germs, they must wash them many times a day. This causes chapping quicker than anything in cold weather.

To heal and protect their hands thousands of nurses and doctors now use Noxzema Cream regularly. Why? Because they know that it contains the soothing, healing medication needed to soften dry, rough, cracked skin—to heal away all smarting and soreness overnight.

Besides Noxzema has all the dainty qualities of the finest toilet cream. Snowy white, greaseless, not sticky—it cannot soil or stain. Sold at all leading drug and department stores. Get a jar today.

New Films Reviewed as Hollywood and Theater Gossip Is Noted

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, By Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.

HARRY AXE pointed an accusing finger at Sid Silvers. "You can't risk that guy any place. I took him to a chicken dinner last night and asked him to pass the bones. He handed over the dice."

Montagu Love tells the story of an Englishman who came to Hollywood in an effort to impress him with the town. friends rushed him to scenic spots to the Chinese theater and other edifices devoted to tinsel and quantity. The Englishman returned to his hotel weary and dusty.

Put your shoes out," a pal suggested.

Eh?

Montague Love

"Oh, yes," the Englishman retorted. "I'll have them cleaned myself. If the porter got them, he'd gild the lily things."

Seems Arthur Hammerstein is running himself frantic in an effort to locate Rudolph Friml. Friml has disappeared. It took him 21 days to travel from New York to the Coast last Oct. 5 here he went into conference with Mr. Hammerstein and told the story of "Bride 66," which will feature Lois Moran. Friml then did his second disappearance act. He has been gone some 25 days now, and all efforts to locate him have thus far proved futile. Friml, 'tis murmured, always hides out when he's writing a musical score. He's sho' doing a swell job if Hammerstein's mental state is a criterion.

Wedding Soon For Alice Day

SCREENALITIES: Gloria Swanson and Laura Hope Crews have betaken themselves to Palm Springs or thereabouts to discuss the Swanson's next story. Miss Crews, it might be of interest to add, is the big shot on the Pathe lot these days. Sorta high mogul of production. And a very capable woman she is, too . . . Alice Day admits to ye scribe that her romance with Jack Cohen, stock broker, is more than serious. Their marriage is slated for some time next month, or March at the latest . . . Viola Brothers Shore, W. K. writer, is enroute home from a coupla months jaunt to Europe. Ah, Vi, the sun still shines in Hollywood, which is swell if your nerves are steady . . . Some wiseacre asked Wilson Mizner how-come he was wearing a new tie. Wilson confided a guy had forgotten to take it home with him. . . . Ilka Chase, who is playing in Marion Davies' new flick, "The Gay Nineties," lives in Laurel Canyon. Down the road a-piece lives Jimmy Howe, Chinese cameraman who used to be Herbert Brenon's prize grinder. That canyon has all the hearings of a colony.

Lola Lane Gets 'Good News' Role

LOLA LANE has been signed for a featured role in Edgar McGregor's screen version of "Good News." Lola makes the third Lane Mary Lawlor, Bessie Love being the other two. And incidentally, William Buster Collier, Jr., isn't singing the lead as originally announced. Some upset there. Stanley Smith has the role.

Lola Lane

According to a story given this department, Douglas Gilmore—recently placed under a five-year Fox contract—was badly injured t'other day when he smacked his auto into a street car. Gilmore evidently took the full force of the smash on his face, sustaining among other injuries, concussion of the brain. His condition is reported very serious. His mother and sister, I believe, are in Hollywood. Gilmore isn't married. His wife divorced him a year or so ago. She is now Mrs. Monty Banks. She married Banks in London.

THE TROPICAL TRIANGLE IN SHERIDAN

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Bebe Daniels, the singing senorita of "Rio Rita," is out in the Sheridan Square in the new RKO film "Love Comes Along." It is one of those tropical and sun-kissed romances of which the movie-makers never tire. The charming heroine, the handsome sailor boy and the bad, bad caballero all are there. And, as has happened many times before, the heroine falls in love with the sailor boy and then falls into the hands of the naughty caballero. But never fear! The heroic sailor arrives in the nick of time—and this time through a window.

However, the picture does have its moments—and its theme song. Incidentally, this song, as sung by Miss Daniels, is really one of the moments. She has a voice, and knows how to use it, this little girl who all moviedom once said was through. That was back in the silent days. But since the talk and her RKO contract came along, she is on the top of the Hollywood heap.

Lloyd Hughes, who has been scarce in these parts for a while, appears as the sailor boy. He makes a handsome enough hero, in spite of his atrocious striped sweater and reveals a voice that no ear would quarrel about. He also goes in for the singing. Montague Love, as the bad caballero, has a dialect we can't cite for, yet he registers O. K. Ned Sparks introduces some comedy and he gets more laughs out of a few brief words than some of the more famous screen wits can get out of a whole paragraph.

For scenic elaborateness, there is one of those fiestas, which is saved from being a "siesta" by the singing Bebe. For dramatic noise, there is a sweethearts' quarrel, with the hero and heroine rivaling modern political camps in the names they hurl at each other. And for anything, except originality, there is one of those balcony scenes. But blame that on Shakespeare. He began it.

GLEASONS PUT "SHANNONS" IN HARRIS

By EDWARD GOSS

Not much pretention of plot, quick-moving action and a thick coating of wise-cracks makes "The Shannons of Broadway" a piece of lively entertainment for Harris audiences this week. The Shannons, Jim and Lucille Gleason, were made for the play.

The Shannons begin as a song and dance team. They save their money and it is a good thing, too, for they are informed that the show can get along without them. A hotel in a small town looks promising to Mrs. Shannon, not so to Mr. Shannon. Mrs. Shannon says buy and Mr. Shannon buys.

A Shylock in the town gets the low-down that the government will purchase property adjoining the hotel for an airport, hence raise the value of the hotel. By dint of much scheming, the Shylock gets the business in his possession. If the scheming had been legal and if the man's son had also been black of heart things would have been bad for the Shannons. But, as it is, the partners again gain ownership of the property and sell it for a tremendous profit.

They are bred to the stage so they buy some beautiful stage drops, with spangles that Mrs. Shannon always yearned for, and make tracks for Broadway. The picture closes with the Shannons fingering saxophones amidst a group of beautiful chorines.

On the stage, Victor Graff presents "A Trip Around the World" with the Eight Dancing Co-eds. Saxon-Fuller and Company, Bentell and Gould. Bennis and McGurk and the Harris Troubadours also appear.

MARKET RENT TALLY ASKED

Council today asked the Bureau of City Property to submit estimates of revenue expected during 1930 from the rentals of stalls and floor space in South Side Market House.

The current budget estimates show that $8,000 was expected from the South Side and a total of $124,250 from all market houses.

The revised list probably was called for as a result of a report from the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board that stated rentals in Diamond Market were far below the rents of other buildings in that district.

Council has asked the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board to recommend a schedule of rentals for the South Side and North Side Market houses.

AUTO LOOTERS FINED $100

Testimony that they had been stealing merchandise from automobiles parked in the Penn avenue produce district, today resulted in William Mangan, 29, of 1235 South Eleventh street, son of the late William (Buck) Mangan, and Joe Levandowsky, 27, City, being fined $100.

Detectives told Magistrate Leo D. Rothenberg that on Sunday of last week 15 autos were robbed of merchandise valued at thousands of dollars. Levandowsky tried to escape with the approach of the detectives, it was said, but was captured by Detective Edward McEntee after a foot race across town to the Armstrong tubes.

Farmer Confesses In Murder of Two

DURANT, Okla., Jan. 27.—(INS.)—The state's case in the murder of Mrs. Sarah Eastep and Will Hughes, farmer, living near Durant, was solved today when A. J. Eastep, neighbor of Hughes, confessed that he clubbed Hughes to death.

Mrs. Ila Hughes, widow of the slain man, previously signed a confession in which she alleged that she and Eastep planned to marry after her husband's death. Until today Eastep steadfastly denied implication in the murder. This morning he summoned Sheriff Ruel Taylor and dictated a confession.

Lawyers' Fists Fly During Murder Trial

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—County Attorney Roy Archer and Dayton Moses, of Fort Worth, defense lawyer in the trial of former Judge John W. Brady for the murder of a girl stenographer, engaged in a fist fight in the court room today. Archer said he hit Moses after the lawyer had struck at him. Neither was injured.

E. A. Berry, of Houston, chief of defense counsel, asserted Archer had made statements derogatory to Moses and that the latter, on returning to the court room after an absence of two or three days, took the county attorney to task for it.

DRAMA, MUSIC IN STAGE BILLS

Bert Lytell will appear in the Nixon tonight in a romantic melodrama, "Brothers," by Herbert Ashton, Jr. Mr. Lytell is supported by a cast including Grace Menken, Clara Palmer, Ben MacQuarrier, William Ingersoll, Frank Sylvester, James Seeley, Rosemary King, Matt Briggs and others.

This week in the Pitt Theater, where the George Sharp Players open in "Smilin' Through" tonight, curtain calls will be limited to one. The program carries a note to the audience, "Owing to the unusual ending of each act, there will be no curtain calls until the end of the play."

Tonight in the Shubert Alvin the operetta, "Blossom Time," opens an engagement of one week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Next week the attraction in the Shubert Alvin will be the tragedian, Fritz Leiber, in a repertory of Shakespearean plays, opening with "Richard III." A different play will be given each night and at matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Opening Monday, February 3, Otis Skinner will appear in the Nixon for a week's engagement in "Papa Juan," a new comedy of Spanish life.

FILIPINOS PERIL AMERICANS

MANILA, Jan. 27.—(AP)—In the face of threats by Manila gangsters to take reprisals upon Americans, especially soldiers and sailors, in recent anti-Filipino riots in California, Police Chief C. E. Pills assured Americans here they were in no danger.

Precautions are being taken to guard cabarets and strategic points in the city where isolated attacks on individuals might be possible, but the official said he was confident there would be no retaliatory outbreaks. Labor leaders joined the chief in an assurance there would be no violence. The Philippines Herald, leading Nationalistic daily, printed a story in which it said gang members deeply resenting the attacks on Filipino laborers in California were already mobilizing their forces.

"Unless authorities act quickly," the article said, "it is feared the city's tough racketeers will start trouble. Several conferences between chieftains of the various groups already have taken place, it was learned on good authority, and co-operation in carrying out their vindication program had been decided upon already. Absolute secrecy is being maintained regarding the plans of action which the racketeers are expected to carry out here.

"It was learned, however, that American soldiers and sailors will be the objects of their special attention. Several members of the Tondo and Santa Cruz gangs have lived in the United States and it is pointed out they understand the situation."

The Watsonville (Cal.) disturbance has caused widespread discussion in Manila but thus far no known conflicts between Americans and Filipinos have resulted from it.

Several student and civic organizations are planning protest meetings and the Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines, a Filipino organization, adopted a resolution of protest this morning.

'Armless Wonder' Barnum Find, Dies at 74

SALISBURY, N. C., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Charles B. Tripp, widely known as the "armless" wonder, died in a hospital here last night from asthma. He was 74 years old.

Tripp, born without arms, could shave himself and attend to all his personal needs, using his feet deftly for tasks ordinarily performed with the hands. He had been connected with shows from boyhood.

At 17 he made his first appearance with the P. T. Barnum show in New York. His life as a showman took him on three world tours.

GALE GROUNDS SHIPS, 4 DIE

DIGBY, N. S., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The sea took four lives and tossed two coastal steamers upon the rocks of Digby Neck in a storm which swept this section. Capt. Sinclair Baker was battered to death as he attempted to make land with a life line from one of the stricken vessels and the other three were washed overboard. They were Cap. Bayard Powell, Fred Mill and Charles Kennedy, seamen.

The Grace Hankinson, of Weymouth, a 122-ton vessel, was towing the Ruby L., of Digby, 119 tons, on the way from Liverpool, N. S., to St. John, N. S., when a raging snow squall descended. The ships were driven ashore at the entrance to the Annapolis basin.

Capt. Baker, who was the skipper of the Ruby L., gave his life in an attempt to save his crew and the sailors aboard the Hankinson by jumping into the raging sea with a life line and trying to swim to safety. He was crushed on the rocks by the same mountainous waves which swept Capt. Powell of the Hankinson and the two seamen from the decks of their steamer.

Two seamen, climbing high on the masts of the Ruby L., saved their lives by clinging to the rigging.

MAN KILLED IN RAID ON STILL

TEXARKANA, Ark., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Oscar Call, 26, of Garland City, was fatally shot during a raid on a large whisky still about 15 miles south of Lewisville yesterday. He died later in a hospital.

Call, who was found in a dying condition in a house near the still several hours after the raid, was said by Sheriff R. H. Duty, of Lafayette County, to have been shot when he fled from the still with two other men under a volley from the guns of the raiders. The

Venango Reports Cold at 16 Below

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 27.—Hampton Station with 16 below zero, was Venango County's coldest point yesterday morning, and Clintonville, at 15 below, and Raymilton, at 14, were next. The mercury fell fast on the heels of a late Saturday afternoon blizzard which drifted several country roads.

Man Arrested as Drunken Driver

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Pete Presnar, arrested Saturday by Officer Budd Fleeger, charged with operating his machine in a reckless manner, was also accused of being under the influence of liquor.

Councilman Drops Dead in His Home

TILTONVILLE, Ohio, Jan. 27.—Councilman Carl G. Warrick, 41, died suddenly Sunday morning soon after arising.

Escaped Convict Called for Sentence

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 27.—Bert Ward, alias Elmer Weaver, escaped Rockview prison convict, who told Judge Parker he had never been in trouble before, will be brought back from Pittsburgh Monday for sentence. Ward was ready to plead guilty to two Oil City robberies when Judge Parker decided to look up his record. It was found he had escaped from Rockview last April while serving a 5 to 10-year sentence.

Flier Meets Death As Glider Collapses

ALAMEDA, Cal., Jan. 27.—(AP)—Norman A. Goddard, head of the Palo Alto school of aviation, was killed yesterday when he fell 3,000 feet with a glider into the Oakland Estuary. He had attempted to make a loop when his machine collapsed. Goddard was equipped with a parachute, but was unable to free himself until he was directly above the water. His neck was broken.

Goddard, who held a reserve commission as a naval pilot, had hoped to establish a record for looping with a glider.

Scout Hero Given Vets' Scholarship

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The National Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America announced last night the award of the $300 scholarship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to Perry E. Piper, 17-year-old Eagle Lone Scout, of Sumner, Ill.

The award was made to Piper because of exceptional scholarship and because he risked his life to save another boy from drowning, the announcement said. Piper saved Elmer Corrie, of Venice, Ill., then 12 years old, from drowning in a river in which both were swimming in August, 1926.

STORM KILLS 4 IN HAWAII

HILO, Island of Hawaii, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Reports reaching here from the Kona district in the western part of the island said that four persons drowned and houses were demolished by rolling stones during a terrifying thunder and rain storm.

Residents reported that in 35 years they had never experienced such force as the storm displayed. Starting at 5 p. m., Saturday, the storm lasted until 4 a. m., yesterday. The dead include a Japanese woman and three Korean children. The new Kona Inn was said to have been damaged.

Hold Two Men in Stolen Auto Plot

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 27.—Edward Scott and Charles Blair, residents of Cranberry Township, are held in Venango County jail, awaiting information by County Detective Beatty regarding stolen cars. Officials allege that Blair is one of a group of "fences" for stolen cars in the remote district of Venango County. Both men have been sought for some time.

Meteorite Crashes To Earth in Siberia

CHITA, Siberia, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Reports reached here that a huge meteorite with a thunderous roar and a dazzling light that extended for many miles, fell into the woods near the Mongolian border.

QUIZ BEGINS IN GUARD KILLING

DETROIT, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—State and county authorities today were to begin an investigation of the killing Saturday of Stanley Prusnowski, 16-year-old National guardsman, who was shot Saturday as he attempted to flee arrest as a deserter.

Prosecutor James E. Chenot announced he would take personal charge of the investagation for civil authorities.

Governor Fred W. Green, as head of the National Guard in Michigan, ordered that the investigation be conducted by civil authorities.

"It is a terrible and unfortunate affair," Gov. Green declared over long distance telephone from Washington. "I can't understand why the officer shot. I have not received a report of the affair yet, however, and would not like to censure or accuse until I know all the facts."

Joseph Poggoine, 28, sergeant of the National Guard, who shot Prusnowski, and all witnesses of the shooting were to report today in Prosecutor Chenot's office.

Poggione was released Saturday night after the shooting.

Dorothy Knapp Hit On Nose at Dance

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Reports today said Dorothy Knapp, beauty who went on the stage after winning a contest at Atlantic City, was nursing a bruised nose as the result of two punches at the Beaux Arts costume ball Friday night. She was a duchess and her assailant a knight. The blows were delivered after an invitation to dance. Miss Knapp witheld the man's name.

Hospital Laundress Is Burned to Death

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Alone in her home, Mrs. Hannah H. Ortman, 55, was burned to death in the Germantown section of the city last night.

Partly overcome by smoke as she lay in her bed, the woman had struggled vainly to reach the door of her room. She had been a laundress for several years at the Germantown Hospital.

Loeffler to Talk Before Fox Hunters

Captivating Frock of Crepe

Pattern 1833

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

There is a subtle charm about this lovely afternoon frock with its becoming cape collar and smart cuffs. The moulded bodice and gracefully flared skirt are interesting new features of the mode.

Design 1833 may be fashioned of silk crepe, Elizabeth crepe or satin. The collar and cuffs are smart of pique, organdie or crepe. Black with white, brown with beige, blue with flesh, are just a few suggestions for delightful results.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 requires 3⅛ yards of 40-inch fabric, and ¾ yard 36-inch trimming.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

WORKERS LOSE PAY FOR 31ST

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—All civil employes of Mexico hereafter will labor without reward on the thirty-first day of any month, and the sums they would have drawn in pay under the old plan will go to swell the coffers of the National Revolutionary party, which has dominated the government for more than 10 years.

President Emilio Portes Gil decreed that this measure should take effect at once.

The President justified the order by saying that the party was the organization that gave rise to the revolutionary administration and that the government is "the genuine representation of that organization." The measure provides that the fund thus created shall be used for political campaigns, social and charitable work and insurance against illness and death of members of the party.

Soviet Sentences Agent as Traitor

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Sentence of death and confiscation of all his property was pronounced today by the Supreme Court on Peter Miller-Mallis, representative in Germany of the Soviet grain trust, who refused recently to return to Russia after government summons. This is the first case where the government has applied its recent decree condemning to death as traitors all citizens of the Soviet Union abroad who fail to return to Russia when summoned.

Strauss Arrives For Talkie Work

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Oscar Strauss, noted Viennese composer, arrived yesterday with Mrs. Straus on their way to Hollywood, Cal.

Struss came to compose operettas for the talking pictures. This is his second visit to America. He said he expects to remain in Hollywood until April.

Russia May Date From Day Red Revolt Began

MOSCOW, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Time hereafter in Soviet Russia may be dated from November 7, 1917, when the Bolshvist revolution began. A special governmental commission approved this project and the cabinet is expected to adopt it.

Under the plan the year would be divided into 12 months as at present but each month would have six weeks of five days each. Saturdays and Sundays would be abolished entirely from the Soviet calendar.

The only compromise would be that in foreign correspondence the dates would be given under both the old and new systems.

UNION MEETING OUSTS REDS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Three alleged Communists were thrown bodily yesterday afternoon from a meeting of the Piedmont Organizing Council, organizing group of North Carolina trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, when they attempted to heckle speakers.

Police were then called and the three disturbers were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. One was Elbert Totherow, an organizer for the National Textile Workers Union, which has operated in this section in opposition to the United Textile Workers of America, a branch of the American Federation of Labor. The others arrested, gave their names as Clarence Fimith and Joseph Carr, both of Charlotte.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Lindeman & Sons
"The Second Oldest Piano in America"

The importance and significance of the above unusual offer is emphasized by the fact that it applies to such a distinguished Piano as the LINDEMAN & SONS, an instrument that carries with it the dignity of a name that has been honored since the dawn of American History. The Lindeman & Sons Piano was founded at Dresden, Germany, in 1821, and established in America in 1836—nearly one hundred years ago, and has survived throughout the ensuing years because of intrinsic and superlative merit, the only qualifications that have ever insured such a degree of longevity in the life of any product.

We only have 10 Grands to include in this offer, each one positively warranted to be regular Lindeman & Sons Standard Models—5 plain and 5 period designs—each one absolutely new and finished in the finest of Mahogany and Walnut woods. Each Piano is 5 feet in length and the tone cannot be surpassed by any Piano of equal size, regardless of price. Our regular prices on these models are $870 to $995.

REFUSES AUTO TO AID POOR

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—President-elect Ortiz Rubio turned down an opportunity to acquire a luxurious limousine in order to initiate his fund for building a poor house.

Advised that a group of friends wished to present him with a $7,500 automobile, he requested them instead to send a check for that amount to his secretary so the fund could be started.

He recently requested that all individuals or organizations planning dinners or banquets in his honor cancel those plans and contribute the amount they would cost to a fund for the protection of the city's impoverished.

Boy Risks Life To Save Child Skater

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Harold White, Waynesburg High School freshman, risked his life to rescue Calvin Ingham, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ingham, of Waynesburg, from drowning in Ten Mile Creek, where the boys were skating. The Ingham youth had broken through a hole in the ice and was about to be carried under when grasped by White, who crawled over the thin ice to reach him.

SIX HOMELESS BY FIRE

SCOTTDALE, Pa., Jan. 27.—A man, his wife and four children were homeless today as the result of a fire which destroyed their frame dwelling, together with its contents. Martin M. Miller, a mill worker, and his family are being sheltered by neighbors.

The house was burned by flames believed to have originated in a defective flue. Mrs. Miller discovered fire on the second floor, and the firemen were called. Apparatus became mired on a muddy road, after which it was necessary to lay 1,000 feet of hose to reach the fire.

FOREST STUDY CHIEF NAMED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Announcement of the appointment of Willis M. Baker, associate state forester of New Jersey, as director of the Pennsylvania forest research institute at Mont Alto, was made by the department of Forests and Waters.

The research institute is the only one of the United States conducted by a state government and is operated in conjunction with the state forestry school at State College and Mont Alto. It was created last with the reorganization of the forestry school, making it a part of the Pennsylvania State College.

A native of Warren, Pa., Mr. Baker was graduated from State College in 1914 with a degree in forestry. For three years after his graduation he served as forest assistant with the United States forest service in Arizona, becoming assistant forester of New Jersey in 1917.

Boy Wedges Foot In Pail of Hot Water

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—James Stockdale, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stockdale, of near Waynesburg, may lose his right leg as a result of scalds. The boy wedged his foot into a bucket of scalding water while riding a scooter car. It took several minutes for members of the family to pry it loose.

KIMBALL DIES, NAVY PIONEER

Admiral Kimball was 84. He leaves his widow, the former Miss Esther Smith Spencer, of Maryland.

After his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1869, Admiral Kimball was torpedo officer of the first torpedo craft of the Navy in 1874, and commanded the Atlantic torpedo boat flotilla in the war with Spain. He commanded the Nicaraguan expeditionary squadron in 1909.

A Pause in the HAHN February Furniture Sale to Dispose of the

To Be Sold at Prices That Are Almost Like Giving Them Away!

This has upset all our plans! Here we are, right in the midst of our February Furniture Sale! Our vast floors had been transformed into a gigantic Exposition of Advance Furniture Styles, with nothing but new 1930 suites on display! Then, on Friday, in the early morning hours, a fire! It didn't amount to much, and was quickly extinguished by our automatic sprinkler system. All the damage done was caused by the water. Magnificent dining room suites, stately bed-room suites and fine living room suites were spotted, marred or otherwise damaged—none of them seriously—but enough so that we cannot sell them in the regular course of our business.

We acted quickly to set our store in order. Most of this water-sprinkled furniture has been removed to our basement, where it goes on sale tomorrow morning. The prices we're putting on this furniture are simply ridiculous ...so amazing, in fact, that we hesitate to state them here. By exact count, there are 36 Living Room Suites, 21 Dining Room Suites, 34 Bed-room Suites, 9 Sun-Parlor Suites, 7 Breakfast Room Suites and a large number of Odd and Decorative Pieces (such as chairs, desks, tables, refrigerators, etc., etc.)

As these were all Floor Samples, there are no two alike, and so it is impossible for us to describe them

In no case were all the pieces in a suite marred. Most of the pieces are perfect. If you are here early you'll possibly get a Dining Room Suite we had marked at $200.00 or $300.00, and buy it for as little as $60.00 or $75.00! You'll find Living Room Suites that were marked as high as $300.00, and see them tagged at $60.00, $75.00 or $100.00! The same is true about the Bed-room Suites, and equally true about the small pieces.

There's a wonderful opportunity here for you. But you'll have to act quickly if you want to take advantage of it. If you can come this evening so much the better, because it'll be "first come, first served".

This is just a plain statement of facts. We're not attempting to use extravagant phrases or make exaggerated claims. We'll say one thing however:—"No one has ever bought furniture of this high character and these fine styles at prices to compare with these." If we can sell this all in one day, so much the better, as we want to resume our February event.

This sale takes place in our EAST LIBERTY store only.

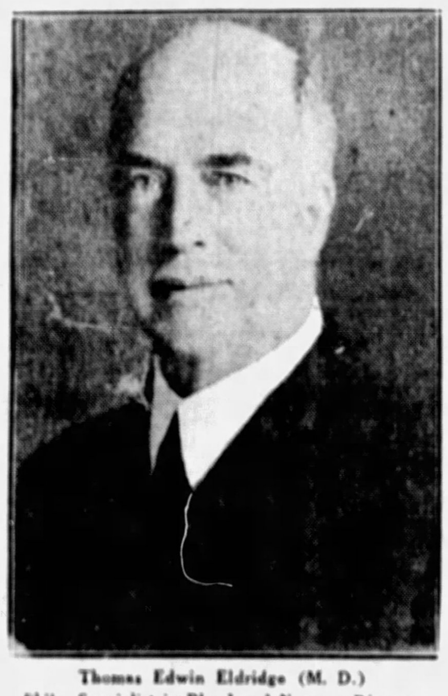
Thomas C. Martindale, (Ph. N. D.), Noted Dietitian of Phila.

"Flaxolyn Works Naturally On Stomach, Liver, Kidneys And Bowels," Says Dr. Martindale

"As the director of the Martindale Health House," states Thomas C. Martindale, Philadelphia's celebrated radio health lecturer and diet authority, "I have heard such glowing praise and have seen such vast improvements since my health-followers have taken the pleasant new vitaminized Flaxolyn, that I could hardly believe my eyes and ears, in many cases. Really there is nothing much more I can say about Herbal Flaxolyn. It is the best preparation I could possibly recommend to health-seekers."



Thomas Edwin Eldridge (M. D.)
Phila. Specialist in Blood and Nervous Diseases

Dr. Eldridge Declares: "No Other Medicine in All His Years As a Physician, Ever Equalled Flaxolyn

Forty years' experience in the treatment of organic, blood and nervous diseases has convinced Dr. Eldridge that patients suffering from nervousness, loss of appetite, vertigo, autointoxication or chronic constipation should quit the use of drastic drugs.

"I advise the use of new vitaminized Flaxolyn," say Dr. Eldridge, "because it is one of Nature's most valuable and efficient herb remedies. I find that it tones the vital organs while acting as a healthful sedative to the entire nervous system, and what is best of all, it leaves no bad or distressing after-effects."

London Health Centre Lauds Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery for Constipation

On this page are but a few of the great number of statements from doctors, dietitians and also from men and women who have personally taken Flaxolyn with such huge success. These people live right here in Pittsburgh and its suburbs. You have been reading their sincere messages in this paper.

Letters have also come from the far ends of the world, to tell how Flaxolyn has been of help in treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, poor digestion, restless sleep, poor action of the liver, heartburn, bloating and other similar disturbances caused by constipation gases. From London, England, we now learn that men and women all over the British Empire are using Flaxolyn with the same fine results obtained by our folks here.

Dr. Edgar J. Saxon, head of the London Health Centre, says: "Flaxolyn has become a tremendous success in England. People like it because it is natural in its action. It brings a ruddy glow of health to the body that has been worn out by toxic poisons.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

It is absolutely guaranteed in writing that Flaxolyn will help all cases of general exhaustion, biliousness, sleeplessness, headaches, backaches, dizzy spells, due to constipation gases—or Druggists refund the purchase price.

Every reader of this paper who would like to feel better, eat better, sleep better and look better, can obtain a bottle of the wonderful new vitaminized herbal Flaxolyn on this liberal offer: That if Flaxolyn does not bring satisfactory results by the sixth spoonful you may bring back the partly used bottle and have the full purchase price refunded!

Flaxolyn contains nothing that can hurt you, and it may prove to be the means of bringing joy to your existence.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn. The pure harmless ingredients are printed right on the package. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new and better grip on life.

3 HURT AS TWO CARS COLLIDE

DOVER, O., Jan. 27.—Three members of the family of Richard Certer, of Navarre, were painfully injured at the outskirts of Dover when the machine in which they were riding collided with the car in which Vernon Hisrich, of Stonecreek, was speeding to Union Hospital to see his brother, Dr. Paul J. Hisrich, Bolivar physician, and the latter's wife, who were injured earlier Saturday when Mrs. Hisrich's mother, Mrs. Charles Baker, 51, Stonecreek Valley, was killed.

Miss Phoebe Certer, 14, worst injured of her family, suffered a deep scalp wound. The Certers were enroute to Smithfield to see a sick son.

Newspaper Man Leaves for East

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—Joseph J. Thompson, for 20 years a resident of this city and prominent newspaperman of Fayette County, has moved to Philadelphia where he will be identified with an eastern publication. He was recently managing editor of the News. Mrs. Thompson has been an active civic worker, president in both the Women's Culture Club and the Fayette County Federation of Women's Clubs. She was the only woman to become a member of the Board of Education here.

Dry Agents Trap Boy, Prosecutor Frees Him

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Two prohibition agents persuaded Sam Burman, 15, to sell them liquor Saturday in a drug store at 1701 Grand avenue. They arrested the boy and he was taken before United States Commissioner Walker.

"I'm not going to be a party to sending a 15-year-old boy to jail over the week-end," Edward A. Fisher, assistant district attorney, told the commissioner.

The drug store was under injunction and contempt proceedings were instituted against Norton Kagon, the proprietor.

Waynesburg Hears Mme. Ney, Pianist

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Madame Elly Ney, concert pianist, will make her only appearance in Western Pennsylvania this evening in a concert to be given at Waynesburg College under auspices of the college conservatory of music.

Incendiary Blamed For Fire at Dunbar

DUNBAR, Pa., Jan. 27.—A vacant frame dwelling, owned by Mrs. Margaret Pasquale, of Scottdale, was burned by fire which authorities believe was of incendiary origin. Firemen saved the residence of Mrs. Lydia Cense, 20 feet away.

SWEDISH RUM REMEDY CITED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A study of the Swedish system of handling alcoholic beverages was made public here by the Association Against the Prohibition amendment, with the contention that Sweden during its operation had reduced by half, the number of arrests for drunkenness and crimes of violence.

In addition, the statement said, Sweden had reduced per capita consumption of liquor by 35 per cent and was deriving revenues of more than $30,000,000 yearly from the trade.

Under the system, the statement explained, monopolies were set up whose dividends were so held down that there was no incentive to push the sale of intoxicants. The quantity of liquor purchasable was restricted to conform to the habits of the buyer, with that allowed persons who used it with injurious effects greatly reduced or entirely cut off.

Woman Near Death, Son Hurt by Burns

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Crayne Parker, 65, of near Waynesbrg suffered probably fatal burns yesterday when her clothing ignited from an open gas stove. A son, George Parker, was badly hurt while extinguishing his mother's burning clothing. Both are confined to the hospital here.

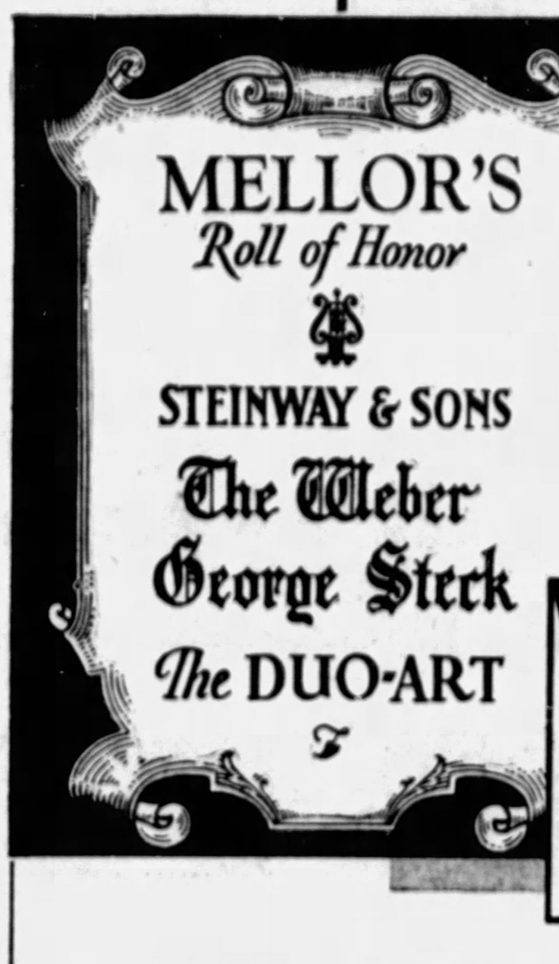
ADDITIONAL PROGRESS SALE NEWS ON PAGES 10, 11 AND 20

This cooperative plan of buying a Grand gives you a chance to "Change your Mind"



WE have already told you the merit of these pianos. To this our Manager, Mr. Hamilton, has added his personal statement as to their value, and recently we told of the iron-clad five-year guarantee, which is one of the strong protective features of this Sale.

Today we tell you that within one year from the date you purchase your piano you can "CHANGE YOUR MIND." In other words, you can apply all that you have paid on this special Grand piano toward the purchase of any one of the celebrated makes of pianos which are sold by this house, and without the loss of a single penny. You have ONE WHOLE YEAR from the date you get your piano to keep it in your home and give it a thorough trial . . . If you are dissatisfied for any reason, or if you merely want to change your mind, there will be no questions asked; no quibbling or haggling; no trying to get you to take some other instrument instead.

This offer would be attractive if made by most any piano retailer, but in our making the offer it is particularly attractive because this cooperative plan allows you to apply all payments made during the year toward the purchase of a Steinway, a Weber, a Steck or any of the celebrated makes carried by our house.

This exchange privilege applies to your making the exchange within one year from the date the piano is delivered to you, but in addition, even after a year, you can exchange your piano for anyone of these celebrated makes, and the allowance value on your piano purchased through this cooperative plan will depreciate but little in exchanging your instrument.

THE PROPOSITION IN BRIEF

THE PRICE OF THIS GRAND IS $435

2...Instead of paying from $50 to $100 as a first payment, and $20, $30, or $50 a month as you will in the regular way, during this cooperative sale you pay but $25 to join in this cooperative movement and then but $12.50 a month, plus a small carrying charge.

3...You get the strongest guarantee ever put on a piano; a joint guarantee signed by the manufacturers—The Aeolian Company—and ourselves, giving you protection for five years that is as safe as a government bond.

4...So great is our confidence in the value represented in these pianos that within one year from the day you get your piano through this cooperative plan, you may exchange it for any of the celebrated makes of instruments we handle, without so much as a penny's loss.

5...All payments remaining unpaid are voluntarily cancelled in the event of your death—thus leaving the piano free of encumbrance to your family.

6...You are given opportunity to secure others to cooperate in this plan. This still further reduces the cost of your instrument.

BURGLAR, SURPRISED, FELLS WOMAN

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

AMONG the indoor sports which were scheduled to pass with the coming of prohibition was bowling. But this has not come to pass. Today more duckpins are being bowled over than ever before.

Fifteen and twenty years ago bowling was largely a club affair. More often than not the alleys adjoined the club bar and the losers had to set 'em up—the beer, that is. The experts of that era reasoned that, with the demise of the bar, the life of the bowling alleys would be short-lived.

One reason bowling is more popular than ever is, and you've probably guessed this much, woman. The fair sex has taken to the sport. There are some other reasons, but what they are we don't know.

Public bowling lanes have replaced the club alleys, and there are many more of them. Duckpins, too, have stolen the favor which was once granted tenpins. The pins today fall easier than they did 20 years ago. The pins today ain't what they used to be.

The hangouts in the old days were the Davis alleys, which just recently closed, the Club in Fifth avenue and the Wayne alleys on the North Side. Galleries for the best bowlers were large and there were many wagers.

FAMILIAR figures then were Jimmy Smith, who is still the best bowler in the land, and Dead-Center Green. Mr. Green's passion was bowling. For five, 10 or 15 hours he would bowl, taking time out only for a bowl of soup.

He earned his nickname because more often than not he hit the head pin dead-center. A strike to him was fair bowling, a spare was a failure.

It is no extravagant statement that 20 years ago bowling was the sport of the town. Among the outstanding bowlers of that period were John Pierce, of Brentwood, and Jack Hirsch, of the Carnegie Steel Company, who are still aiming for strikes; Harry Glendenning, of Knoxville; George Rumberger, manager of the Club alleys; Jimmie Hernon, of Sharpsburg; Fred Underwood, Jeff Epping, of the Epping Lumber Company; Billie Lee, manager of the Davis alleys, who is now with Brunswick-Balke; Ed Duffy, one-time owner of the St. Charles Hotel; Andy Kramer, who owned the Carrick alleys, and the late Johnny Hartman, of the Hartman House.

The late George Dimling, never better than a fair bowler, was probably the most enthusiastic fan in the city.

WE ASKED Mr. Pierce to name the best Pittsburgh bowler of that day and he chose George Rumberger. One year Mr. Rumberger finished the season with an average of 201. Mr. Pierce remembers this score clearly because his average happened to be second-best—198. This was at ten-pins. The outstanding duckpin bowler was Ed Duffy.

In one other particular bowling has changed greatly. New de luxe alleys in Carrick illustrate the point. Soft rugs and expensive lamps are part of the equipment. There is even a tea room, although we hasten to explain in defense of the old-timers that this last addition is not for them.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.

LAST Monday, when I opened a six-week engagement in Chicago, my wife warned me, at the rate of one dollar a minute (via long-distance telephone), that if I was "held up" here (she reads the New York newspapers), not to resist, but to give the party holding me up everything I had. In fact, she said that I ought to carry some extra money with me, so that I wouldn't be embarrassed.

Well, this is just to let the holdup men know that they can cross me off the list, as I was "taken" yesterday. The automobile show got me.

What a show!

The finest I have ever seen. If you can resist the lure of one of these new cars you are a better man than I am, Mr. Kipling.

If you think the people of Chicago are broke, guess again. They are not merely looking at cars—they're buying 'em. I promised myself months ago that I would make the old car do, but I changed my mind, and if I am going to the poor house I will at least ride up there in a new 16-cylinder . . . . (why should I give them an ad when I paid full price for my car?)

Lovejoy Arranges Party And Invites Oglebay

CHAPTER XVII.

"THERE was a mail box key in the house when you and Mr. Nicholson rented it," Mr. Jervis, the landlord, told her over the telephone. "If I have another one made for you I'll have to add half a dollar to your rent this month."

If he did that Tom would be sure to ask him what the extra money was for. And when he found out that it was for a mail-box key he would wonder why Lovejoy wanted to keep the mail-box locked. It always had been unlocked, and they never got any important letters anyway.

"Never mind then, Mr. Jervis. I'll take care of it myself," Lovejoy said when she thought it over, "Goodby."

But she did not take care of it. There was no locksmith in the neighborhood. And if she telephoned for one to come to the house he would probably charge for his time as well as for the key itself.

"I'll just watch for the mailman instead of letting Hilda do it," she made up her mind.

For the next two days she did watch. But no letters came from South Port until Thursday afternoon. Then two came.

They came at half-past one while Hilda was getting dressed for her afternoon off.

"I'm going to run over to Mrs. Alderson's for a minute, Hilda," Lovejoy told her, tapping on the door of her bedroom. "Please stay here until I come back. I don't want the baby to be left alone."

Aline was in the living-room, buying linens from a swarthy oily little man whom she called "Ben." He had two suitcases of them open on the floor, and when Lovejoy came in he was unfolding a large tablecloth of cream-colored lace.

For a moment Lovejoy forgot the letters she had brought with her.

She stood stock-still in the doorway, her eyes darting from the lace cloth to the suit-cases on the floor.

"What lovely things!" she cried and went down on her knees beside them. "Baby dresses! Luncheon clothes! Pillow cases!"

"Yes—and you look at them while I read these," Aline said to her, stooping to take the letters out of her hand. "I'll be right back."

She marched out of the room, opening one of the letters as she went. She came back 10 minutes later, and by that time Lovejoy had bought a baby dress and a table-cloth with napkins to match.

"I can't afford any of these things," she said to Aline. "But I'm going to buy them anyhow. I'll go back home for the money."

She had cashed Tom's check and there were four $50 bills rolled up in a pair of her silk stockings in the bottom drawer of her dressing table.

She separated one of the bills from the others and took it back to Aline's house. Ben gave her back $20 in change.

"I spent thirty bucks on linens today," she told Tom that night when they were idling over their coffee at the little dinner table.

He frowned and she went on:

"Now I need some new glassware and some silver. Then I'll be all ready to give a party. We'll have to have the Aldersons over to dinner some night, and I thought we'd ask Norrie and Steve Oglebay, too."

Tom did not say a word.

"I know you're jealous of Steve," Lovejoy went on after a second, "but we don't know any other men to invite, do we?—And I'm jealous of Norrie, so that makes us quits."

She laughed at that. But Tom didn't.

"Gosh all hemlock! I don't know that we ought to give a party ,even a little one, just yet," he said quietly. "It costs like the dickens to have people in for a meal."

Lovejoy's black eyebrows went up. "You forget that I have almost two hundred dollars," she answered, "and if I want to spend some of it on an evening's entertainment it's my own business, it seems to me. You always said that running the house was my affair."

She would have said more than that. But just then Hilda came in to carry out the empty coffee cups.

The presence of Hilda in the house had completely spoiled things, in a way. Living with Tom wasn't half so much fun as it had been before she came, Lovejoy often told herself.

The two of them had always done the dishes together They had always prepared breakfast together, and they had shouted at each other from room to room, like two children playing house.

But all that was over now. For the house was so small that Hilda always seemed to be in the same room with them—a stranger as well as a servant. They were ill at ease whenever she was within hearing distance. And she always was there, of course. They had no privacy at all.

And yet it's a comfort to have her—if only to look after the baby, Lovejoy thought the next morning as she dressed to go downtown and start shopping for glassware and new sofa cushions and silver plate for the dining room table.

It took her two days to spend the $170 that she had left. But she spent it all on silver and glass and cushions and a big crystal tray to hold cigarets.

"I haven't a cent left to buy food for the dinner," she told Tom blankly that second night when she showed him all the new things.

She had expected Tom to be angry.

But he laughed in a good-natured way.

"You ought to be shot for spending all that money on things that we don't need," he said, pulling her down on his knee in the old lover-like way and putting his face against hers. "But I had another stroke of luck today. I sold another big block of bonds and I'll have a pretty nice lot of money to turn over to you on Saturday, Mrs. Nicholson. So you can have your party, anyway."

Lovejoy turned in his arms and kissed him on his mouth.

She would have done it again. But just then the kitchen door squeaked and Hilda came into the dining room, her hands full of dishes.

Lovejoy jumped up from Tom's knees and shook herself impatiently.

"If you keep on making money like this," she said, I'm going to start looking around for a decent house. We can't live in this box car of a place much longer. We've got to have a place with back stairs and a back bedroom for Hilda so she

Better Lighting For Park Assured

Work will be started March 1 on the installation of 109 lamps of 1,000 candlepower each on the highways of Schenley Park, according to Director Edward G. Lang of the Public Works Department. The installation will be part of the program to make the highways of the park uniformly lighted. At present the routes are lighted by 25 lamps of 600 candle power, in addition to gas lamps.

City Departments To Cut Estimates

Council today was expected to receive from several city department heads, downward revisions of their original estimates for 1930. Work on the budget was to begin at 10 o'clock when the revised estimates were to be presented. Chairman W. Y. English of the Finance Committee was to preside. Council must slice $2,000,000 from the total of the departmental requests.

DRIVE PILES AT FALK CLINIC

Actual work on the Falk Clinic at the University of Pittsburgh got under way today when the work of driving concrete piles for the foundation was begun. This was found necessary due to a layer of clay beneath the site, revealed by tests. The building committee has voted surfaced limestone for the masonry work and awarded the contract. Other steps taken are the laying of a sewer to connect with Fifth avenue and the awarding of electrical work as it may be needed.

Thec linic when completed will be practically fireproof, the X-Ray films to be stored in a tile vault on the top floor, eliminating danger from that source.

FRAT EXECUTIVE TO BE FETED

Daniel L. Grant of New York, national executive secretary of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity will be honored at a banquet tonight in the Schenley Hotel. The banquet is a tribute to Mr. Grant who only recently was elected to this position. About 200 members of the fraternity will attend.

Mr. Grant is expected to speak on a plan for raising the standards of college work among members of the organization. Others who will speak will be Harry R. Birmingham, president of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter; A. E. Buchanan, alumni secretary and Darrell More of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Play Arranged By Men of Church

A play, "District School of Blueberry Corner" will be presented in the basement auditorium of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church by the Men's Bible class, February 17 and 18. The play is being directed by Walter MacMaim and Joseph Hubbard, of Mt. Lebanon, will be the leading character. Frank P. Martin is acting as business manager.

Girl Badly Cut In Crash of Cars

Miss Rosemarie Rooney, of 123 Wilbert street, suffered cuts on the head and legs yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine at West Liberty and Cape May avenues. Miss Margaret Rooney, her sister, with whom she was riding in the automobile of James Moreson of Webster Hall, escaped uninjured. Miss Jane Curll of 99 Hazelwood avenue was driving the other machine, police say.

IDENTIFIES MAN AS BANDIT

Police today are holding Richard Thompson, who, they state, was one of four men surprised by Patrolman Jerry Cronin holding up an East End store Saturday night. The patrolman was shot in the left arm by one of the four, who fired several shots as he was running from the officer. At the Pittsburgh Hospital yesterday, Cronin, police say, identified Thompson as the man who had fired at him.

Cronin passed the grocery store of M. Berman at 1737 Chislett street just as two men were robbing Berman. Two others were keeping guard outside, police say. Spying the officer, one of the two on guard opened fire and Cronin fell with a shot in the arm. All escaped. Berman said they obtained $40 loot.

Merchants Call Wilkinsburg Meet

Non-member professional and business men have been invited to a special meeting of the Wilkinsburg Business Men's Association to be held tomorrow night in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Donald J. Howard, manager of the civics affair bureau of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and past president of the Pennsylvania Secretaries' Association, will address the group.

Lee Club to Hold Stunt Party Tonight

A costume and stunt party will be given in Lee School, Beechview, tonight, by the Lee Community Club. The program is in charge of a committee of which Mrs. I. K. Myers is chairman. Prizes will be presented to participants and refreshments will be served after the entertainment.

57 PROMOTED AT BELLEVUE

Fifty-seven pupils of the Bellevue Junior High School will receive certificates of promotion tonight at exercises to be held in the high school auditorium. Prizes will be given by the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary and by the Bellevue unit, W. C. T. U. The Rev. J. Burwell Lamb will give the invocation.

Railing Halts Auto On Edge of Bridge

Called to the north approach of the Manchester Bridge last midnight, police discovered an automobile projecting through the railing and over the side of the bridge above the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks. A short time later police arrested H. D. Pickles, 40, of 1036 Welfer street, as the owner of the machine. Although Pickles denied being in the machine at the time of the accident, he was held for a hearing in Traffic court. Pickles said he lent the machine to a friend.

Aged Man, Talking With Friend, Dies

While sitting in a chair conversing with a friend, Joseph McCune, 65, of Waddell avenue, Clairton, slumped suddenly and died before he could be given medical attention. His death was due to natural causes, a physician told police.

7 ROBBERIES STIR SEARCH FOR BAND

Holdups, Burglaries Over Week-End Cause Manhunt; Bandit Quartet Suspected

Police today were searching for bandits who staged three holdups and robbers who looted four places, over the week-end, in one of which a woman was beaten.

Mrs. Ella Matthews, of 1824 Cliff street, battled with an intruder whom she surprised in the kitchen of her home Saturday night. The man seized her by the throat, knocked her to the floor and escaped with $1 which he found on the table, police said. Mrs. Matthews could give police only a meager description of the man.

Struck on the head with a blunt instrument while walking in West Park last night, Emil Meeder, of 1132 West North avenue, was robbed of $65. Meeder, rendered semi-conscious by the blow, was aided by several pedestrians.

FOUR GET WATCH

Anthonny Lipinski, of 317 Forty-fifth street, had a similar experience a few hours before when four men relieved him of a watch valued at $50 at Thirty-ninth and Butler streets.

Four bandits ntered the grocery store of Joseph F. Kasper, at 812 Chartiers avenue, late Saturday night, held up George Heidenrich, the clerk, rifled the cash register of $300 and took $2 from Heidenrich's pocket. They escaped in an automobile.

A. C. Gates, of 607 West Diamond street, reported to police that he had been robbed of $200 by a man who represented himself as a policeman. The stranger, Gates said, called at his home and informed him that he had been ordered to search him. The man, according to Gates' story, to police, took $600 from him and when he returned the money to Gates he discovered he was $200 short.

BURGLARS BALKED

Robbers early yesterday failed in an attempt to enter the drug store of H. N. Ziegelman, at 252 South Highland avenue, after boring holes in the rear door of the pharmacy. It was believed they were frightened away.

Forcing a rear door of the home of Abe Markovitz, at 41 Overhill street, thieves ransacked the place and escaped with $50 in cash and a suit valued at $40.

Dormont Police Open Fire Inquiry

Dormont police today were investigating the cause of a fire last night in a vacant house in 1616 McFarland road. The flames were extinguished by the Dormont and Mt. Lebanon fire departments. The residence, which is owned by J. C. Cardarelli, of 300 Beverly road, Mt. Lebanon, was damaged $150, according to a police report.

Will Rogers Says:

LONDON, Jan. 27, 1930.

DELEGATES to ship-sinking conference sunk as follows yesterday afternoon. Ambassador Hugh Gibson sunk a six-foot putt, and when Stimson almost sunk an approach, Dave Reed, of the Grundyville Club, one of his opponents, almost sunk his Adam's apple. Senator Robinson, from the persimmon and papaw country, making his first appearance in slow company on English greens, sunk his Democratic identity behind a check plaid suit with knee breeches in happy discord. Dawes was the referee and sunk over two cans full of decomposed Carolina dry leaf during the attempt at festivities.

It was a great day of relaxation, after one solid week of doing nothing but attempting to pronounce the Japanese delgate, Wakatsuki's, name. This week the agenda calls for the pronunciation of the French names. If our putting and our driving holds out we are going to be hard to beat in this conference.

Yours,

WILL.

P. S.—Mr. Morrow didn't confer with 'em. They didn't have any boys' clubs.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Now that Pittsburgh women have had an opportunity to try out the new long skirts, do they favor the style or is it a passing fancy?

A. MOLLINERO, Beechview: "Long skirts are here to stay. Any person at all interested in feminine styles can see that quickly. There is little room for argument. I'm glad to say that I'm decidedly in favor of them. A girl doesn't feel old in the long skirts, as some persons have said; on the other hand they give her a youthful dignity."

A. Mollinero

LOUISE DE FOREST, Downtown: "Give me the long styles anytime. They're much better looking, add to a girl's charm and give her a dignified appearance that nothing else could do. Then there's another factor that might be taken into consideration. There are many girls in this fair city of ours, whose lower limbs wouldn't make a hit with Ziegfeld. The rest of their form is beautiful. Long skirts relieve the deficiency."

L. De Forest

"JERRY" BECK, McKees Rocks: "The long skirts are decidedly unpopular, and I have many friends and acquaintances who will bear me out on this statement. Although they look well on some women, they are perfectly horrible on the general run of femininity. The short skirt gave girls freedom of movement and a snappy bearing that added much to our appearance. The long skirts make us feel a lot older than we really are. I'm for short styles any time. They're more popular with the men, too."

Jerry Beck

MADELINE STRAIN, Brookline: "In some ways I like the long skirts and in some ways I don't. One thing I am sure of, however, is that they are here to stay in Pittsburgh until Paris decrees short ones again. True, the short models were more comfortable and we had better freedom of movement, in wearing them. I am sure 'longies' have made a decided hit with local girls. Yet fashion is fickle! Who knows what we'll be wearing this time next year. Maybe they'll be long and maybe they'll be short."

Madeline Strain

BELLE STRAUSS, stenographer, Downtown: "Yes, I believe that long skirts have come to stay and that they are not a passing fancy as some folks would have us believe. When the new skirts first came out, there were many conscientious objectors, but now since the girls have come to realize the long lines accentuate their charm, they have decided heartily in favor of them. However, the short skirts continue to remain popular for daytime and long ones for evenings."

Belle Strauss

RUTH KUHERT, Northside: "Now that Pittsburgh women and girls have had ample opportunity to sense the value of the long skirt they have acted decidedly in favor of it. The long styles give the average woman a charm that she lacked with the short, or flapper modes. But my advice is for the short girls to wear the long modes in moderation as too much lengthiness depletes, rather than adds to her charm. Yes, the long skirts are here to stay—that is—unless Paris decrees for the short ones next season. Dame Fashion is a fickle Goddess!"

Parents Hear Son Sing Golden Wedding Mass

Coming all the way from Oskaloosa, Ia., the Rev. Edward F. Jackson today sang mass in St. Bede's Catholic Church, North Dallas avenue. The mass marked the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Jackson, of 7025 Edgerton avenue. Father Jackson is pastor of the St. Mary's Catholic Church in Oskaloosa.

Tonight the couple will be feted at a wedding supper in their home, which will be attended by two other sons, a daughter, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mr. Jackson, 76, is a veteran employe of the Westinghouse company and also of the City of Pittsburgh. He worked 30 years for the Westinghouse concern, starting when George Westinghouse employed only four machinists. At present he is completing his twenty-eighth year with the City Bureau of Highways.

The couple's other children are Jerome A. Jackson and Mrs. H. S. Carr, of Pittsburgh, and Joseph H. Jackson, of Los Angeles.

1,000 CHURCH LEADERS TO CONFER

3,500,000 Members of 11 Denominations Will Be Affected by Action Here

Anticipating important measures affecting Presbyterian unity in the five leading denominations of that group of churches, representatives of the organization will gather here this week to discuss the proposition.

More than 1,000 churchmen and ministers will attend a "Fellowship Dinner" in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow night at the opening event. The conference on proposed unity will be staged in the First United Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue and Thackeray street, the following morning.

These churches will be affected: Presbyterian, U. S. A. (Northern Presbyterian), Presbyterian, U. S. (Southern Presbyterian), Reformed Church in U. S. (German Reformed), and the United Presbyterian Church and affiliated denominations.

SPEAKERS NAMED

Speakers at the banquet will include the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Speer, New York, representing the Northern Presbyterian Church; Dr. F. Raymond Clee, Jersey City, Dutch Reformed Church, and the Rev. Dr. J. L. Vance, Nashville, Tenn. The presiding officer at the dinner will be the Rev. Dr. John McNaugher, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, and president of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

Discussion at Wednesday's meeting will be led by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary; Dr. W. R. Dobbyns, moderator of the Southern church; Dr. W. E. McCulloch, of Los Angeles; Dr. Harris E. Kirk, of Baltimore; Dr. Harry W. Noble, of Jersey City, and Dr. H. C. Swearingen, of St. Paul.

The belief has been expressed that the meetings will be historic in significance and that the first step toward the unification of 11 denominations will be effected.

Findings of the conference will be summed up at the Wednesday night church meeting by Dr. Noble and Dr. Swearingen.

The questions proposed for consideration include the desirability of union, the possibility of union, whether there is a basis on which agreement can be reached and the obstacles in the way of a union.

The conference is the outgrowth of the appointment of a committee on Presbyterian unity named at the last assembly.

ASSEMBLY TO ACT

Action of the Pittsburgh conference, whether pro or con in reference to the unification program, will be reported to the general assemblies of the Presbyterian and the United Presbyterian churches and governing bodies of the other denominations included in the project.

Favorable action by the general assemblies would in turn be considered by the synods and presbyteries in a final referendum. Six other denominations in that particular church family, it is said, have shown equal interest in the proposals.

William M. Duff, Pittsburgh, has charge of arrangements for the dinner.

More than 3,500,000 members of the 11 affected denominations would be involved, should the unification merger proposal bear fruit, it has been announced.

THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman

This picture asks a question that you often ask yourself if you happen to have a baby.

Where will his little feet carry him through life? To prosperity and success, or to poverty and the gutter?

Nobody can answer that. Your example, however, means much to him now and as he grows older. For a while at least he will try to follow in your footsteps, as children try to walk in the footprints of their elders in the snow.

Watch your own steps. Directed rightly, they will be a safe guide for him to follow. If he goes wrong then—as he may—you will not have YOURSELF to blame.

COUNCIL TO AIR SHAFT DISPUTE

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt today is expected to report to council on his opinion as to the scope of the art commission's powers. His opinion was requested by council after that body had been informed that the art commission had asked United States Senator David A. Reed to withdraw a bill proposing a $25,000 appropriation for a monument to George Rogers Clark to be erected at the junction of the three rivers.

Council, it is understood, favored the monument idea and questioned the right of the commission to request withdrawal of the bill. The art commission has explained that it had interested itself in the matter because it felt that the amount asked for was inadequate to properly handle the project.

SMOKE, WATER DAMAGE SHOP

Smoke and water caused unestimated damage to the Fruit Exchange Sandwich shop, at 2027 Penn avenue, early yesterday, when fire broke out in the basement and threatened to spread to other business establishments in the three-story brick building. The restaurant was closed at the time.

Bananas and other merchandise covered with straw in the basement caused dense smoke to pour through windows and trap doors. The building extends from 2025 Penn avenue to Twentieth street, in the heart of the produce district.

The Pennsylvania Grocery Company, John Cuda Grocery Store, Postal Telegraph office and the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, located in the building, were filled with smoke, but the damage was negligible.

Street car traffic was rerouted over Liberty avenue for more than an hour.

LARGEST TOMB UNEARTHED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—One of the largest tombs ever discovered in Egypt has been brought to light by an expedition of the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania, engaged in archaeological work at Meydum, according to a report received at the museum from Alan Rowe, field director.

The tomb, known as a Mastabah and constructed of stone evenly laid, is about 320 feet long and 160 feet wide. While the name of the owner is unknown, it is believed the tomb dates from the same period as the great pyramid of Meydum, in the Fourth Dynasty, or about 2800 B. C.

"One of the most interesting discoveries in clearing this tomb is that the huge brick retaining walls were honeycombed with intrusive burials, dating from the new empire of 2000 B. C., or later," Mr. Rowe reported.

"The individual graves so far found number 40. Many of them comprise carefully wrapped mummies in either anthropoid or rectangular coffins, some of them brightly painted with elaborate religious symbols and hieroglyphs."

The first of a series of messages on the "Second Coming of Christ," by the Rev. R. F. C. Schwedler, was preached last night in the Gospel Tabernacle, 809 Arch street, North Side. The sermons will continue nightly at 7:30 o'clock except Saturdays, until February 2. The public has been extended an invitation to attend.

Stolen Lambs' Club Paintings Returned

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Stolen from the Lambs' Club three years ago, two paintings valued at $4,000 have been recovered. An innocent purchaser surrendered them to the police when informed that they had been stolen. One is a nude, the other a landscape. They were cut from their frames during repairs at the club.

'Annie Laurie' Played by Organist

"Annie Laurie," the famous Scotch poem set to music by Lady John Scott and long a favorite song with English speaking peoples the world over, will be heard in special arrangement when Frank W. Asper, playing at the Great Organ in the Salt Lake Tabernacle, broadcasts over KDKA tonight.

De Priest Urges Immigration Curb

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Representative Oscar De Priest, addressing the National Negro Labor Congress yesterday, declared immigration into the United States should be stopped for 10 years, and urged a tax on every alien who has not declared his intention to become a citizen. Immigration from South America, Mexico and Canada should be placed upon a quota basis, De Priest said.

Lady Clare Annesley To Talk Friday at Mrs. Miller's Home

LADY CLARE ANNESLEY, distinguished English woman, who has served twice in Parliament and is an active member of the Labor party, is coming to Pittsburgh Friday. She will be here for only one day as the guest of Mrs. Carroll Miller, of Von Lent place, and in her honor Mrs. Miller will be at home at 4 o'clock that afternoon, when Lady Clare will speak on international peace.

Both hostess and honor guest are members of the Women's International League for Peace. Next month Kathleen Courtney, who is head of the league in England, will come to Pittsburgh and tomorrow the local branch is bringing Jose Kelly, Mexican commissioner of commerce, industry and labor, here to speak in the Congress of Clubs at a luncheon meeting. His subject will be "Mexico and the United States—Team Work for Good."

TO establish a music scholarship fund for blind girls, a benefit recital will be given by the piano pupils of Miss Matilda Orr Hays, well-known clubwoman, next Friday evening in the Wurlitzer Studio, Liberty avenue.

The movement to provide piano instruction for blind girls had its inception at a meeting of the Congress of Clubs' educational department when Miss Hays offered her services gratuitously. The fact that a special system after the order of Braille must be employed for the blind prevented this, so Miss Hays proposed the next best thing, a scholarship that would provide for the proper medium of instruction. The recital on Friday night, which, by the way, will be given without admission fee, will be given in conjunction with a sale of home-made candies and baked goods, among the former being Miss Hays' famous taffy, popular with all Congress lovers of sweets. A silver offering will be taken to swell the total.

The youngsters taking part in the recital are: Mary Jones, George McKay, Clara Louise and Vivian Fenner, Grace and Gordon Larson, Mona Ahlgren, Joseph and Buddy Jones, Jean McEwen, Shirley Weiss and Bobby Ferriss. A number of prominent clubwomen are acting as patronesses.

THURSDAY'S meeting of the Brighton Woman's Club will convene at 1 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, in order to permit the hostess, Miss Anna Dietrich, to show motion pictures of Alaska, the country which she visited last summer. After the pictures are shown, the women will continue their study of Scandinavia. Mrs. Charles Lindsay telling about Bertel Thorwaldsen, Danish sculptor, and Miss Gertrude McCargo describing the leading industries of the countries. A general discussion of current events will complete the program.

GEORGETTE COMES BACK FOR A FASHION WELCOME

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—This is old home week for georgette. We realize that this is not a very artistic description of the welcome accorded to that lovely fabric that just now is going everywhere at night, but we hope that it will convey to you something of the satisfaction felt at its successful re-introduction. A few georgette dresses and some ensembles were seen earlier in the season, but they were so rare as to excite comment on their appearance. But lately we have observed several georgette frocks, mostly black, however at several fashionable resorts, and it would seem that more will be seen at the various Winter resorts. Georgette is such an excellent compromise between the heavier fabrics and the excessively sheer ones, that we are quite surprised that its popularity should ever suffer an eclipse. It is especially good for ensembles both for day and evening wear, and we hope that it will maintain and increase its popularity during the year.

AS a proof of our affection for georgette, we have selected a lovely dress of this material, not alas, for our own use, but for sketching purposes. It is from the house of Worth, which is one of the many houses showing georgette in their newest offerings. Black fox makes a delightful trimming always, but it particularly effective when used with black georgette. Two shirred panels at the back of the skirt give a very graceful movement and gracious line to the silhouette.

CREPE is a material that does not need the benefit of a boost. It maintains its attraction and is used for every type of costume. The second sketch shows a delightful afternoon gown developed in this medium, and is from the atelier of Mac-Helly. The crepe is of the very heavy variety and the color is a dull, soft green with touches of lighter green in the tiny tabs at the cuff and a jabot in front of the bodice. Stitched folds of the material encircle the top of the skirt at the waistline, and, crossing in back, end in flaring godets low on the skirt. The neckline is round in front and marks a shallow "V" behind.

ASK SENIORITY IN POSTOFFICE

Resolutions asking the Post Office Department to observe seniority in the re-arrangement of clerks under a new system recently put in operation here, were passed yesterday at a joint mass meeting of postal employes, in the Hotel Henry.

The meeting was held under the auspices of Local No. 81, National Federation of Postoffice Clerks and Branch No. 4, United National Association of Postoffice Clerks. About 75 were present.

A committee composed of A. J. Kilmeyer, James B. Monroe, Robert J. O'Hara and D. W. Wilbert was appointed to bring the resolution to the attention of the Postoffice authorities. Thomas McEvoy, president of the United National Association branch, was chairman of the meeting.

MIND WANDERS, FOUND IN OHIO

An amnesia victim, identified in a Columbus, O., hospital as J. E. Elliott, of Pittsburgh, is believed to be a brother of Miss Helen Elliott, 6356 Marchand street. According to C. E. Zody, who made the identification in Columbus, Elliott left Pittsburgh a week ago. Miss Elliott read of the plight of the boy in Columbus in the Sun-Telegraph and today communicated with Columbus police. She said her brother had worked for the J. P. Casey Company of Pittsburgh and had twice been injured. He left Pittsburgh a week ago, she said.

Russell A. Alger, Ill Ten Years, Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Russell A. Alger, son of Gen. Russell A. Alger, secretary of war in President McKinley's cabinet, died yesterday. He was 56. The Alger family has been identified with lumbering and banking interests throughout Michigan since early days in the history of the state.

Ill health during the past 10 years obliged Mr. Alger to relinquish directorships in banks, trust companies and other enterprises with which he was connected. He was president of Alger, Smith and Company and vice president of the Packard Motor Car Company.

Train Strikes Auto In Fog, Kills Youth

STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 27.—When his auto was struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania train at Scio, O., west of here this morning, Ralph Schultz, 19, was killed. The accident was due to a heavy fog. The youth was carried for a hundred yards in the wreckage of his car.

Mrs. Muriel Church Denies Betrothal

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church denied today reports that she intended to marry again. It had been published her engagement to an unnamed Californian was to be announced.

Train Victim

R. O. HODGSON

EXPRESS KILLS 2 RAILROADERS

A Pennsylvania railroad conductor was killed and a brakeman injured fatally when struck by the Pittsburgh express while standing beside their disabled train at GM Tower near East Liberty yesterday. They are R. G. Hodgson, 45, of 7009 Bennett street, and Ralph E. Nicholson, 38, of 131 Church avenue, Turtle Creek, conductor and brakeman respectively on the Pittsburgh-Altoona express.

The Altoona train was brought to a halt when injectors on the locomotive failed. A substitute engine had been connected and both men were standing by the locomotive inspecting the work when they were struck by the engine of the other express. Hodgson was killed instantly and Nicholson suffered injuries which caused his death this morning in the Allegheny General Hospital.

Reports of the accident state that a flagman had been called in and the train was ready to move when the accident occurred. Noise of the disabled engine is thought to have drowned the sound of the express' approach.

Lindy Re-Elected As T. A. T. Adviser

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has been re-elected chairman of the technical committee of Transcontinental Air Transport, it was announced here today. C. M. Keys, president of Curtiss-Wright Corporation and retiring head of Transcontinental Air Transport, will be succeeded by J. L. Maddux, head of the former Maddux Air Lines.

BURGESS WON'T TRY PRISONER

Police Chief Michael Cobak, of Glassport, faces a difficult problem in the arrest of Michael Mash, 26, of 824 Monongahela avenue, whom he took in custody on a disorderly conduct charge. The chief has a prisoner on his hands whom Burgess Seward J. Gross refused to give a hearing. The burgess, who suspended the chief and other members of the force for insubordination, announced he will not hold hearings in any arrests made by the chief or his men.

The Chief today declared that if the burgess does not hold a hearing today, he would take the case before a justice of the peace. Chief Cobak and the men under him were appointed by the new council of which County Detective O'Brien is president. Burgess Gross, after suspending the entire force, appointed two men to duty who had been officers prior to their discharge by council earlier in the month.

Meanwhile the councilmanic police force continued to function today in the natty uniforms the officers purchased at their own expense, pending the outcome of a hearing in common pleas court February 4 upon a writ of mandamus granted the burgess.

LEITER STORES TO LIQUIDATE

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The Leiter Building Stores, thought to be the first co-operative department store in the country and one of Chicago's largest mercantile establishments, will close permanently March 31, it was announced here, because of the expiration of the lease on the building the concern occupies. It is said to be the largest concern ever to go out of business in Chicago.

The leasehold expired the first of the year and a 90-day extension was obtained from the Levi Z. Leiter estate to permit liquidation of stocks. Starting with a gross annual business of approximately $3,000,000 in 1920, it developed its business to $12,000,000 a year.

The Leiter estate received wide publicity in 1923 when the Countess of Suffolk and Berkshire, one of the founder's daughters, brought suit in Chicago to have her brother removed as a trustee because of alleged incompetency. After 11 months of litigation the suit was dismissed by Judge Denis E. Sullivan. In adition to Joseph Leiter and the Countess of Suffolk, the other trustee was a second daughter, Lady Curzon.

Elderly Man Dashes Acid Into Girl's Face

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A vial of acid was thrown into the face of Miss Bertha St. Clair last night by an elderly, well-dressed man who escaped. Miss St. Clair, a stenographer, could give no better description of her assailant. She faces the prospect of disfigurement and possible loss of her eyesight.

Girl Has Brother Jailed To Balk Robbery Plan

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Marie Yakal, 19, is her brother's keeper. She "snitched" on him to police yesterday; had him "pinched." It was the only way she knew to save him from himself.

It was a hard position for Marie. One of six children, she has had to shift for herself. So has brother Charlie, 18. She got a job. Charlie knocked around, sleeping here and there, in poolrooms and bowling alleys. His friends were made from among the gangs that hang around street corners at night.

Marie worked. From her slight savings she gave him help. At nights, her work done, she would seek him out in the dark streets. No place for a girl, but sisters love their brothers.

Last night she found she had failed. Charlie boasted to her; said there was a safe his gang was going to "crack;" they'd tried the same "box" three times before, but last night they'd open it sure.

They didn't. Marie told police and Charlie was locked up.

"BUSTER" COHEN

REM does double duty in this home

Back and forth to school in all sorts of weather. Outdoor play afterwards, often in wet and cold. That's how "Buster" Cohen of 1146 E. Lombard St., Baltimore, spends his time. Naturally he doesn't escape coughs, but his mother has learned what to do for them. Her husband had tried REM when he had a bad cough and "found it so good that since then we don't use any other cough medicine." So when Buster starts coughing, out comes the bottle of REM—and the cough doesn't linger long. One reason for REM'S remarkable effectiveness is the special ingredient it contains that isn't found in ordinary cough syrups. Harmless—pleasant—effective—what more could you ask?

REM's exclusive formula explains its splendid results. Economical, too! REM

REM'S easy to take, too. Children and parents can both appreciate that REM

You can keep your skin exquisitely smooth just as 9 out of 10 glamorous screen stars do . . .

LONG ago our own charming Hollywood stars discovered that for attractiveness a girl must have soft, smooth skin—and discovered that Lux Toilet Soap keeps the skin at its very loveliest.

Then the famous Broadway stage stars became equally enthusiastic about this delicately fragrant white soap. Never have they been more grateful to it than since so many of them are playing in the talkies!

And now—in France, in England, in Germany—the European screen stars have adopted Lux Toilet Soap.

In Hollywood Alone
511 Lovely Actresses Use It

Every girl who appears under the blaze of the great close-up lights must have flawless skin. And the talkies have so many, many close-ups!

In Hollywood alone, of the 521 important actresses, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. And every one of the great film studios has made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

At the request of the Broadway stage stars, it has been placed in their dressing rooms by 71 of the 74 legitimate theaters, and by other leading theaters all over the country.

"No girl can be attractive unless she has the very loveliest skin." This is the conclusion of 45 leading Hollywood directors who pick the girls who will most surely win popularity on the screen.

Small wonder, then, that Lux Toilet Soap has become the chosen soap of the world's most famous stars!

If you aren't already using this delightful soap, order several cakes—today. Its caressing lather will keep your skin lovely, just as it keeps the skin of the famous stars.

Matrimonial Bureau Plays Big Part in Camp Wedding

OX BEND was something of a village and of a lumber camp.

It would thrive while the timber lasted and there was enough of that to last half a century.

As in other places, the young men had a habit of marrying the attractive girls at about the proper marrying age.

That is, with the exception of "Limp" Jack Stebbins. Limpy was 38. Why, in Ox Bend there were two chaps of 38 who had married at 18 and now look at them—they were grandfathers!

But none of the girls could look at Limpy and arouse in themselves the rights of matrimony—with him.

Limpy had a slight limp. It had once been much worse. Limpy worked only sufficiently to exist. He had quite a rotund stomach. He wore a scraggly reddish-brown beard because shaving was work. And he was something of a nuisance around the place. In emergency he would work on the log jams but otherwise he preferred caring for the horses rather than going into the woods and felling trees.

One can gather from this that Limpy was far from being attractive. Hence his bachelor state.

Just the same it made Limpy wonder and worry and feel that life had treated him shabbily whenever other young men married. Limpy would have liked very much to possess a nice kind wife but he was bashful and always shortly denied the least interest in women.

This didn't fool Dave Watson, postmaster and storekeeper at Ox Bend. He could read most men easily and Limpy like a book.

One blustery day Limpy went into the store for tobacco. It wasn't time for the villagers to be loafing there such as were not in the woods. Limpy filled his pipe and slouched down by the glowing pot-bellied stove, converting a pine splinter into a pipe lighter.

Vital Question

Dave studied him a moment.

"Bige Dawson's goin' to marry May Smith," he said.

"Humph," was Limpy's sole comment.

Dave's eyes narrowed under their shaggy white brows as he studied Limpy.

"Ever think of marryin', Limpy?"

"Nope."

"Ye be—every fellow does."

"Well—not often," Limpy admitted.

"See this?" Dave showed him a matrimonial paper. "You send 'em fifty cents. They'll send you a picture of a right pert lookin' feller and th' name of a darn pretty gal anxious to get married. You write th' gal and send th' picture. She'll begin writin' back. By and by she'll come on you'll marry her, an' there you be!"

"She'd be madder'n tophet when she seed I didn't look none like th' picture," Limpy said.

"She'd marry you, all right. 'When gals gits their weddin' trosso ready they mean business.'"

"H'm," said Limpy.

"Hand over th' fifty cents and I'll send on for ye," said Dave.

Limpy argued but weakly. Dave argued eloquently, and Limpy handed over the fifty cents.

This was going to be rich! Something for the boys to chuckle about all winter.

Soon enough there came a name and address. It was:

Miss Susie Shultz, Red Oak, General Delivery.

The state was some 600 miles away from the state wherein Ox Bend village was clustered around the river.

With the address was a picture. A fine upstanding chap. Perhaps it was coincidence or perhaps because the matrimonial bureau people knew Ox Bend to be a lumber community, but the man in the picture was standing on a floating log. In reality the original of the picture was a well-known movie actor.

"Gosh," said Limpy, "I don't look no more like that than a crow looks like a peacock."

"Write her a nice polite letter—it will be all right!" Dave urged.

Limpy did so and sent the picture. Dave helped him with the letter, which stated that he would like her picture and would like to correspond with a view to the holy bonds of wedlock.

Susie Shultz got that letter.

Her First Letter

Susie was 22 but it was the very first letter she had ever received that is, addressed to her. She got bills and the farm paper and such addressed to her father, but no mail for herself.

And just as in Ox Bend, so in Red Oak. The girls thought seriously of marriage at 18. But not Susie. Susie was the "fat girl" of Red Oak. Almost every little community has its fat girl. Red Oak had a corker in Susie Shultz.

It takes more than fat to keep a maidenly heart from yearning. Susie yearned in vain.

Naturally the letter was, to date, the biggest event in her life. And this John Stebbins—why, there wasn't a man in Red Oak half so good looking. Susie had no means of knowing that her stepmother, not unkind but somewhat bored with her, had secretly sent Susie's name to a matrimonial paper.

Susie answered the letter in a polite maidenly way. But her picture! There was only one taken when she was four. Then her mother died and she had grown too fat right along. However there was a way out. She took a picture of her half-sister, Flora. Flora had light hair like her own and Flora was just plump, not fat at all. Then again it was only a half-lie because it was a picture of her half-sister.

Limpy Joke Spreads

"Let me see," he said.

Limpy showed him the picture.

"Godfrey, I'm scairt—she'll be wild if she finds the way I really look," bewailed Limpy. "She's well favored, right down pretty."

"Jest keep writin'. Don't worry none. She'll marry ye when you send for her to come," Dave advised solemnly.

Already about a dozen of the more dependable men of Ox Bend knew the great joke on Limpy Stebbins.

Susie called him "Dearest John."

They admitted that they were lonesome. They declared that the likeness of the other was just the type each had dreamed about for a life mate.

And then two things happened. Limpy got scared that Susie would come on before he could get a home for her, and Susie feared he might send for her before she had a trousseau.

Susie promptly went to work in the Red Oak Worsted Mills. Gosh, it was hard, on her feet all day, walking up and down, up and down, but she got $18 a week for it!

And Limpy decided to work harder.

He went into the woods. He was a natural woodsman and could handle an axe as deftly as a Chinaman handles chopsticks—with no low pun intended here.

He hired the Coggswell cottage, which had been vacant for a year. Then he took to doing extra work.

His limp was practically gone now, also his rotund stomach. A man cannot swing an axe and maintain an alderman's abdominal curves.

Susie bought a pretty dress.

A few weeks later she was sorry, because it wouldn't fit her! She had lost eight pounds!

Susie decided not to buy anything else until she was called to go to Ox Bend and become Mrs. John Stebbins. She might lose even more weight.

And Limpy was feeling better than ever. He was handy with tools. Such furniture as he couldn't afford new he repaired from second-hand stuff, and those bright enamels made them like new.

Preparing for Bride

Dave Watson's wife helped him. This was because Dave had told his wife of the joke on Limpy and she felt sorry for him. She thought that if this girl saw a pretty little home she might stay and marry him instead of making a scene and beating it back when she caught sight of the "Adonis" who sent for her.

Dave tried to find out when Limpy intended sending for the girl.

"After th' spring run. I wouldn't want her to come here in th' rotten March weather," Limpy told him.

"Why wait?"

"We both think it best. Susie writes she is makin' up her dresses an' things."

So Dave found that he would have to wait until spring for the "big circus" to come off. He and a score of his cronies often discussed it. They'd be at the narrow gauge depot and have the fun of watching this girl look at Limpy and then at the picture of the handsome man he sent her—they'd hear her bawl him out, and see her trot right back and leave him flat.

Susie had certain qualms herself. Once in a while she would cry in her pillow, as she pictured how disgusted her hero would be when he saw such a fat girl.

Susie had saved much money and lost much weight through the winter's work in the worsted mills. Several of the Red Oak boys tried to date her up, but she laughed at them.

Nor was Limpy dumb. He had heard murmurs of the big joke on him. Dave asked him when the girl was coming on.

"First of June," Limpy lied.

Then he borrowed Boss Parker's auto, drove over to Whiteville, the county seat, ostensibly to get himself some clothes. He visited the barber shop and emerged minus beard.

Susie Shultz alighted at Whitesville on the noon train, was married an hour later and did some marketing. They drove home after dark.

"Honey-bunch," Limpy told her, "you are more beautiful than your picture."

"So are you, darling," Susie cooed.

And when Dave Watson and the others saw Limpy, shriven and neatly dressed, and Mrs. Stebbins, radiant in a pretty gown, they just gasped at each other.

"Gosh," said Dave. "All that for only 50 cents!"

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

"CREAM PUFFS to the right of me, eclairs—and I adore eclairs—to the left of me, and French pastry in front of me, menacing and sparkling! All decked out in doo-dabs, and whorls, ropes of cream, and lovely gobs of glazed maple, snowy heaps of delicious glace spotted ruby-eyed with cherries, as of a strawberry set in snow! Diamond shapes of sugary sweetness with rose-buds of pink icing. Miniature wedding cakes, and baby pies, crust as frail as a bubble filled with whipped-up froth like a sunset cloud, jeweled with tiny beads of amber! Oh, boy! Oh, girl!" sighs Gloriette.

"I was born with a sweet tooth, too. My gran'ma had it, and my mother just doted on pudding; and I can't pass a bake shop window without a shudder of delight. I love and hate you. For you are only a menace and an enemy. A menace to my ensemble! Enemy to my just-right size. Revel in your Elysian delight for five days; and no matter how much I side-track pocketbook, shoes, fur coat, book—up snaps the needle nearer and nearer the three-hundred mark. Oh, only one-thirty, or forty, or fifty, but that's nearer three hundred than one-twenty-five!"

All this handsome array, sparkling like the phalanx of a beautiful army, splashed with color, tempting, heart-stirring, immaculate, slightly warm still, made to be eaten and dreamed over, is the enemy. And a lady's skin and figure are certainly better for meeting the enemy and not making it entirely hers. But—in the effort to keep that nymph-like shape—be careful that you know who is enemy and who is not. No lady knows exactly what her little inside machinery needs and must have to keep heart, lungs, tummy and muscle working gayly and happily. Ask the doctor when you get ready to lick the enemy called "Putting on Weight." He'll tell you who is friend and who is enemy!

—NELL BRINKLEY.

LOVEJOY :: By BEATRICE BURTON

won't be under our feet all the time!—I declare I can't even kiss you any more with any comfort!"

Tom nodded. But the tiny frown that had been on his forehead so often lately came upon it again.

Lovejoy didn't see it. She was examining the green glass cigaret box that she had bought that day, and her eyes were bright with satisfaction.

"I'll never rest until I have a new house and loads of lovely new things for it!" she said.

Tom made a noise in his throat that was half a snort and half a sigh. "I don't expect much rest until then, either," he remarked drily.

Early the next morning Lovejoy telephoned Norrie, and Norrie promised to come for dinner on Saturday night.

"Tom will come for you," Lovejoy told her, "in his car."

Norrie'll get a terrific boot out of a ride with Tom, she thought cheerfully when she hung up the receiver, but he's safe with her.

Norrie, she told herself, had about as much emotional appeal as an icebox.

A little later she telephoned Steve Oglebay at his office.

"We want you for dinner on Saturday night—Tom and I," she told him. "Please say you'll come, Steve. You're one of the few friends I have, and I've missed you so much the last year."

As a matter of truth she had hardly missed him at all. But it was always good policy to flatter men a little. They loved it.

"I'll be glad to come," said Steve. "Seven o'clock?"

At 6 on Saturday night he sent a big box of pale pink roses to the little house in Stallings lane.

And at 10 minutes before 7, while Tom was on his way to get Norrie Shane, he came himself.

Lovejoy had seen his car stop before the house. Her color was high and her heart was beating fast when she opened the door to him.

"I'm so glad you came early, Steve!" she told him breathlessly. "We'll have a few minutes to ourselves. Tom's gone for Norrie Shane."

She was one of those women who never really let go of a man so long as they can possibly hold him. She didn't want Steve Oglebay—and yet she hated to lose him, somehow.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

A Discussion Regarding the Knife and Fork

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly settle this discussion regarding the correct way to use the knife and fork?

My friend maintains that after cutting, the knife should be laid on the table, the fork changed to the right hand, and the meat conveyed to the mouth in this manner.

My contention is that it is more proper to use the fork in the left hand.

J. R.

BOTH are correct. But, if you say that you find the non-fork-shifting method of eating more convenient, less full of motions, less fussy and a more attractive way of eating, I agree with YOU. The former method, the fork-shifting method of eating, is the one usually referred to as the American method of eating. The non-fork-shifting method of eating is referred to variously as the Continental or European or Cosmopolitan method of eating.

And I'm happy to say that the non-fork-shifting manner of eating—holding the knife in the right hand and the fork in the left, and conveying the food to the mouth with the fork in the left hand—is becoming increasingly popular in the United States. Perhaps because we travel more, and observe that the best-bred people all over the world eat in the non-fork-shifting method.

Socially Presumptuous

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have been invited to a wedding and I do not know either the bride or the groom. After being introduced, would it be proper for me to kiss the bride, or would it be better taste to just shake hands and congratulate her? I want to do the right thing but do not want to appear "personal."

INQUISITIVE.

IT WOULD be socially presumptuous for you to kiss the bride, since you have not met her before. Yes, it would be better taste for you to shake hands with the bride, and offer your "best wishes" for her happiness. Don't "congratulate" her, for this word and the word "congratulations" are reserved to be used when you offer your "congratulations" to him.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Timely Interference Prevents Serious Flare-Up

"MARY, you are a very bad child! I do not know whether to smack you or send you to bed without any supper.

I shot a whimsical smile at my husband's lovely young niece as I uttered the burlesqued threat, for I was determined to put upon a frivolous plane temporarily, at least, the situation brought about by her recklessness. I knew that I was grasping at the traditional straw, for both Noel and Prince Georges were at the point of explosion into murderous anger, but it was the only ruse I knew.

"This child loves to be melodramatic," I went on. "She is always superlative. I hope Mr. Veritzen will be able to subrue her, but I have my doubts after this particular—prank—of her."

I smiled at Mary again, and with a furtive glance saw that the others were relaxing from their tenseness. Looking directly at Prince Georges I struck a more serious note.

"I beg you to listen to me and to believe what I am going to tell you," I said slowly. "Mary in her desire to prove a point to you has greatly exaggerated an incident which would be of no importance whatever were it not for Mr. Philip Veritzen's peculiar prejudices concerning the seclusion of the young women whom he honors by training for his work."

Purposely I made my voice impressive. I held no brief for Philip Veritzen, but something in me had revolted at the palpable assumption—natural though it was—of our royal young visitors that any stage career was fathoms below the exalted state in which they had been born.

"You would have to be a student of Philip Veritzen," I went on, "to realize the deadly monotony to which his training condemns a young girl. Study, sleep and stated supervised exercises—these make up her days and nights. The routine became unendurable to Mary—I fancy you realize her highly strung nervous temperament, and in a heedless moment she yielded to the urging of a frivolous acquaintance who was related to the manager of the night club and danced there an hour or two each evening for a short period—until—she realized that she was completely out of tune with her environment, and 'fessed up to her uncle and me. Of course we saw to it that she did not dance there again, and that was all there was to the incident. She never had gone unescorted to the hall, she never was asked to meet the patrons, and the mask she wore completely hid her identity. The fact that she danced there has been known only to her own family, to the Underwoods and to the Veritzens. But Mr. Noel Veritzen's connection with the affair was only that of a spectator. He did not know her identity—in fact, never spoke to her until the day that she left there."

Prince Georges stirred uneasily in his chair, then looked frankly at Noel.

"I beg to offer my apologies," he said formally, then boyishly, with a rush of words. "I say old man, I really am terribly sorry. It's a beastly temper I have."

I saw Noel bite his lip, knew that he was struggling to meet the other's frankness.

"I have the same sort," he said at last with a little smile. "It's all right."

The tension was gone, but I guessed that both young men were glad that they were sitting far enough apart to make shakings hands over the thing an absurd gesture. And no matter how great their surface friendliness, I guessed that always between them would be the memory of Prince Georges' slurring reference to Noel's presence in the night club where Mary had danced.

"There is but one thing more to remember," I said, looking now at Princess Olina. "Mr. Veritzen was terribly angry, not at the dancing, but at the fact that one of his proteges had dared to defy his discipline. If there had been any danger of her appearance there becoming known to anyone beside ourselves, he would not have permitted her to continue her training. So I must ask you—"

"Please!" Princess Olina said prettily. "I already have forgotten that I saw Mary dance or heard the story, and I know Georges has too. Haven't you Georges?"

She flashed an eloquent glance at him, and for the instant that his eyes answered hers, I fancied that I saw a new expression in them, that of a man coming to a slow realization of an error. Olina was royally beautiful in that moment, she was also most womanly, every trace of felinity gone. It was a long second before he answered her, and when he did it was with the air of a man who suddenly remembers that someone is waiting for an answer.

"Oh! of course," he said. "I shall forget it also."

"Thank you," I said simply. "Come I want you in the other apartment."

"She has polished up the switches," caroled Mary, irrepressible and unabashed. "I can see it in her eye."

Both Noel and Prince Georges smiled, but there was no real mirth in their faces, and as they both rose with us, Noel spoke hastily.

"I think I ought to go down to our apartment and see if my father needs me. Do you think Mr. Underwood would object?".

"I am sure he would not," I said, and he went with us out of the apartment, leaving Prince Georges and Princess Olina together.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Checking Bright's Disease

THE kidneys perform an important function. Through them pass nearly one-half of all the waste products of the body. Since the waste materials of the system, especially those which go through the kidneys, are poisons, it is very necessary that there should be no interruption to their passage.

DR. COPELAND

In nephritis, or Bright's disease as it is commonly called, there is inflammation of the kidneys and their function is disturbed. The kidneys cannot take care of the waste products.

The chief variety of the food we eat is called protein. For instance, lean meats and white of egg are proteins. The main waste materials resulting from digestion of proteins are nitrogen and nitrogen compounds. These are eliminated largely through the kidneys; they are the urea, uric acid and ammonia.

In checking this disease, there must be reduction of foods rich in nitrogen. At the same time the patient must so regulate his daily life that he will need the least amount of protein food. This will mean placing a limitation on his physical exertion so there will not be a demand for such food.

The chief nitrogenous output of the kidneys is urea. About an ounce of this waste substance is voided each day. The more meat taken the more urea will be developed. These nitrogenous substances are not handled properly by the kidneys in Bright's disease. When the kidneys do not function properly the waste products accumulate in the body and act as poisons.

There must be sensible control of the food intake and measures to make the skin more active. In acute nephritis milk may be the only safe food to take. Even this may be found to be too rich in protein. Water should be taken freely, and to this may be added sugar, cereals, gruel, and possibly bread. Buttermilk and oatmeal water may be useful.

In the first stages of the disease milk will supply all the nourishment needed if it is well borne. In the progress of the disease vegetables may be added, and later on, perhaps, a limited amount of meat.

The bowels must be kept open and the kidneys active. Frequent baths, gentle exercises, a warm climate, and mental poise are all helpful. With proper care and diet begun early in the disease the patient may count on a long and useful life.

Answers to Health Queries

H. W. F. Q.—Could drowsiness be caused by ptosis of the bowels? I am not troubled with constipation and get plenty of sleep. Is this regarded as serious?

A.—Yes, it is possible that elimination is delayed causing infection in the system. This produces auto-intoxication, drowsiness and fatigue are usual under these conditions. Not necessarily, but it should have proper medical attention. Have your doctor advise you.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, January 28

THERE are very auspicious signs of much movement, initiative and stirring about in this day's stellar activities. Events of far-reaching and radical importance are foreshown, with many prospects of excellent advantage and desirable opportunities. Although these adventures may lead to high places, they should not be embraced too precipitately or without calm and controlled deliberation. Also be conservative in handling moneys.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of splendid opportunity, with probably abrupt and unplanned change of radical importance. These may lead to high adventure and to a place in the public eye, but all should be handled without impulse, tumult or extravagant or hazardous use of funds. Prudence and conservatism should hold sway over rashness and excitement.

A child born on this day should have many marked talents for success, progress and high adventure in its career, which may be a public one. It should be schooled in discipline, thrift and self-control.

PLANE THEFT LAID TO FLIER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Wanted on a warrant for "stealing his own plane," Milton E. O'Connor, of Hagerstown, Md., today was believed engaged in a game of hide and seek in the clouds.

The trouble all started with the desire of the officials of the United States Aviation Club to keep the plane. There was something about O'Connor having leased the plane to the club in the case, and also a bill of $60 against the aviator.

At any rate, O'Connor, with not so much as "by your leave," hopped off from the airport at College Park, Md. Jesse Duke, president and attorney for the club, heard of the flight, got into action, and notified all airports to be on the lookout for the runaway. He heard the O'Connon plane was at Hyba Valley, on the road to Richmond, Va., near Washington, hastened there, but just too late.

Duke went to Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd, of Acotink, Va., and swore out a warrant. Detectives at Richmond sought O'Connor at the flying field there, but he had flown on. Where he was today, nobody seemed to know.

SEVEN MURDER TRIALS LISTED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—Seven murder cases are listed for trial at the term of Criminal Court which begins February 3, but only five of the defendants are under arrest. Two other cases of more than usual interest involve automobile accidents in which children were killed.

Murder cases listed are: William McCoy for death of Martha Jacobs, Canton township; Edward Neverall, former student in Pittsburgh, for slaying of August Behling, night watchman at McDonald garage in an attempted robbery; James E. Millens, formerly of Pittsburgh, for death of Bert Jones, Buffalo township; William Flint, for murder of William Hudgins, at Avella; Dan Mover for death of brother, Joe Mover, in fight at Centerville.

GUEST BEATEN IN TEXAS' CLUB

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Texas Guinan's Green Mill cabaret had a knock down and drag out fight added unexpectedly to the events of early yesterday morning, and Leonard Schwartz, 23, was seriously hurt.

Schwartz was dragged from the table he shared with friends, slugged with fists, beaten with guns and kicked. Brain concussion and numerous lesser injuries were inflicted.

Diners said five men participated in the attack. Leonard Leon, manager and part owner of the cabaret, which is in uptown Chicago, was pointed out as one of those involved, and was arrested on a charge of assault and disorderly conduct.

4 School Children Hurt in Bomb Blast

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Four children were injured by explosion of a small bomb at the free school in Shrigandha, . miles from Poona. Collector of customs McMillan had just left the building. Two persons who were arrested were released for lack of evidence.

The explosion occurred on Friday but official announcement was made only today.

PROSECUTOR'S AID, GANG HELD

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—A police trap followed by a series of raids today resulted in the arrests of 21 persons including Assistant State's Attorney Harry J. Busch and six women.

The raids, authorities believe, will solve the mystery of numerous recent robberies in fashionable homes where bandits gained entry by posing as friends or police officers.

The trap, in the making several weeks, was sprung last night when police learned the gang was preparing to flee to Detroit to pull several big "jobs."

It is known that Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the district attorney's office, has been listening to telephone conversations and keeping under surveillance four men arrested as suspects following a $25,000 jewelry robbery here.

Several of those captured have long police records.

Busch, known as a political leader here, was said to have been overheard in conversations with Thomas Abbott, alleged head of a robbery and narcotic gang. Abbott was one of those arrested. Busch is being held for questioning.

COUNTY FAIRS MEET SLATED

E. E. Freeland, of Beaver Falls, will be the speaker at the opening session of the annual conference of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs Wednesday morning in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Sessions are also scheduled for the afternoon, and at night a banquet will be held. Harry White, of Indiana, president of the association, will be in charge.

L. F. Entrikin, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will open the afternoon session with an address of welcome. J. F. Seldomridge, of Lancaster, secretary, will then make his annual report.

The speaker at the banquet will be E. S. Hayard, editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer. Joseph M. McGraw will be master of ceremonies, and following the speaking he will present a program of entertainment.

You know Kotex is safe

because hospitals prefer it

Trust the guidance of great American hospitals...85% prefer Kotex absorbent

KOTEX is dainty, Kotex is comfortable . . . but the fact that should mean most to you and every woman is this:

Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. And it is backed by overwhelming medical preference.

Think of it! Over 85% of America's leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent. And not for one or two purposes alone . . . but for important surgical purposes as well.

Medical science has produced no finer absorbent. And now every woman in America can have this same splendid absorbent for her own personal, sanitary use! She can give herself the same hygienic care that famous hospitals give their patients.

Kotex is so highly absorbent that moisture never gathers on the surface. The surface stays delicate, soft, fluffy, clean.

Kotex is light and comfortable. It is made in air-cooled layers, which cannot pack.

Why Kotex is different

Remember that Kotex is not made of cotton, but of Cellucotton absorbent wadding. Cellucotton is a cellulose product which has 5 times the absorbency of the finest cotton.

Kotex has many other advantages which appeal to fastidious women. Some are noted at the right. Others can be learned only by actual use. This much is certain: after using Kotex, other ways seem impossibly crude, unclean, and unhygienic. Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Safe, secure . . . keeps your mind at ease.

3—Fastidious . . . the sign of true daintiness.

4—In hospitals . . . Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.

Facts Concerning the Cab Strike

This is a picture taken by one of the newspaper photographers of the meeting at Moose Temple at 4:00 p. m. Monday, January 20th, when the men voted 538 to 108 to accept the Davis agreement—and both sides considered the controversy satisfactorily ended.

In order to avoid telling the story backwards, let us give you the facts:

The men went on strike without warning on January 12th. When committees called upon the company officials they received every consideration. Abridging the details leading to the point where Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, of the President's cabinet, offered to assist in a settlement, we come to that scene, on Monday, January 20th, when representatives of the strikers and company assembled in a suite of rooms in the William Penn Hotel. There were present:

Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor of the United States of America
Hon. Peter Glick, Secretary of Labor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Hon. Charles H. Kline, Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh
Walter S. Laird and Paul L. Houston, for the companies
A Committee of Seven, representing the strikers
Various government labor conciliators.

The representation was, therefore, complete—the national government; state government; city government, and both sides to the controversy.

Secretary Davis read the terms of an agreement which had been discussed as acceptable to both sides. He asked any who dissented to speak out. During the reading there were several interpolations from Mayor Kline and, upon concluding, Secretary Davis announced he was ready to sign, providing the agreement impressed all present as being the solution of the problem. There was no dissenting voice from either the representatives of the companies or the employees or any of the others present.

Accordingly, both Secretary Davis and Secretary Glick signed the agreement and announced that a meeting would be held at 4 o'clock, at Moose Temple, for the strikers to vote for or against ratification.

The Only Morning Paper in Pittsburgh

Insurgents Still Hold Out Despite Five to One Vote on Terms.

The agreement specified that the men were to return to work as soon as possible and, accordingly, a number of old employees returned to work and service was begun.

A group representing the committee met at the Pittsburgher Hotel that evening and demanded that the Companies sign the agreement.

Thereupon several labor conciliators brought the agreement to the Companies' headquarters for signature and it was readily signed by a representative of the companies. The document was taken to the committee—and then they demanded that they SEE the signature attached. The representative of the companies then personally appeared before the committee and acknowledged his signature.

Everyone seemed happy when this apparent satisfactory conclusion was reached. The strikers' committee promised to have the men back at work by 10 A. M. the following morning.

When some men took the cabs out the following morning, they were picketed, threatened with bodily harm, even assaulted, and forced to abandon work by others not satisfied with the agreement.

The minority, thereupon, gained control. They forced another meeting, and obtained a vote not to return to work.

Thus was abrogated an agreement accepted by the employees and company officials and the highest labor officials in the city, state and nation.

The story is quickly finished. When it was impressed upon the company that agreements were made only to be broken, it arranged to conduct its business, a public service, which it is under a duty to perform. It was announced by the companies, even though the agreement had been abrogated, that in accordance with the agreement jobs would be held open for old employees until midnight, January 23rd.

The public knows the rest. The first day the companies started operations saw considerable violence, the second day showed improvement. Our old employees are returning and the number increases daily. While the companies will in no wise be obdurate and will exercise patience and moderation in dealing with the strike situation, they are up against a proposition in which a formal agreement has been violated.

There is one more important feature the public should know. Believe it or not, the wage increase which caused this strike would cost the companies $225,437.23. This increase was granted voluntarily to the men and at no request for an increase in cab rates from the Public.

HOFMAN SHEDS LIGHT AFTER 21 YEARS

FOR MORE than 21 years, baseball histories, statisticians' records, and even the official documents of the National League itself have been all wrong on the details of the most notorious diamond blunder in the annals of the game—the Merkle play that cost the New York Giants the pennant in 1908. At least, that is the assertion made by Artie Hofman, former Cub and Pirate outfielder, who was one of the principals in the memorable mix-up that terminated the game between the Giants and the Bruins at the Polo Grounds in New York on September 23 of that year.

Artie Hofman

The nature of the happening is well known, in a general sense. Christy Mathewson and Jack Pfiester had gone into the ninth inning of a pitchers' battle on even terms, the score standing 1 to 1. The Cubs had scored in the fifth on a home run by Joe Tinker, one man in the league for whom Mathewson held no terrors, and the Giants had tied it up in the sixth on Harry Steinfeldt's fumble of Buck Herzog's grounder, Roger Bresnahan's sacrifice and Mike Donlin's single.

IN THE second half of the ninth inning, with the clubs still deadlocked, the Giants had Harry McCormick on third base and Fred Merkle on first, with two out. Al Bridwell slapped a clean single to center on which McCormick crossed the plate with what should have been the winning run. Merkle failed to run to second, however, and when the ball was played to that sack he was called out on a force.

This made the third out, and the result was that the game ended in a tie, the fans swarming upon the field and preventing further play. In a post-season play-off to decide a pennant tie, the Bruins won the game and the flag. The play that retired Merkle was scored as from Hofman to Johnny Evers, and even in the decision of the league board of directors, upholding President Harry Pulliam and Umpires Hank O'Day and Bob Emslie, it is officially described as having been made in that manner.

BUT now, after more than two decades, Hofman bobs up with the statement that it wasn't Evers at all, but Steinfeldt, who made the putout on Merkle at second base. Hofman puts the play in a light entirely different from the long-accepted version.

"I threw the ball in from the outfield on a line and it bounced off Tinker's head to the mound, where Pfiester and Joe McGinnity engaged in a scuffle," Circus Solly relates. "Somebody kicked the ball and it rolled toward Tinker. A fan picked it up and more trouble followed.

Johnny Evers

"MERKLE in the meantime had raced off the field without touching second. I ran in and stood on second, calling for the ball to complete a force play. Floyd Kroh, a Cub pitcher, came along and landed a punch on the chin of the fan who had the ball. The fan went down, the ball rolled to Steinfeldt, and the latter, while standing on second base, handed it to Evers. Steinfeldt, by touching that bag, completed the play for which Evers has been given credit. It was hard to get the attention of an umpire in that roaring mob, but we finally brought Hank O'Day over and he promptly called Merkle out."

THE sport of Jai-Alai, imported from Spain and Cuba in 1925 and given its American start in Miami before spreading to New Orleans and Chicago, where it has survived three seasons, has been revived in Miami this winter and is getting a big play. It generally goes over successfully where betting is permitted, wagers being laid on the individual players just as on horses.

In Miami, pari-mutuel betting on the games has been replaced by the stock-selling system, which is similar except that it is not illegal in Florida. Jai-Alai (pronounced hi-lie) is a combination of handball and indoor tennis. It is played with a goat-skin ball, slightly smaller than a tennis ball, but equally as heavy and firm as a baseball.

THE games are staged in a court, closed on three sides by high cement walls, the field being about 75 yards by 15 yards. The principle of the sport is similar to that of handball, but Jai-Alai is considerably faster. Each player uses a long narrow basket, called a cesta, which resembles a quarter-section of an automobile tire, strapped to his right hand.

The ball that they drive against the forward wall gains tremendous momentum in the cesta and spectators watching the game find it difficult at times to keep their eyes on the sphere. Doubles matches are played as well as singles.

Bill Carrigan

BILL CARRIGAN, retiring manager of the Boston Red Sox, who is succeeded by Heinie Wagner, agrees with John McGraw, Johnny Evers and other veterans that baseball has been changed a lot by the lively pellet. He says that players were smarter in the old days, gave more attention to the fine points of the game and that contests called for "harder" thinking, cleverer generalship and more technical skill than at present. He admits, however, that there is much to admire in the diamond sport of today, if the spectators has a fondness for slugging and likes to see a ball soaring out of the playing field.

"BACK in 1916 we won because we concentrated on getting a short lead and holding it," Carrigan says. "Today no lead is safe, no matter how large. The lively ball brings out the old wallop of the batters, and has changed the sport greatly. It is easier on the robust boys with the punch, and tougher on the pitchers who have to face the shelling of batsmen swinging from their toes.

"On the old Red Sox team the players could be depended upon to think out what to do in a pinch. The game was not played on the bench, but was in the hands of the men on the field. Today a player wants to be told just what he is supposed to do before he does it. If he flops, he smiles and talks about the motor ride at night to the beach. In the old days we spent hours at night going over plays and players to be met the following day."

HOLMES, SMITH FINED AFTER FIGHT

The Americans scored first in the second period and then reverted to their safe and sane defensive style of play. The Pirates, however, knotted the count early in the third session with a goal by Briden. Pittsburgh spare, and from then on through the overtime session the game was a battle royal. Massecar, American spare wingman, scored the New York goal, beating Goalie Miller in 7:03. Briden's tally came eight minutes and 11 seconds after the third period got under way.

HOLMES, SMITH FIGHT

Holmes, burly New York forward and Smith of Pittsburgh, enlivened the dull first period with an abbreviated fistic battle. They drew a major penalty and then sought to continue their ring tactics in the penalty box. For this they were each fined $25. Smith opened the hostilities when he struck Holmes as the American swung around the goal with the puck. Holmes resented the act and swung in return. Goalie Miller rushed to the aid of his teammate and managed to get in one blow before the players separated the fighters. Miller was not penalized.

With the exception of that brief period in the opening 20 minutes and individual flashes of form in the remaining two sessions the game was colorless. The Americans sent their defense nearly down to the goal line with the result that the Pirates got few short shots. On the other hand the Americans broke through for frequent short shots, but were stopped by Miller's great goal tending. The lineup:

Wentzel	G	Miller
Simpson	R. D.	Mills
Bryden	L. D.	MacKinnon
Hilton	C.	Fraser
McVeigh	R. W.	Darragh

Pirate spares—Drury, Briden, Smith, Jarvis, Barton, White.
Officials—Stewart and Ritchie.
Second period—Americans, Massecar, 7:03. Penalty, McVeigh.

ENGEN BREAKS SKI RECORD

WESTBY, Wis., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Alf Engen, a 20-year-old youth who came to Westby from Norway six months ago, yesterday set a new world record in the Snow-Flake Ski Club's annual tournament when he jumped 187½ feet from a scaffold hill.

Engen, who took first place in the tourney, surpassed the previous mark by 5½ feet. The old record was set by Walter Bratlund, of Ironwood, Mich., in 1919. In an exhibition jump, Engen leaped 191 feet.

TOMORROW—THE MAN THEY FORGOT TO HANG

DR. SUTHERLAND TO APPOINT '30 CAPTAIN

The time-honored custom of electing a football captain is to be discontinued at the University of Pittsburgh, Panther athletic officials announced today.

The Pitt grid leader for the 1930 season is to be appointed by Coach Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, and all future Pitt football captains will be named by the Panther head coach.

The policy of having the head coach appoint the team captain has been tested and found very satisfactory by many big colleges and universities in recent years.

Sponsors of the new plan point out that the coach is in the best possible position to choose the performer best qualified to lead, and that the judgment of the players in this matter often is warped by factional or fraternity "campaigning."

Sutherland, when informed of his new duty today, said that he probably would announce the selection of the 1930 leader within a few days.

MONTANA COACH LAUDS HYATT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—(AP.)—Of considerable interest are the reflections of Schubert Dyche, coach of the Montana State Bobcats, following the Eastern tour in which his Rocky Mountain basketball champions won four out of seven from some of the best teams in the country.

"Hyatt (of Pittsburgh) is a marvel," writes Dyche. "He is more effective than Cat Thompson (Montana ace) and that is hard to admit. He is without question the greatest forward I ever have seen—or imagined. Loyola, of Chicago, was the greatest team we met on our trip. They are unbeatable by a team that cannot get the tipoff. Charley Murphy, of Loyola, (center) out jumped Frank Ward and was the best center we met. Stretch Murphy, of Purdue, is unsteady and this makes Purdue an in-and-out team. Butler has a great team, but Loyola may beat them because Loyola plays a coldly scientific game—the professional type of basketball. Pitt has Hyatt. Butler has the men and the mechanics and, of course, we miss Brick Breeden."

Breeden was a guard on three previous championship Montana State teams, one of the greatest defense men ever developed in Rocky Mountain basketball.

BRUINS TAKE LEAD

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(INS.)—Chicago's Bruins today lead the second half of the race for the American Basketball League championship following the defeat of Rochester, 28 to 17, last night, at Chicago Stadium. The Brooklyn Visitations contributed to the Bruins' jump by defeating Cleveland, winner of the first half race, 32 to 12, at Brooklyn.

ENS TO ATTEND BIG SPORTS DINNER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

With two major league pilots already having signified their intention of attending the second annual dinner of local chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America, the committee is aiming to have at least two more pilots of the big show in attendance. The get-together event will be held Thursday night of next week at the William Penn Hotel.

Jewel Ens

Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, and Manager Bill McKechnie, of the Braves, have accepted invitations to be among those present, and there is a chance that Manager Donie Bush, of the White Sox and Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Cubs, will mingle with Pittsburgh sport lovers on the day of jollification.

The new boss of the Buccos has taken up his residence in Pittsburgh and Pilot Ens will be glad to meet the fans at the sport writers' affair. Skipper Bill is scheduled to be in New York to meet with other Boston officials on Tuesday of next week, but McKechnie said he would try to arrange his affairs in order to be at the banquet.

LANDIS BIG CARD

Donie Bush's reply is not in, but the former Pittsburgh boss may be constrained to accept the invitation. Marse Joe of the Cub champs has written the committee to the effect that he will be here if he can so shape his engagements. McCarthy apparently is slated to be in New York Tuesday of next week. At that time the schedule committee will meet to adopt the playing drafts for the season, and many of the pilots

INDIAN WEST TO BOX AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

The beating tom-toms you hear herald the march of Indian Tiger West, Indian brave middleweight warrior from Greenville, Tex., toward the top of the fighting clans.

Riding Moon War Eagle is the real name of the Indian who fights Henry Firpo, of Louisville, in the main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, tonight, and who has just been signed to battle Young Guido, of Sharon, in the windup at the Moose Temple, downtown, next Friday night.

The birth certificate of Riding Moon War Eagle, as displayed by his manager, Albert (Butch) Kesner, of Monessen, shows that he is the son of Chief John Metoquah and May Flower Francis, and that he was born in Greenville, Tex., February 24, 1908. For some time he fought out of Phoenix, Ariz., under the name of the Arizona Kid, and his boyhood haunts were in the vicinity of the hills in which Irene Schroeder, the Blonde Trigger Woman, and Glenn Dague, her companion, recently were captured. It is significant that he is fighting tonight in New Castle, where Dague and Irene now are languishing in jail.

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

From all sides come the highest recommendations for Indian Tiger West as a fighting man. He claims a victory over Billy Jones, local Negro light-heavyweight, who has been a sensation in the East, and also has beaten K. O. Kelly, of Akron, and Harry Fuller, of Niagara Falls, among others, and holds a knockout victory over Harry Williams, local Negro heavyweight.

Guido, who boxes West at the Moose Temple, will leave after this battle for New York, where he will place himself under the management of Hymie Canter, pilot of Ruby Goldstein and other good men. He is well known here for his bouts with Buck McTiernan and Mickey Solmen. He has boxed two draws with Solmen. He is a

SHEA EASTERN SPEED KING

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Jack Shea, Lake Placid Athletic Club veteran, crowned himself king of the speed skaters of the Eastern United States here yesterday. He showed his heels to the pack in every event of the men's Eastern United States speed skating championships, winning the 220, the 440 and the 880 yard events.

Only in a two-mile special race did he taste defeat, Irving Jeffee, of New York, placing first and Val Bialis, of Lake Placid, second, ahead of him.

Iowa to Accept Bids For Big Relay Meets

IOWA CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Invitations to compete in the Texas, Southern Methodist and Drake Relays probably will be accepted by the University of Iowa, George T. Bresnahan, track coach, said today.

A similar offer to enter the Ohio State relays, tendered prior to the Conference ouster action in December, will be declined unless Iowa is reinstated in the Western Conference, in which case the matter will be up to circuit authorities, Bresnahan indicated.

Negopoli Captures Coronado Handican

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Negopoli, running under the silks of Mrs. J. A. Coburn, won the Coronado Handicap for 3-year-olds and upwards, feature attraction at Agua Caliente yesterday.

T. H. McCrerry's Fire Brigade set the early pace, but could not match Negopoli's fast finish. Fire Brigade, however, lasted well enough to take the place with Benny Creech's Battle Axe, third. Negopoli ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:45 4-5 and paid $7.20 for a $2 mutuel ticket.

DUKES LEAD IN CONFERENCE FLOOR RACE

BISONS TOPPLE WESTMINSTER FROM PEAK

By JESS CARVER

Ho, ho, what MIGHT have happened in the old Tri-State Conference Saturday night! It must make some of the boys shudder this fine morning to think of the "might have been."

Chick Davies

At any rate, our own Dukes are riding high, wide and more or less handsome at the head of the Conference parade, principally because they turned in a very close 18-16 win over Thiel Lutherans. While the Dukes were taking Thiel, Bethany was forgetting about the extra period setback suffered here Tuesday at the hands of these selfsame Dukes and knocked off powerful Westminster, 31-21. That defeat for the Titans put 'em right out of the leadership, and moved the Dukes in.

It certainly would have left things in a fine muddle had Thiel taken over Monsieur Davies and his laddies. Such an occurence would have left the Dukes, Westminster, Geneva and Bethany in a four way tie, which would have been very difficult to break.

BISONS STOP TITANS

Bethany played some fine basketball in turning back the charge of the United Presbyterians. Although the Bisons carried the Dukes into an extra period here last week, the team didn't look so very hot, because its attack was not functioning with the smoothness that Furman Nuss earnestly desires. The boys were throwing 'em from their hip pockets, and they were dropping, else Duquesne might have won in regulation time. For a time in the second half, their shots refused to drop—but why go into all that now? Senseless, isn't it?

Thiel can always be counted upon to make it tough for Duquesne. According to the report of the game, from the efficient Mr. Johnson, of Meadville, the Dukes had one heck of a time crashing through. A field goal by Slim McGeever and a foul shot by Brud Stephens with the old boll game just about gone put the locals out in front, a spot it is very, very nice to find onesself at all times.

HAIL WESLEYAN

And while you were digesting yesterday's wheat cakes, sausage and the sporting news, did you happen to notice what old Wesleyan did to West Virginia? For the first time in four long years, a Bobcat team kicked over a Mountaineer quintet. Just imagine the joy that must have reigned in Buckhamon after that win.

Wesleyan will now attract some attention as it swings through this sector this week. The Bobcats play Waynesburg and Grove City in the brief trip hereabouts.

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Duquesne	3	0	1.000	Geneva	2	1	.667
Westminster	2	1	.667	Thiel	0	3	.000
Bethany	2	1	.667	Waynesburg	0	3	.000

If it were not for a flock of basketball doubleheads and Tech-Westminster basketball game Wednesday this week would be an ideal time to run down to Miami for a much-needed rest.

The collegiates seem to be more or less busy with mid-year exams, and the local teams, with the exception of Tech, are playing out of town. Pitt goes to Syracuse for a ball game Saturday, and the Duquesne leaves town the same day to play in Bethany.

The Tip-off

I rise to my feet to recommend: Lunch with Dean John Egan and get him to explain some of his court cases to you. He can make the circuit case in the world interesting.

Alan Fritz Forchheimer's laughable tale of his chance for an appointment to Annapolis.

And get John Dreshar to tell about the time he was hunting jack rabbits in Texas and one came to life and tried to take off two of John's fingers.

Sam Williams Runs Second at Vincennes

VINCENNES, France, Jan. 27—(AP.)—Sam Williams' second attempt to earn his brackets on French trotting tracks was a great improvement over his first effort, for the fast stepping son of Peter Scott, out of Blizzie, finished a bang-up second in a field of 13 starters in the International Handicap here yesterday.

The distance, a mile and three furlongs, again proved a bit too far for the American trotter, used to mile competition. Joe Haldeman had G. H. Tipling's Speedster in front two furlongs from home, but Bravade, an outsider at 8-to-1 in the betting, came up to beat out the tiring leader.

DAVEY BANKS

Although his team failed to win the first half championship of the American Professional Basketball League, Davey Banks, former star of the South Philadelphia Hebrew Association, original New York Celtics and Hakoah teams, succeeded in leading all scorers in the major basketball loop. He will appear in the South Side Market House here next Thursday night, when the Fort Wayne Guards meet the Goldensons. Banks joined Fort Wayne following the break-up of the Celtics.

The second half of the Allegheny County League basketball race will be ushered in tonight when the Fintex team opposes the Goldensons on the Duquesne University floor. The Fintex quintet, despite the loss of Bill Miller and Johnny Serbin, who have joined the J. J. Veronas, will send a smooth-working floor machine against the Goldensons tonight.

The Fintex team is eager to make amends for its failure to win the first half championship and will be out tonight to start its second half schedule with a victory over the South Siders. The Goldensons made an exceptionally good showing in the first half, finishing the schedule in a deadlock with the Homestead Ackermans for second honors.

The two clubs have been basketball rivals for many years and they are noted for the caliber of ball played when opposed to each other. Tonight's contest should not prove an exception.

The preliminary game will feature the Lou Gordon Juniors, who have yet to suffer a defeat this season.

Dribbles

In the West Penn League tonight, North side Community House and the Bay Schneiders clash in the second battle of their playoff series to determine the first-half championship. In the other West Penn game tonight, Kingsley House plays at the South Side Falcons.

Davey Banks and Johnny Buckman, both former members of the New York Celtics, will be in the Fort Wayne lineup next Thursday night when the pro leaguers meet the Goldensons at the South Side Market House.

The Goldensons Vanities will face one of their hardest tests of the season at the South Side Market House Wednesday night when they meet the Fairmont Pythians, 1929 champions of the Mountain state. The West Virginia sextet is said to be one of the best in the eastern part of the country.

The Philadelphia Company Pioneer operations tonight at Fifth Avenue High School with two games on the program. Dylander meets Pittsburgh Railways and Duquesne Light opposes Philadelphia Company.

The Red McMahan Club of the South Side, former junior champions of the city, has been reorganized and is ready to hear from all junior and light first-class teams in Western Pennsylvania. The team, including the two Longwins, Savetsik, Mason, Shack, Brown, Sherman, Jesko, Huddy and Derry, is the same that defeated Les Goodwin 39 to 28 earlier this season. For games write Stephen Shack, 32 South Twentieth street, or call Hemlock 1483-J.

McKees Rocks defeated Homestead, 34 to 17, in a Steel League game played yesterday. The lineup:

McKees Rks.		Homestead
Krichka	F	Burgess
Mankoski	F	Lapinski

MALONEY NEXT FOR HERR MAX

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Max Schmeling will emerge from behind his barbed-sauerkraut entanglements before the end of March to meet Jimmy Maloney, of Boston, in some German ring, by way of warming up the old target eye for the big sharpshooting that is to come later on. It will be Schmeling's first start since the New York Boxing Commission put the bowser on him last summer and it also will be his last before going in with the Sharkey-Scott survivor on June 26 for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The Maloney match hasn't been definitely made, but Joe Jacobs, the manager who sometimes knows what his fighter has decided to do, seemed to take it for granted today that Maloney was "set." I didn't ask him, but I presume he knows just when Maloney may stop being set and become upset. It is always comforting to know these things; otherwise a warm-up is liable to be one of those things that boil right over on you.

In this connection, to know Mr. Maloney is to love him. A good fighter against the muggs, he is a mugg against the good ones; in fact, he is that most desirable of all opponents, namely, a very reliable mugg.

His record is clean. There never has been a complaint against him. Yet the man is not wholly without menace. He has had his moments.

He was good enough, for example, to prove that Sharkey was qualified to meet Dempsey and he was entirely too good the night they tried to disguise Jack Delaney as a heavyweight championship prize fighter. In other words, they used to pay off with Maloney; now they use him in the bull pen for purposes of the warm up, a sort of gnarled old backstop who takes what the pitchers have to throw and then sends them into the real ball game. Too many punches have hit Maloney on the countenance and, for his own good, not enough of them have bounced.

Sunday Racing Goes Over Big At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The first legitimate Sunday horse racing in the history of New Orleans was put on yesterday at the Fair Grounds race track as a benefit for the local Elks Club, and 20,000 persons went out and sent $265,000 through the mutuel betting machines.

It represented both the largest crowd and the heaviest betting on this winter's racing season. It brought approximately $60,000 to the Elks toward lifting the mortgage off of their building.

CARDS' SPRING SCHEDULE SET

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The 1930 spring exhibition of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced yesterday, calls for 28 games, 15 of them with major league clubs.

The entire Redbird squad will report for spring training at Bradenton, Fla., March 3, a week later than usual. The first exhibition game is scheduled for March 8, and the last one April 13. There will be no exhibition games during the trip home. The major league opponents will include the World Champion Athletics, the Boston Braves, Detroit Tigers, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Yankees, and the St. Louis Browns. The Cardinals also will play Rochester, Tampa and Indianapolis in exhibition games in the South.

Kentucky's Grid Card Complete

With the exception of a tentative game with the Oregon Aggies in Portland on September 27, the football schedule for the University of Kentucky is complete.

The schedule follows:

September 27, Oregon at Portland (tentative); October 4, Sewanee at Lexington (night game); 11, Maryville at Lexington; 18, Washington and Lee at Lexington; 25, Virginia at Lexington.
November 1, Alabama at Lexington; 8, Duke at Durham, N. C.; 15, V. M. I. at Lexington; 27, Tennessee at Knoxville.

Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency...join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

He tried to "get away"... but they caught him in the act. And yet his filthy habit is no more disgusting than the bestial custom of the workman who rolls cigars with dirty fingers and spits on the ends!

Why punish the one, yet tolerate the vile practice of the other? Smoke Certified Cremo and protect yourself against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar your physician has in mind when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof... immaculate... foil-wrapped ... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly had in mind when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

PURDUE SETS WESTERN CONFERENCE PACE

PENN FIVE TOPS EASTERN LOOP TITLE RACE

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Nothing can happen this week to the holds of Purdue and Wisconsin on first and second places in the Western Conference basketball race. Neither will see action against a league foe, the three games of the schedule being confined to members of the second division.

Michigan, however, will have an opportunity to push itself back into at least a threatening position. The Wolverines, co-holders of the 1929 title, got away to a poor start, but in mauling Indiana, 45 to 26 last week, apparently located its stride and should win both of its battles this week. Michigan will meet Minnesota at Ann Arbor tonight and will invade Chicago Friday night.

PURDUE PLAYS LOYOLA

The Wolverines defeated Minnesota, 32 to 17, in their opening game, and on their own court, should do at least as well. Chicago, riddled by injuries, seems a cinch to lose to Michigan. The third game will provide the second meeting between Ohio State and Minnesota and will be played at Minneapolis.

While Purdue will not engage a conference opponent this week, the Boilermakers will run into what promises to be terrific competition when Loyola's wonder team invades Lafayette Saturday night.

The contest will bring the first meeting of the two Charley Murphys, a pair of the greatest centers in basketball. Loyola Charley has led his team to a record of 34 consecutive triumphs while Purdue Charley—the great Stretch—6 feet 7 inches tall—has been ranked as peerless in the Conference.

PENN, COLUMBIA LEAD

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Play in the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League so far has been a triumph for home court teams. Eight games have been played so far and in every instance the invaders have been turned back on the short end of the score.

Penn and Columbia, the leaders, have benefitted most. Penn has won two games, both on its home floor, and lost none. Columbia beat Princeton at New York in its only start. Princeton's two victories have been recorded on the Tigers' own court and its two defeats away from home. Dartmouth, Cornell and Yale each have made one home stand and taken advantage of it while their tallies on foreign courts ahve proved disastrous.

During the past week only one league game was played, Princeton nosing out Yale in a close struggle at Princeton. The victory sent Princeton into a percentage tie with Dartmouth for third place in the standing while Yale dropped into the cellar with one victory in four starts.

No games will be played this week, the next league game being Columbia's tangle with Dartmouth at Hanover, Wednesday of next week.

NEBRASKA KEEPS PLACE

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Nebraska strengthened its hold on third place in the Big Six basketball race last week while the leaders, Kansas and Missouri were idle. The Kansas Aggies rose from the bottom to fourth and Oklahoma, losing two more games, took full possession of the cellar, an unusual [illegible] for a Sooner squad.

The Cornhusker team, Conference champion in 1929, lost to Nebraska, 20 to 35, and to the Kansas Aggies, 23 to 24. The Cornhuskers then trimmed Iowa State, 32 to 22. Those three games constituted the Conference activity for the week.

Don MacClay, Nebraska center, by accurate and consistent shooting in the Oklahoma and Iowa State games took the individual Conference scoring lead with 50 points. Tom Churchill, Oklahoma captain and forward and individual leader last season is second with 30 points in four games.

How to Play Basketball

What vital points must be considered in developing an attack?

Answered by

J. E. M'CUTCHEON,

Basketball coach, University of Toronto (Canadian national champions).

The offensive will start, in the majority of cases, from the tip-off and from out-of-bound plays. Possession from interceptions, etc., may be treated similarly to out-of-bound plays. Do not specialize on tip-off plays and neglect out-of-bound plays, etc. Care should be taken always to keep a defensive formation available.

Offense is a series of rapidly changing situations which must be covered by a system of play. This system should be changed to meet the particular system of defense it opposes. The system will carry you through to a certain extent. It is essential that every man react to the situation and use his own brains to carry it through.

A team poorly drilled in the fundamentals of the game never can hope to be a successful offensive team. The whole success of your offense depends upon your ability to pass, pivot and dribble. Basketball today calls for a short shot. No system of play will bring you to this position without the aid of the fundamentals. So develop your passing, etc., know your system and stick to it.

IOWAN ADDS TO LAURELS

When the Eastern all-star team defeated the Western all-stars in San Francisco New Year's Day, the outstanding performer in a field of brilliant football players was a dashing back from the east, Willis A. Glassgow, of the University of Iowa. It was a fitting climax to Glassgow's career, for he was captain of the 1929 Iowa team and had played his last game in intercollegiate competition against Michigan.

A four-yard advance each time he carried the ball on a scrimmage play was the three-year average of Glassgow at the Hawkeye institution. On the official records he is credited with gains totaling 1,424 yards in 364 attempts.

Glassgow made his finest average last fall, 4.2 yards, but made the greatest amount of yardage in the 1928 campaign, 546 yards. His total was reduced during the past season by his absence from one game and appearance for only a brief interval in another.

Eighty points were scored by the Hawkeye star, the total being amassed by 10 touchdowns, 17 field goals after touchdown and one field goal from placement. He missed only five chances to score the extra point after touchdown by place kick.

JOE CANTILLON, BASEBALL VET, NEAR DEATH

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The condition of Pongo Joe Cantillon, the "Grand Old Man of Baseball," was unchanged today, doctors announcing that he had practically no chance to recover. Only his iron constitution and his strong will were keeping him alive, they said.

Pongo Joe, as he has been known for many years from coast to coast, suffered a stroke a few days ago, but, because it was believed he would recover rapidly as he did nearly three years ago when his first stroke forced him to give up managership of the Little Rock club in the Southern Association, his condition was kept from even his best friends and associates.

GIVEN LAST RITES

A turn for the worse took place yesterday and Rev. Father Gettlefinger, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church here, was called in to administer the last rites of the church.

At the same time his brother, Mike Cantillon, with whom he was associated with many years in the ownership of the Minneapolis club, of the American Association, was notified in Los Angeles, as were Judge Landis, Charles Comiskey and a few intimate friends of many years' standing. Judge Landis talked to Mrs. Cantillon over the long distance phone and expressed the deep regret and sympathy of the entire baseball world at the serious illness of the beloved veteran.

Pongo Joe has been active in baseball for 46 years, and last year was supervisor of umpires for the American Association and was eagerly looking forward to another year in harness. He will be 65 years old August 19, having been born in Janesville, Wis., in 1865.

TAKES TURN FOR WORSE

When Joe came home from Florida recently he seemed to be in better health than for the past three years, although he was unable to go to his hunting lodge on Reelfoot Lake for the duck shooting which has been one of his chief delights for many years. A few nights ago he started to bed and fell in a heap on the floor. He was perfectly rational until Saturday night and laughed and joked about his condition, commanding his family to keep it quiet as he would be out in a few days.

Joe has discovered and developed some of the greatest players the game has ever seen including Amos Rusie, Rube Waddell, Walter Johnson and a host of others. Joe has lived in Hickman some 20 years, having admired the city while on a trip down the Mississippi by boat. His record for consecutive seasons in the National pastime will never be equalled, as he has been actively in the game as player, umpire, manager, owner, secretary, scout, since 1884.

Carnera in Chicago For Rioux Battle

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera and his retinue, including two sparring partners, his manager, and a drawing instructor, today were here to prepare for the Italian's western boxing debut with Elzear Rioux, at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

Carnera, who conquered Big Boy Peterson in less than a round in New York Friday night, is on the same bill with Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle, N. Y., lightweight, and King Tut, rough Minneapolis puncher, who meet in a return match at the Chicago Stadium.

Long's Sport Comment

lightweight championship, denies the charges said to have been made by Phil Scott on the other side that English fighters are treated unfairly in this country by promoters, officials and fans.

Knute Rockne

"Not only English boxers, but the fighters of all other nations receive the best of treatment in the United States," Berg says. "The worst I ever got in America was an even break." Berg has found this country a profitable field financially, too. During his present visit, which is his second, he has taken part in 15 bouts, and these have netted him $60,000. He is in line to make a lot more with an Al Singer match next on the program, and then, if he defeats Singer, a bout with Mandell for the title.

FROM J. R. D. comes a query as to the records of Notre Dame and Nebraska for the full period of their football competition with each other. The Cornhuskers hold the distinction of having defeated the Irish oftener than any other opponent was able to beat the South Benders. The teams met annually from 1915 to 1925, inclusive, and when relations were broken off following the 1925 season honors were even, each school having won five games, with one other contest resulting in a tie. Nebraska was particularly a thorn in the side of Knute Rockne. From 1918, when he started as head coach, until the end of the 1925 season, Rockne lost only six games, and three of these defeats were suffered at the hands of the Cornhuskers. The results years by year were as follows: 1915, Nebraska 20, Notre Dame 19; 1916, Notre Dame 20, Nebraska 0; 1917, Nebraska 7, Notre Dame 0; 1918, scoreless tie; 1919, Notre Dame 14, Nebraska 9; 1920, Notre Dame 16, Nebraska 9; 1921, Notre Dame 7, Nebraska 0; 1922, Nebraska 14, Notre Dame 6; 1923, Nebraska 14, Notre Dame 7; 1924, Notre Dame 34, Nebraska 6; 1925, Nebraska 17, Notre Dame 0.

rangy, clever former welterweight and a good puncher.

Promoter Flynn made the West-Guido match after first planning a windup between Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, and Young Saylor, of Charleroi, which fell through when Pirrone was injured in his bout with Tommy Freeman at Cleveland last week. Then he was working on a match for either Benny Schwartz or Johnny Dunn when he had a chance to grab the colorful West and lost no time availing himself of the opportunity.

ROBERTS MEETS DELUCA

In the semi-final, Flynn will present Hans Roberts, the German welterweight, who has proved himself one of the most popular boxers ever to perform in the Moose Temple, against Cowboy DeLuca, of Lawrenceville. Roberts has lost only one bout since he came around here, to Tom Malco, of Soho, at the Moose, after he had beaten Young Joe Walcott, Marty Simmons, Young Rudy and Dominick Profio there. He also won over Walcott at Oil City and came back after the Malco setback to defeat Joe Cannal, of Youngstown, at Motor Square Garden. He did not show to his usual good advantage in the Cannal bout, but won all of the way.

It develops that a coolness has sprung up between Roberts and his manager, Johnny Deutsch, which has been adjusted by the boxing commission to the extent that Deutsch will continue to receive his "cut" of Hans' purses, but will not have anything to do with handling him. The one-year contract between them, which Roberts alleges is not binding, has eight more months to go. Hans hopes to fight his way back to a return bout with Malco and promises to turn the tables if given a chance. He was cut on both eyelids in the seventh round of their bout at the Moose Temple and the fight was stopped to save him later when he signaled he was unable to see. He claims that his seconds permitted iodine to run into his eyes, thus incapacitating him, and this is one of his grievances against his manager.

Between Rounds

In addition to the West-Flynn show at New Castle, in the semi-final of which Howard Marberry, of Donora, meets Johnny Wills, of Philadelphia, shows involving Pittsburgh district boxers are listed tonight at Washington, Pa., Oil City, Williamsport, Y. M. C. A. and Cumberland.

Tuc Phillips boxes Johnny Schupsack in the main bout at Oil City. Young Joe Walcott opposes Young Rudy again and Dominick Profio meets Joe Rick in two eight-rounders at the Washington Coliseum, and Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, opposes Red Bush in the main bout at Cumberland.

Five System boxing champions and four wrestling titleholders will defend their crowns in the Pennsylvania Railroad ring and mat show at the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A. tonight. A card of 10 boxing bouts and six mat struggles has been arranged. Stanley Simonski, heavyweight champion, will box John Toth. In the middleweight class, Bob Kraps takes on Dave Davies, and Davies, who will attempt to take the middleweight crown as well as retain the 147-pound honors, also meets Walter Czyzewski in the lighter division. Frankie Moran, ruler of the lightweights, battles Benny Nemion and Johnny Haggerty is booked to defend his bantamweight title against George Tomosky. Joe Martin, 175-pounder; P. C. Abate, 160-pounder, O. Yost, 147-pounder, and A. Murching, 135-pounder, are the mat champions who will risk their titles.

PRELIMINARY BOOKED

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has added the opening bout to his card for his Mickey Solmen-Gene Moretti show next Thursday night. It will bring together Sammy Chiodo, of the West End, and Abe Dempsey, of New Kensington, welterweights. Thad Yarnot, of Monaca, and Jackie Herman, of Wheeling, will box the semi-final. The second bout will be arranged today.

Local amateur boxing fans are looking for a treat when they see the stars of the Pittsburgh talent perform against Cleveland's all-star team in the Intercity show at the Keystone A. C., tomorrow night.

LOUGHRAN NO SPAR MATE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Joe Smith, manager for Tommy Loughran, former light-heavyweight champion, said today that reports from Miami that Jack Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley, had invited Tommy to help train Sharkey for his bout with Phil Scott are "hokum."

Smith said about a week ago Buckley asked him to have Loughran share Sharkey's training camp for Tommy's preparations for his semi-windup bout with Pierre Charles. Smith said he refused on the ground that he expected Loughran to meet Sharkey some time in the future and would not think of having Tommy train in the Sailor's camp.

Smith said he supposed Buckley wanted Tommy in Sharkey's camp because of Loughran's popularity and to add interest to the place. Smith added he would establish his own camp in the South.

"Instead of Loughran helping to train Sharkey," Smith said, "I would rather have Sharkey help Tommy."

Waynesburg Cards St. Bonaventure

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Announcement was made here today by James M. Miller, faculty manager of athletics at Waynesburg College, that negotiations have been closed whereby the Waynesburg College football team will play St. Bonaventure College at Olean Municipal Stadium, Olean, N. Y., October 11.

The game will mark the first resumption of athletic relations between the two schools since 1922, when the New Yorkers were defeated by Waynesburg, 33-16, in a game played in Waynesburg.

Booking of the Saints leaves only one open date on the Waynesburg football schedule for next fall.

Trafton to Meet Battling Criss In Chicago

DETROIT, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Battling Criss, Detroit heavyweight, whose claim to prominence consists in his alleged refusal to "take a dive" at the request of managers for Art Shires, was signed yesterday to meet George (Super-Great) Trafton, at the Chicago Coliseum, February 7, according to announcement by Leonard Sacks, business manager for Jack Dempsey's Boxing Club.

The Criss-Trafton bout will be an added attraction on the card which features Ezri Mastro and Pete Zivic, of Pittsburgh, for the main go.

and club presidents will be around to talk contract with various players.

The committee appears to have scored heavily in their success in landing Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis for the big occasion. The white-haired commissioner of the sport is a dominating figure, and his presence here is sure to add zest to the dinner.

The same thing might be said of President John A. Heydler, of the National League, who also intends to be present, in the event that he can get cleaned up on his business of next week. Prexy Heydler long has been one of the leading figures of baseball; his appearance and address here will be greeted by a large crowd.

ROOM FOR BIG CROWD

John L. Hernon, secretary of the local chapter, and the man who is looking after the reservations for the dinner, reported today that while there was a big advance request, he was in a position to take care of everybody. The banquet will be held in Pirate Hall, which offers ample room for 1,200 or more guests.

Hernon and his co-workers would like to impress on the fans and followers of all sports that it is not necessary to receive an invitation. These sport dinners were arranged with the idea of bringing together many representatives of every sport and it is the wish of the committee to see the various devotees out on big numbers.

The secretary can be reached by writing to him or by telephone. His address is John L. Hernon, Box 218, Pittsburgh. His telephone number is Montrose 3264.

SHARKEY WINS FORTUNE

Jack Sharkey, leading contender for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, has grossed $2,005,363 in gate receipts at his fights and may surpass Jack Dempsey's mark before he is through.

Carl Mays Signs With Portland Club

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 27.—The Portland Club of the Pacific Coast League today announced the signing of Carl Mays, former pitcher of the New York Yankees, New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds.

Mays, who drew his unconditional release from the Giants last season, had received numerous offers to hurl for minor league clubs, but decided to join the Portland club, where he got his baseball start.

By TOM BIRKS.

One of the most brilliant games of the soccer season was flashed yesterday afternoon when Thoms Run and the Heidelberg Eagles, two clubs from the same district, met in the second round of the National amateur cup. With the largest crowd of the season on hand, Thoms Run went into the third round through a 1-to-0 victory, Chappell, former Heidelberg star, scoring the only goal 30 minutes after the start.

Both clubs have been going great in cup ties this season, and fans generally figured the game would be close.

The Eagles did not deserve to lose the game on the day's play, a draw would have filled the bill, but it was a typical local derby, with sensational football.

FIELD IS SLIPPERY

The only thing that detracted from the afternoon's sport was a slippery field. The soft snow was soon trod down and the players experienced difficulty in keeping their feet.

It was a battle of defensive soccer. Kyle and Gillespie, for Heidelberg, and Darkus, Gardner and Smart, for Thoms Run, scintillated with wonderful clearances time after time, and the forward lines strove hard to break down opposing defenses.

It was 30 minutes after the start when Chappell tallied. He is usually a marked man, for the boy that wore the green and gold of Heidelberg last season in the same tourney is a dead shot at the penalty mark. Twisting around sharply, his parting shot beat Fitch, who might have saved had he not slipped and fell. But it was a goal and it won the game for Thoms Run.

CHAPPELL SCORES

Both teams struggled to score, although nothing happened after that. The game was skillfully handled by George Lumsden. There were no outstanding stars. Every player seemed to be a star, and no substitutes were used.

The Pierpoint Motors-Detroit Carburetors, National open championship game scheduled at Detroit yesterday was called off again due to poor weather conditions.

Other district games played yesterday found Gallatin, which copped the West Penn Cup final, easily winning over Harwick, 3 to 0, in their American League battle; the Kramers defeated Bridgemont, 2 to 0, and the Horning Rovers tripped Bower Hill, 1 to 0, in the Chartiesr League. Jessop Steel and Canonsburg deadlocked at 1-1 in the Washington County League charity final. The lineups:

Dick Shikat Risks Mat Title Tonight

Jim Londos, Greek titleholder, who has been starred from Maine to California, opposes George Hagen, the Marine, in the supporting role.

Another match will feature Ferenc Holuban, Hungarian, European champion, in his debut here against Jack Washburn.

Forbes

Trade, Stocks, Employment Slowly Mend.

By B. C. FORBES—

THINGS appear to be already modestly on the mend January will make a moderately better showing than December did; February should hold the gains made; March should bring more definite improvement.

That applies to industry, to business, to employment, to the security markets.

THE stock market crash was the swiftest and severest in America's history. The aftermath promises to be the mildest and briefest ever experienced after a major financial collapse.

HOW sound most industries were, how complete was the absence of inflation in the business world, is testified by the non-appearance of hysterics, deflation and demoralization following the stock panic. Commodity price levels have, on the whole, been well maintained. Unemployment has been kept within bounds—there has been no clamor for soup-kitchens here, there, all over the country. There has not been a deluge of either commercial or financial failures. There have even been but few dividends reduced or stopped—not as many, in fact, as have been increased.

That is a phenomenal post-panic record.

GENERAL MOTORS has raised its production schedules this month. Ford's Detroit plants have taken on 5,000 additional workers in the last few weeks. Certain other motor manufacturers, after a very quiet spell, also are quickening their production. Since the motor industry's activities have a greater sentimental—if not actual—influence upon business than those of any other one industry, this more cheerful news from the automotive world is peculiarly gratifying. Should consumptive demand prove satisfactory during the first two or three months of the year, it would point to at least normally good general business during the rest of the year.

THE older generation attached more significance to iron and steel production than to any other economic yardstick. The notable rebound in operations since last month is, therefore, well worth noting. Moreover, the industry's leaders talk quite optimistically concerning prospects.

Unquestionably, very large expenditures for heavy construction work will be made in coming months. Samuel Insull, utilities colossus of the Middle-West, announces the launching of a $27,500,000 addition to one plant, near Hammond, Ind. Gov. Emmerson, of Illinois, tells me that his state "contemplates projects involving the expenditure of approximately $60,000,000." The information laid before last week's session of President Hoover's economic council was so encouraging that, said an official statement, there is no need for emergency measures to take care of the situation. Under the circumstances the high hopes of steel producers may be fulfilled.

PROGRESS apparently is being made toward consummating long-planned eastern railway consolidations of great magnitude. It is now assumed that the interstate commerce commission could not well do other than sanction merger measures strictly in accordance with its own recommendations. Concrete developments of this kind would have a far-reaching, stimulating influence. The response by the stock market might mark the inauguration of a definitely-upward trend throughout the whole list.

Incidentally, industry, utility, financial and other mergers have been only delayed, not killed, by Wall Street events.

EACH day brought some gain last week in average stock quotations, a contrast with other recent weeks, when irregularity was the rule.

Just as patients need rest after a serious operation, so quietness in Wall Street is beneficial even though it is proving irksome to those who had come to imagine that the 5,000,000-share days were entirely normal and that a turn over of 8,000,000 shares represented nothing abnormal. One's connection with the financial world need not stretch far back to recall when a "one million share day" constituted front page news.

Gradually it is transpiring that the tales of countless mountains of stock "overhanging" the market are mostly mythical. Forced selling probably has been almost completed. Certainly such liquidation as may remain to be done cannot be of an urgent character.

INDICATIONS now are that the public is distinctly more disposed to buy than to sell stocks. Brokers' loans are again down to nearly the after-panic minimum. The federal reserve ratio of reserve has risen to 75.3 against 69.3 a year ago. Call loans have been available daily at as low as 4 per cent officially and 3½ per cent unofficially. Time money is down at 4½ to 4¾ per cent whereas a year ago the charge was 7½ to 7¾ per cent. Gold is now coming in, not going out.

WHILE acknowledging that industrial and business conditions are far from ideal, that unemployment is a problem meriting the most earnest attention from our ablest business statesmen, that wheat and corn and certain other foreign products are unpleasantly low for growers, nevertheless signs become each week a little more convincing that the next decisive move in stocks is likely to be upwards—probably irregularly upwards.

WARD'S PROFIT SMALLER

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Montgomery Ward & Co. net profits for 1929 was $13,434,935 after charges and taxes, equal after Class A dividends to $2.60 a share on 4,620,768 common shares against $17,703,835, or $4.77 a share, on 3,410,983 shares in 1928.

The report gives gross sales by mail order for 1929 at $166,677,173, as compared with $171,072,363 for the preceding year. Gross sales for chain and department stores for 1929 are given at $124,853,448, compared with $61,282,375 for 1928.

"Our profit performance for 1929," the president said, "compares unfavorably with 1928, for one definite reason—the large profit recession in the mail order branch of the business, caused by the abnormal expense incurred in the prepayment of all shipments to customers.

"Our competitors adopted the prepayment policy early in 1929. We withheld prepaying shipping charges the first six months. However, during that time, mail order sales receded so rapidly that we adopted the plan for the second six month without adequate adjustment to the new conditions. Had our mail order profits during 1929 approached normal performance, we would have secured a substantial increase in earnings over 1928. The prepayment plan, which proved so burdensome in 1929, has been modified and changes in our selling and other expenses this year will offset to a very substantial extent the cost of the present prepayment plan."

Despite the drop in net earnings compared with 1928 the balance sheet shows more than $37,000,000 in cash and loans on call as compared with almost $14,000,000 at the end of the preceding year. The rato of current assets to current liabilities is 11.08 to 1 as compared with $5.42 to 1 at the end of 1928.

During 1929, 258 chain stores were placed in operation, bringing the total for the past two years to 532 units.

20 STOCK FAKE PLANS BARED

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Twenty outstanding forms of stock fraud encountered by the Attorney General's State Bureau of Securities in its investigations last year, were described in its report for the year.

During the past year, the report said, 342 firms and individuals in New York City were put out of business temporarily or permanently by court actions brought by the bureau.

Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn, head of the bureau, in listing the 20 forms in his report, placed the use of the long distance telephone by swindlers in a class of its own.

"The long distance telephone," he said, "is the back-log of a vast majority of security frauds. It may be said that any long distance telephone call from a stranger advising the purchase of any security is almost certainly fraudulent."

The report said that the old-fashioned bucketshop is still to be found and cited the case of Dewolfe, Stewart & Co., "with its imposing list of seven branches in many different cities."

The glamour of a famous name or a new and romantic field, such as aviation, were also utilized by fraudulent promoters, the report said.

Henry Ford's name was used by about 30 "crooked brokers."

NEW OFFERINGS

New security offerings today include the following:

Central Gas and Electric Company (Central Public Service Corporation subsidiary), $10,000,000 three-year 5½ per cent gold notes at 98¼ and interest, yielding about 6.15 per cent, offered by a group headed by Harris, Forbes and Company, and including H. M. Byllesby and Company, Central-Illinois Company, West and Company and Albert E. Pierce and Company.

Iowa Public Service Company (controlled by the American Electric Power Corporation), $1,000,000 first mortgage 5½ per cent gold bonds, series due 1959. The bonds are priced at 98½ and accrued interest, yielding more than 5.60 per cent, offered by Bonbright and Company and A. C. Allyn and Company.

Cal. Oil Output Higher for Week

California crude oil output in the week ended January 25 averaged 703,200 barrels daily, or an increase of 5,200 barrels daily over the previous week, according to The Oil World.

Big Stores Slash Cigaret Prices In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—R. H. Macy & Co. has reduced prices of popular brands of cigarets from 80c to 74c per carton.

Bloomingdale's announced a price of 79c a carton for popular brands cigarets until stock is disposed. The statement said the store will resume selling cigarets at prices that are competitively right "when common sense rules again."

Stock Exchange Topics

U. S. Steel Corp. Meeting Arouses Speculative Interest.

AS usual, speculative interest will be centered momentarily around the meeting of steel directors scheduled to follow the close of the market tomorrow. At that time operating results for the final quarter of last year will be available, and earnings in all probability will reflect vividly the sharp let-down in the corporation's activities experienced in that period. It is estimated now that results for the full year will show slightly better than $18 a share earned on 8,132,840 shares of common stock outstanding as against $11.61 a share on 7,116,235 shares in 1928. Net for the first nine months amounted to $15.82 a share as against $8.18 a share in the corresponding period of the previous year. This would indicate a balance earned for the last quarter of a little more than $2 a share as against $5.87 in the previous quarter and $3.43 a share in the final quarter of 1928.

New York Central has been prominent in the railway group. Buying has been usually persistent, yet not openly aggressive, but has tended nevertheless to reveal a rather small floating supply around currently prevailing levels. The activity in the stock has tended to revive rumors that an increase from the present $8 dividend rate may be looked for some time this year. It is expected that the consolidation into the system of several of its incipal subsidiaries through long term leases, recently sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be reflected in substantial economies during 1930.

FROM the automobile trade comes the report that Auburn Motor's January sales are running approximately 50 per cent ahead of the same month last year. This stock proved the leader in the automobile group in 1929 and those who are looking for an upturn in some of the motor shares are particularly friendly to Auburn. Last year the company earned over $23 a share, and at current levels it is selling about eight times these figures. Management was highly successful in purchasing its properties at low prices, but nevertheless a liberal depreciation policy has been followed. Good-will is carried on the books at $1.

Interests usually well informed on the affairs of Air Reduction are of the opinion that income last year exceeded $20,000,000, compared with $16,500,000 in 1928. The latter was equivalent to $4.61 a share, which earnings estimates for 1929 run between $7.50 and $8 a share. Company maintains a large staff of scientists who are constantly finding new uses for its products. Those familiar with the field in which Air Reduction operates believe that the opportunities for future expansion are almost unlimited.

FOR some time past there has been considerable speculation over the future course of the price of copper. On this subject E. A. Pierce & Co. says: "Copper remains at 18 cents a pound, but production has been severely curtailed and it is logical to assume that currently net earnings are running at a relatively low rate. There are, moreover, no signs of a stepping up in production in the near future, without which it would be difficult to stimulate market interest in the copper shares."

In the closing sessions this week Consolidated Gas established a new high since the December peak and Columbia Gas moved within striking distance of its last month's top. Those inclined to the utilities stocks are particularly favorable to these issues feeling that should any sustained movement occur in this section of the list Columbia and Consolidated will be among the leaders. Earnings of both organizations have long been on the upgrade.

Pgh. Plate Acquires Standard Warehouse

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., has taken over the business of the Standard Plate Glass Company at Youngstown, O. H. C. Kentzel is to be the local agent.

It is reported that the branches of the Standard located at Boston, Mass., Buffalo, N. Y., and Cincinnati, O., are to be liquidated. Stocks of merchandise at these places are being taken over by other companies located in the cities mentioned.

General Motors Head in India Fined

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 27—(AP.)—G. K. Seers, managing director, and F. C. Richards, production manager of the General Motors, the biggest American motor factory in India, were fined 1,500 and 500 rupees respectively today on charges of allowing boys under age to work overtime.

The offenses were alleged to be in contravention to the factory act.

National Steel Co. Rebuilding Furnace

National Steel Corporation has closed down its blast furnace at the Weirton Steel Company plant at Weirton, W. Va. for reconstruction.

The new furnace, which will be completed and in operation early in April, will have a capacity of more than 1,100 tons and will be the largest in the world.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—A fair degree of improvement was shown by listed bonds in today's early trading. Rails and utilities shook off some of their legarthy, suggesting that assimilation of the new financing had progressed to a point where attention would be shifted back to seasoned securities. United States governments were firm and rather active.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Head Up — Local Market Steady

STOCKS START IRREGULAR, TURN UP

Recovery Resumed When New Leaders in Steel, Copper Groups Appear

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The recovery in the stock market, which started last week and lifted the general level of prices out of the narrow trading area within which they had been fluctuating since before Chritsmas, was resumed after an early period of irregularity today. New leaders, particularly in the steel, copper and food groups, were brought forward by operators for the advance when heavy profit taking retarded the rise in some of the recent favorites.

While there were no tangible developments in the day's news to affect the price movement, buying operations in many issues were based on the theory that the recent upturn in steel operations presaged a general recovery in business by spring. Call money repeated the familiar performance of opening at 4½ and then dropping to 4 when a plentiful supply of funds made its appearance in the market.

MAIL ORDERS RECOVER

Montgomery Ward fell 3⅝ points to 40⅝ on the poor 1929 earnings report, which was blamed on the pre-payment of parcel post policy adopted in the middle of the year, but rallied to 42½ in the early afternoon under the impetus of short covering. Sears-Roebuck reacted 2 points to 87 and then snapped back to 93. J. I. Case, Auburn Auto and U. S. Industrial Alcohol sold 3½ points to 5 points lower before they met effective buying support.

Goodyear Rubber, which is expected to show around $10 a share, despite heavy inventory charge-offs, in its annual report to be published next month, was run up 5 points. F. G. Shattuck advanced more than 6 points on reports of a large expansion program for 1930. Beechnut Packing advanced 4 points and National Biscuit (old) sold at least 3 points higher.

Steels, particularly of the specialty variety, attracted a large following. United States Steel common, after opening unchanged at 179, sold down a point and then rallied above 180. Inland Steel was marked up 5 points and Vanadium 4⅝. International Combustion preferred, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Western Union, Westinghouse Electric first preferred and the American Tobacco issues sold 3 to 5 points higher.

RAILS IN DEMAND

Although most of the recent railroad earnings reports have made disappointing comparisons with the corresponding period of a year before, there was a good demand for some of the high grade railroad shares. New York and Harlem jumped 10 points in odd lot transactions. Atchison was marked up at least 3 points and St. Louis Southwestern and "Nickel Plate" were among the issues to advance 2 points or more.

Coppers started upward in the early afternoon, Anaconda, Kennecott, Granby and Calumet and Arizona being quickly marked up 1 to 2 points.

EATON MERGER TERMS DUE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The New York Evening Post today says that the capitalization of the new $350,000,000 Republic Steel Corporation, organized by Cyrus Eaton to merge four Middle West steel companies, will consist of approximately 2,000,000 no-par common shares, $55,000,000 in 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock and $60,000,000 in underlying debt.

Official announcement of the merger terms is expected late today by Otis and Company, investment bankers, who head the banking group organized to underwrite the exchange of securities.

There will be no bond issue and no increase in the funded debt of the companies being brought together. No immediate public offering of securities is planned.

The units of the merger are the Republic Iron and Steel Company, Central Alloy Steel Corporation, Bourne-Fuller Co and the Donner teel Company, Inc. Wall street expects that he Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Inland Steel Company will eventually form part of the new combine.

Virginian Petition Opposed by C. & O.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The plan of the Virginian Railroad to build a short line connecting it with the New York Central at Deepwater, W. Va., was attacked today by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

In a brief filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission the Chesapeake and Ohio contended the proposed extension would open no local territory, would serve no local traffic and would meet no local need.

Canadian Bank Gets Cuban Sugar Mill

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—With Liverpool quotations much lower than expected, and the amount of wheat on ocean passage showing a decided increase, wheat values here headed downgrade today. Further Russian offers of wheat to other countries were reported. Opening ¾ to 1½c off, Chicago wheat later underwent an additional downturn. Corn, oats and provisions were also weaker, with corn starting ¼ to ½c off and subsequently sagging still more. Both corn and oats made new low price records for the season.

Word that export demand for North American wheat had apparently flattened out went hand in hand today with news of 2,528,000 bushels enlargement of supplies of wheat afloat on the ocean. Advices also were received giving details of continuance of Russian offers to ship wheat abroad, and mentioning that a full cargo of such wheat is now being loaded. Notice was also being taken that dispatches from trans-Atlantic sources persisted in emphasizing the big visible stocks of wheat in the United States and Canada.

On the resulting downward swing today of the wheat market here, however, active trading developed around $1.25 a bushel, May delivery, and good-sized amounts of wheat changed hands at that figure. Meanwhile, a bearish factor as to wheat was heavy liquidating sales of May and July deliveries of rye here. Prominent among the sellers of rye were houses with foreign connections.

Business Forecasters Fail to Agree

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

WHILE industrial activity in the Pittsburgh district has been on an upward trend since the beginning of the year, opinions as to the future course of business show a wide range of divergence. Some comments are extremely optimistic and predict a resumption of steel output at close to capacity rates within a short time while others state that the present upward swing is merely seasonal and does not foreshadow any gains beyond a normal fluctuation for this period of the year.

In the less optimistic class is a study of business conditions made by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York which states that there is as yet no conclusive evidence of an upturn in business activity but that the outlook has improved considerably since the beginning of the year.

The survey states that, although industrial operations continued to decline in December, even with the allowance for the usual seasonal let down due to the holidays and the inventory period, the revival in the last few weeks has been at least as prompt and vigorous as was generally expected. This recovery, while largely seasonal, has been sufficiently marked to warrant a more optimistic attitude than was possible a month ago.

Outlook for Last Half

WHILE business men and bankers seem to be unable to agree on the prospects for the immediate future, practically all of them expect business to attain a satisfactory volume by the latter half of the present year. In the steel industry most of them are also hopeful of regaining the ground lost in prices during the past few months.

The Guaranty Trust survey, which certainly is not guilty of excessive optimism, confirms this view on the latter part of the year. In discussing the business situation it says:

"The tangible igns of improvement are confined mostly to industrial operations. Perhaps the outstanding development in this connection is the increase in demand for and output of steel, which was foreshadowed by the large gain in unfilled orders last month. The report for the first week of January was rather disappointing, with weakness shown both in production and in prices. As regards the rate of output, this tendency has been reversed in the last few weeks. Construction contracts awarded since the beginning of the year have also been in encouraging volume, the daily average being much larger than in December and nearly equal to that of a year ago.

No Immediate Gains

"SUCH reports as these have been made the basis for predictions that an immediate business revival is in prospect, with perhaps another recession in the next few months, and a slower and more sustained recovery later. Although such a trend is by no means without precedent, the upward movement since the first of January, encouraging as it is, has been hardly general enough to warrant a very confident expectation of imminent expansion in business at large. A more conservative view of the present situation seems to point to a period of several months of subnormal, though not severely depressed, industrial and trade activity, with a genuine recovery later in the year.

"Credit conditions certainly present no serious obstacle to business expansion, at any rate in the chief industrial centers. Although the liquidation of collateral loans since the panic in the stock market has not proceeded so far as might have been expected, and although conditions are not so easy in certain country districts as in New York and other leading cities, credit is generally available for business purposes at moderate rates. The slight stringency in the money market at the year-end, as was anticipated, proved to be purely temporary. The seasonal expansion in federal reserve note circulation in December has been entirely canceled, and the amount of notes now outstanding is the smallest since last July. The retirement of the notes has been accompanied by a reduction in member bank borrowing from the reserve institutions to the lowest level reported in about two years. These developments have entirely offset the effects of gold exports, and the reserve ratio for the system as a whole is higher than it has been at any other time in the last six months.

Gold Movement

"THE outward movement of gold, which reached very large proportions in the last two months of 1929, continued in the first week of January, but at a greatly reduced rate; and in the following week no shipments of any consequence took place, while there was an actual gain in the gold stock through a reduction in the amount held under ear-mark for foreign account. Thus far, considerably less than half of the gold that entered the country during the first two months of 1929 has been re-exported. The suspension of gold exports has probably had some influence on the money market for the time being, but it is not to be assumed that it marks the end of the current export movement."

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.

New York in 1975
(With the usual apologies)

THE theater managers and owners met today to discuss ways and means of eliminating the ticket speculators.

Gus Spong, grandson of Hilda Spong, one-time famous actress, wrote editors aht what the theater really needs is a dramatic critic or two who know how to write "constructive criticism."

Abraham Lindbergh, grandson of Charles Lindbergh, swam the Atlantic Ocean yesterday, bringing to mind his grandfather's exploit in 1927, considered an "event" at the time.

Sports writers are eating their words over Jack (Kid) Berg, 3d., who whipped Felix Canzoneri, grandson of Tony Canzoneri. A coincident is that New York scriveners away back in 1930 said the same thing, "He can't hit," about Berg's grandfather, who might not have been able to hit, but "You should have seen the other feller?"

OLD FAMILY CUSTOM

HARRY REICHMAN, nephew of Harry Reichman, a popular cafe yeller of many years ago, announced that he would wed a talking picture actress. With all the publicity given to the pair it doesn't seem to help as young Reichman, who was booked for a run at the Paramount, closes after two weeks.

Another manager barred a dramatic critic yesterday because the critic, according to Mr. Manager, "made an ugly noise at me with his mouth as I passed by." The critic denied the charge but added that it was a good idea.

Walda Winchell, daughter of Walter Winchell (1897-1954), in her column called "Things I Never Knew Till Now" asserts among other ridiculous things that a hen lays the big end of the egg first!

There was a stiff discussion in Congress yesterday over the probable amendment of the Eighteenth Amendment, the drys, however arguing that with appropriations they could dry the nation in a year.

APPETITE STAYS WEAK

JAMES J. WALKER, the grand old man of Tammany Hall and Mayor of Manhattan eight times, had a dinner hurled in his honor again this afternoon at the Uh-Huh Hotel and was wheeled in as late as usual.

The Coast Guard shot and killed three rum-runners last night and the editorialists are weary of writing on the same subject.

Anthony Adams, son of the famous F. P. A. of the World (who flourished in the 1930s), was held for unlawful entry for going into the wrong house. This is most amusing considering that his old man, who did a column, carried on a campaign for "Visible Numbers."

O. O. McIntyre, 2d, is doing a column for out-of-town newspapers about New York but not with the same old snap and zip of his parent, who was choked by a reader on general principles.

Eddie Cantor, who stated that he would retire from the stage in 1929, begins another Farewell tour tonight.

CAN'T BE TRUE

A NEW Newsreel Theater is being planned, the sponsors feeling confident that it will be a tremendous success chiefly because their newsreels will not include any scenes of French peasants crushing grapes in huge bowls with their bare feet; race track scenes in Australia will be omitted; freak celebrities won't be called on for talks; shots of skiing will be taboo as well as "Palm Beach Beauties" at play on Fire Dep't apparatus.

Richard E. Byrd, who visited the North and South Poles many years ago, froze to death in a taxi that featured a "Heated" sign.

Another passenger plane was wrecked with all on board killed, officials for the company stating that the accident was due to a "freak storm" and couldn't have happened over anything else.

There is a great to-do going on at the Capitol because someone just discovered that there were only 499 words in the 500-Word History of the United States on the Mountain.

The Broadway night clubs are still complaining over the fact that they have more entertainers than customers.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

TEXAS GUINAN, a night club hostess said to be the daughter of a former Broadway favorite, was acquitted in the Federal Building for the tenth time yesterday on a charge of selling laughing soup.

A judge who was given a dinner by prominent gangsters has given them permits to carry machine guns in return for the compliment and the town is in a rage considering that the murders of Arthur Rothchild and Frank Marlow, who were taken for rides a month ago, are not solved. The Chief Magistrate, however, has threatened an investigation, which is something.

Another Smith College student was missing for two days and the university heads announced that she had been "kidnaped." Local gossip, however, being funny that way, is murmuring "Yeah?"

The censors are complaining about certain scenes in the movies, particularly the scene in a Barrymore picture, which reveals the Great Lover appearing without his trousers. This is ridiculous. There is hardly a show on Broadway that doesn't feature the unfunny bit.

ORIGINALITY FIRST

HOLLYWOOD, incidentally, announces several new films, including three about back-stage life and 11 with courtroom scenes. Jackie Coogan, who started his career as a child star in the movies, is making personal appearances on the small time with an imitation of Chas. Chaplin, whoever he was.

Old Mabel Boll, one of the oldest characters in the town, keeps mumbling something about the time she made a trip in a plane to France, but according to the Almanac, she is a white-fibber.

Peggy Joyce, granddaughter of the Peggy Joyce who was a much sought after beauty ever so long ago, was asked by reporters why she didn't write a book on the real romances of her famous grandmother. Miss Joyce replied that she was offered $20,000 from a publisher to "tell all," but that descendants of Men Who Wooed Her Granny had paid her much more not to.

Officers Elected By Chartiers Trust

At the annual meeting of the Chartiers Trust Company, McKees Rocks, T. W. Friend, C. W. Wrenshall, William F. Herbst, Frank J. Lanahan, Miles Bryan, F. N. Hoffstot, T. J. Gillespie, Ira W. Johnston and Thomas B. McConaughey were elected directors. The board organized as follows: President, T. W. Friend; vice president, Frank J. Lanahan; secretary and treasurer, Ira W. Johnston; assistant secretary and treasurer, Henry G. Haupt.

Meet Arranged By Trafford Post

Trafford Post No. 331, American Legion, has appointed a committee to arrange for its second annual meet, to be held July 9, 10, 11 and 12. Outside talent is being sought and plenty of amusement is promised. A committee also has been named to consider the purchasing of the Lutheran church building as a community center and permanent home for the post.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Pursuing the Villain

By Plumb and Conselman

Ella's motion picture troupe is on a ship cast helplessly about by rough weather.
THEY'RE LOOKING FOR O. WATTERS NEEK! THE CAPTAIN SUSPECTS HIM OF WRECKING THE SHIP'S COMPASS AND RADIO DURING THE STORM!
I WANT THAT FELLOW IN THE BRIG BEFORE HE STARTS A MUTINY!
BUT, CAPTAIN, YOU CAN'T LOCK HIM UP! HE PLAYS THE ROLE OF VILLAIN IN MY TALKING PICTURE!
AYE, AND WELL CAST HE IS TOO! AND WHEN I HAVE HIM IN IRONS, WE'LL BOTH KNOW WHERE TO FIND HIM WHEN WE WANT HIM!
PERHAPS YOU'RE RIGHT! I CAN'T PHOTOGRAPH HIM WHILE HE'S HIDING! THE ONLY WAY TO KEEP HIM BEFORE THE CAMERA IS TO PUT HIM BEHIND THE BARS!

THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Ha, Competition

By Tuthill

WHERE'S PONTOON?
OUT FOR AN AUTO RIDE WITH YOUR BROTHER LOUIE AND HIS ARISTOCRATIC WIFE, CLARYCE. THOSE TWO SPENT ALL AFTERNOON IN THE PARLOR SAYING, YES, YES, YES, TO PONTOON AND BRAGGING ABOUT THE BUNGLE FAMILY.
1-27
WHAT? MY WORD I THOUGHT WE AGREED NOT TO LET LOUIE AND CLARYCE, IN PARTICULAR, TALK TO—
I WAS DOWN IN THE LAUNDRY WHEN THE DOORBELL RANG. I RAN UPSTAIRS AND FOUND THAT GUSHY CLARYCE, AND LOUIE HERE TALKING TO PONTOON AS THOUGH THEY'D KNOWN HIM FOR YEARS.
SUCH CRUST! WHAT ALL DID THEY SAY TO HIM? START AT THE BEGINNING AND—
GEORGE, I DIDN'T HAVE TIME TO SIT THERE AND LISTEN. ESPECIALLY TO THAT SUGARY-VOICED CLARYCE. I WAS JUST BOILING ANYHOW TO THINK THAT CLARYCE HAD THE NERVE TO COME HERE AND NOT SAY ONE WORD ABOUT MY GENUINE SILVER SPOONS SHE GOT OVER A YEAR AGO.
SPOONS? LISTEN, JO, WHAT DOES A SET OF SPOONS AMOUNT TO AT A TIME LIKE THIS? LOUIE IS MY OWN BROTHER BUT EVEN AS A BOY HE WAS PRACTICALLY A GENIUS AT TALKING PEOPLE INTO ASKING HIM TO MIND THEIR MONEY FOR THEM.
CLARYCE WOULD DO ANYTHING TOO. AND— HERE COMES PONTOON NOW, WHISTLING.

ANOTHER GOOD BOY GONE WRONG

Dear Sir Editor:

I have been studying poetry and for nearly one year and I know other Philippino boy poets not study much at all.

Enclosing is a poetry piece with gentle ryming like Mr. Kipperling:

I have good job in dirty kitchen
Washing dish and work in kitchen.
Street cars pass with Bang, Clang, Bong,
And so gladly I am I singing a song
I am work so hard but I don't care
My boss give me raise maybe next year,

Canal Project Meeting Important to District

A convention that is most important to the industrial aims of Pittsburgh, Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday. The purpose is the furthering of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Canal project. The specific reason for the meeting at this time is the assembling of tonnage data and outlining the plan for presenting it as an argument for constructing the proposed canal at a hearing before the U. S. Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, February 4.

The significance of this convention lies in that fact that it is the board of army engineers that will have to be convinced. Congress, of course, will have the final say in the matter, but it will be guided by the recommendation of the board of engineers. Much money has been spent on this project, for which surveys have been made. It has been spent by the federal government and by the states of Ohio and Pennsylvania. Yet the backers of the canal feel that all that has been done through a long period of years will have been in vain if the board of engineers does not feel warranted by such facts as are presented to it to make a favorable report.

The necessity for such a canal will be gauged by the estimated tonnage it would transport. Such an estimate is to be worked out and other facts summarized as a result of Thursday's meeting here. It is expected to be attended by many persons from the localities that would be benefited in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

If We Object to League We Should Avoid World Court

Q. Didn't President Hoover declare that joining the LEAGUE COURT wouldn't bring us any closer to the LEAGUE?

A. That's what he stated.

Q. Didn't Hughes declare that it would?

A. He said that it would and how it would.

Q. What did Hoover say exactly?

A. He said in his opening address to Congress:

"Our adherence to the INTERNATIONAL COURT is, as now constituted, not the slightest step toward entry into the LEAGUE OF NATIONS."

Q. What did Hughes say to contradict that?

A. He related some of the purposes for which we must enter the LEAGUE OF NATIONS by reason of belonging to its COURT.

Q. For example?

A. Well, he said:

"After the nominations have been made, the election of the WORLD COURT judges takes place in the COUNCIL AND THE ASSEMBLY OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

"If the UNITED STATES adheres to the protocol of the COURT, it will be entitled to participate as a great power in the elections IN BOTH THE COUNCIL AND THE ASSEMBLY."

Q. We are entitled to, but MUST we enter the ASSEMBLY and the COUNCIL of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS for that purpose?

A. We probably must do so for our own protection. We want to exercise some influence when 54 members of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS are electing a COURT that will in many things determine the fate of our country.

Q. Yes, that seems reasonable, but is there anything else to make us become a part of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS?

A. Yes. For our protection again we will probably want to participate in the ASSEMBLY and COUNCIL when they are voting the occasional changes in the statute of the LEAGUE'S COURT, defining its methods and power.

Q. Is there any other reason for thinking that we will participate in this work with the ASSEMBLY and the COUNCIL?

A. Yes, we specifically reserve that right in the present plan for joining the LEAGUE'S COURT.

Q. Is there anything else which will lead us to become a part of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS?

A. Yes, periodically someone from the UNITED STATES must enter the LEAGUE'S treasury and hand in a check for our share of salaries for the LEAGUE COURT'S judges: who are paid by the LEAGUE direct.

Q. Well, well, will the COURT involve us any further in the LEAGUE?

A. Yes, indeed. We must for our protection keep a man outside the door of the COUNCIL of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS, ready to argue with them.

Q. What about?

A. About "advisory opinions" which the LEAGUE'S COUNCIL may require of the LEAGUE'S COURT. Under the Senate's original Reservation Five we could stop the LEAGUE COURT from rendering a hostile "advisory opinion" by simply serving notice of protest. Under the substitute Reservation Five, we can no longer automatically stop an "advisory opinion" by protest. All we can do is to argue against it in the COUNCIL of the LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Q. Well, who wrote THAT pretty little substitute?

A. Sir Cecil Hurst, legal adviser of the British Foreign Office.

Q. And does Hoover think Sir Cecil's reservation is an adequate substitute for the Senate's?

A. Yes.

Q. Does Hoover want us in the LEAGUE?

A. Well, he once signed a round robin asking citizens to vote for Harding because Harding would put us in the LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Q. Goodness, will this COURT involve us in the LEAGUE OF NATIONS in any other respect?

A. No, not until they ask us to come over to the COUNCIL and confer about ENFORCING some decision in which our official judge participated.

Q. Can they make us do that?

A. The League is EXPECTED to ENFORCE the decisions of its Court and if we help prescribe the medicine, we'll be expected to help administer it.

Q. Heavens, if we are going to join the LEAGUE'S COURT hadn't we better join the LEAGUE OF NATIONS so that in COUNCIL and ASSEMBLY we can stop these frame-ups in the beginning?

A. That is what advocates of the LEAGUE say.

Q. But the country doesn't want to be in the LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

A. Then it had better stay out of the LEAGUE'S COURT.

Q. Are Hughes and Root and Hoover all really working to put us into the LEAGUE OF NATIONS?

A. That's what they have all declared for and perhaps that is what they are working for.

Springing From the Roots -:- Drawn by Nelson Harding

A strange and scarcely human shape
Has sprung up in the land
With madness in its glaring eye
And murder in its hand.

A menace to Society,
It will not cease to grow

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Can't Have Everything

Why not give the people light wines and beer?

They seem to have everything else.

You cannot see America first with your head in the sand. Both sides seem to have plenty of arguments in their favor and we see no reason why we should lead the life of a clay pipe in a shooting gallery without ever finding out what all the shooting's about.

The developments in the interstate gambol indicate that the House wets are to demand national referendum on repeal of the famous ghost amendment.

Senator Shepard, dry, says examples must be made of the high-brow buyers.

The bootchleggers are doing that right now.

Commissioner Doran blames the killing of two Florida revenuers on inflammatory attacks on dry personnel. The inflammatory attacks were criticism of the Massachusetts massacres in which no examples were made of high, low or neutral brows.

It seems the Republicans are willing to listen to a national broadcast of popular referendum. With the privilege of tuning out when it gets too popular.

This referendum could be crashed by small states holding out for a better offer.

It would require two-thirds of Congress to put the damper on the famous hypothetical amendment. And two-thirst vote is not representative.

We're all loaded up on the what, why and whoozus of prohibition and its symptoms. If the wets were smart and the drys were intelligent they would call it a draw.

An indorsement of the ectoplasm contained in the eighteenth legislative patch would not scotch the snake nor snake the Scotch.

Which is one reason the drys should rest on their insomnia producing laurels. And if the wets stir up too much fermenting legislation they are liable to lose that which they have now.

The drys might give the wets light wines and beer if they promise to give up liquor. You can't have everything.

HEADACHES FOR ATLAS

HISTORY again stands indecisive at the cross-roads. A new epoch is in the making; ideals, ethics, industrial management, politics, dynamics, conceptions of education, statecraft, distribution and liberty are all fluxing in the melting pot and ready for remolding.

Precedent was never so incompetent an advisor; legal traditions and court procedures helter-skelterly built upon the Justinian Code, clerical jurisprudence and medieval reasoning are pleading to be pruned of deadwood and rank growth.

The last 10 years have witnessed a 25 per cent increase in our jail and penitentiary population, and NINETY-THREE out of every hundred convicts were committed for felonies and misdemeanors OTHER than Eighteenth Amendment violations.

STATISTICS annually show a greater number of old folk without livelihood or means of self-support, and all portents signify that this non-producing class will GROW instead of diminish, as industry is further automatized.

Universities overcrowded with slackers, class-cutters and purposeless students begin to confess that they cannot properly function as presently constituted.

Agriculture faces a complete right-about. The farmer's wife wants to live in town, his daughter insists on running a typewriter instead of a separator, and his son would rather stand behind a counter than behind a plow.

Farming can no longer count upon family co-operation, and its vicarious earnings may seldom afford the short hours, mounting wages and expensive upkeep of hired help.

The South is losing its negro labor and the North is running out of jobs for them.

WE'RE planting too much wheat and we're raising too little cattle.

Freight tariffs are burdened with thriftless duplication of railroad linage.

Federal bureaus, which like Topsy have "just growed" without pre-arranged plans, are in process of reconstruction and adaptation to Twentieth Century conditions.

The one-armed paper hanger with his case of hives has nothing on the President of the United States.

Ramsay MacDonald, with budget and disarmament problems, a mess in Egypt, a muddle in India, religious unrest in Jerusalem and Arabia, a demoralized coal trade, the dole question, an obstructive House of Lords and an incipient revolt in his own left wing, isn't noticeably holding a sinecure EITHER.

NOT that he enjoys any monopoly in trials and tribulations. The emergencies and crises lately thrust upon European capacity have practically exhausted its genius.

Besides slaughtering the flower of continental manhood, the Great War as ogreishly claimed all its experienced leadership. Clemenceau is gone; Poincare is a gutted shell; Nitti, Orlando, Sonnino, Balfour, Grey and Asquith are missing from the scene; Venizelos is a cynical onlooker in Athens; Germany is hardly out of the convalescent ward; Spain has slumped to a third-rate power; Greece and Hungary are drifting derelicts; Rumania is an inconsequent figure among the nations; China, in chaos, and Russia, an unrepentant prodigal wallowing in self-invoked mires.

The Seven Labors of Hercules were nursery sports compared to the tasks with which civilization must wrestle during the next decade.

:- LISTEN, WORLD! -:

By Elsie Robinson

HAPPILY married? Yes? That's fine. But just what do you mean by that answer?

JUST WHAT ARE YOU GETTING OUT OF MARRIAGE . . . JUST WHAT IS MARRIAGE DOING TO YOU?

Have you ever honestly faced that question? The hero of John Erskine's new book, "SINCERITY," faced it . . . with amazing consequences. He, too, thought he was having a happy married life. Then an odd, provoking article set him wondering with this result.

"I'm one of those men," he said, "whose lives are made narrow, as it seems to me, by the goodness of their wives, their respectability, everything that's admirable about them . . . What Isabel likes in me are the few qualities which correspond exactly with qualities in herself. We confine ourselves to those common interests. But of course there are sides of my nature which match nothing in hers. If I try to develop them, she fears I'll drift away. To keep her contented, I must let part of myself die."

Is that what is happening to YOU, in marriage?

You didn't think that marriage was going to change you two. YOUR marriage was going to be DIFFERENT . . . YOUR marriage wasn't going to degenerate into the dull routine that had trapped your friends. For YOU-TWO understood each other . . . you could always be perfectly frank with each other. . . .

So you started the great experiment together, full of courage and honest and splendid vision. . . .

But somehow, by the end of the first year, the vision wasn't quite as glorious. That perfect frankness hadn't materialized. Of course you were just as much in love as ever . . . but . . . well, Ella didn't exactly approve of some of your notions, Bill . . . and Jim got all smoked up over some of your ideas, Sally . . . and so, "TO KEEP THE PEACE" you kept certain things to yourself . . . stopped giving yourself up to those dreams . . . stopped flaming with those noble rebellions . . . stopped listening for that secret music.

"LEARNING TO GET ALONG WITH EACH OTHER" . . . that's what you call it.

Letting your individuality wither and your differences smooth out into a deadly conformity! Yet those very differences were what first made you attractive to each other and that individuality was what made marriage alluring.

And now, because you didn't have the courage to be honest with each other, because you didn't have the courage to 'Be Yourselves, you are smothering in that monotonous Sameness which has engulfed your friends.

You don't fight. You never criticize each other. You agree on everything. And so, with each year, you grow more comfortable and complacent—AND MORE DEAD!

IS THAT what you call "a happy marriage?"

Text for Today

He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliver him, and honor him.—Psalms xci:15.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

LIKE the feeding polyps, they are predatory; they have stinging-cells and they paralyze and engulf a variety of microscopic creatures. But they are altogether more complicated in structure than the polyps; they have a definite stomach leading into a system of canals which, like the branched stomach of a flatworm, carries food to all parts of the body; they have special sense-organs; they are male or female.

Dangling down under the bell there are tiny bags filled with eggs or spermatozoa. The little jellyfishes, or medusae, swim in shoals at the surface of the sea, and, when they are ripe, they shed their spermatozoa or eggs, as the case may be, into the sea water.

H. G. Wells

The two mix together, and in this primitive manner the eggs are fertilized. They develop into simple elongated larvae, called planulae, mouthless bags which swim by means of cilia with which they are covered.

These larvae are the founders of new colonies. They settle on pieces of wood, seaweed, and so on, and develop into feeding polyps; the polyps bud out stems which give rise to other polyps; and thus a new colony is formed.

Evidently there is an alternation of phases in the life-cycle of Obelia: First, the fixed, budding colony of polyps, and then the free-swimming sexual medusa, charged with the duty of founding new colonies in distant places.

We have used the phrase "alternation of phases" rather than "alternation of generations" because it is open to question whether the fixed stage should be called a generation at all.

Now the feeding-polyps can perform independent movements of a considerable degree of complexity—they look like individuals—and the blastostyles have essentially the structure of polyps, so that we may, if we choose, regard the feeding-polyps and blastostyles as individuals, specialized in different ways in order to build up a colony, much as our cells are individuals specialized in different ways in order to build up a body. We may regard the polyp as the homologue of a man.

In ourselves, the species consists entirely of discreet and highly complicated cell-communities that we call individuals. Moreover, in our case, this kind of organization is necessary, for human tissue cannot live unless it is part of a human body, unless it is elaborately nursed into a tissue-culture—made to believe, so to say, that it is part of a body.

But in Obelia the reality is not a number of separate individuals, but the plastic living tissue, growing and budding and branching, throwing out now a feeding-polyp, now a blastostyle, now a medusa; not definitely committed to any one of these kinds of body, but sprouting and reorganizing itself as circumstances determine.

It is a living continuum; a mob of cells which may be turned to this or that. So long as any part of the mob lives it may continue the race. Even in ourselves there is an underlying reality of this kind, for we, the individuals die, and yet through us the race continues; small portions of tissue, single cells detached from our bodies, may hand on the life of the species by growing and building themselves into new individuals. But in our case, the capacity for reproduction is retained only by a few specialized cells.

Sec. 3. Polyps, Jellyfish, Sea-Anemones, Corals.

NOW Obelia belongs to a phylum, the Coelenterata, which includes a large number of different forms, all aquatic and nearly all marine.

Like Obelia, their bodies are always simply organized, without elaborate organ-systems and with little differentiation of tissue, and their symmetry is nearly always radial, like the symmetry of a starfish, and not bilateral, like the symmetry of a vetebrate.

For the latter reason the Echinoderms and Coelenterates used to be classified together in the phylum "Radiata"—but it is now recognized that they are utterly distinct from each other; the Echinoderm has an altogether more highly organized and specialized interior than the Coelenterate.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up singing in the bath until someone rapped next door. Nor did I blame them soever. So to walk and stopped in to see Ray Long, Jr., who said he did not want to be an editor like his Daddy because it was just "pinning and pasting."

Home to find an absorbing letter from a man who lost his fortune in New York four years ago and is in a South African village of 600 souls, a derelict, but happy philosopher. Then to an afternoon tea with my wife and to see some ship models, which fascinate me more than great paintings.

All evening at my typewriter, having promised to deliver a screed by morning post, but at midnight had finished but four lines, so abandoned it albeit am desperately in need of money. As who isn't these days? And in despair awake until the coming of dawn.

Innumerable beauty and hair dressing parlors in New York are able to make weekly expenses with the Saturday afternoon "rush." Eddies of smartly gowned women wait in line at the entrances for their Saturday chance. On Broadway it is frequently necessary to make appointments two weeks in advance for that day.

It is the day women business executives have the care lines of the week removed with facials. Perky little girls of the small felt hats must have a Saturday bob to enhance charms with boy friends. Old, young and middle-aged want their manicures. And so on.

Something about the intimacy of beauty salons makes tongues wag. They would be great spots for eavesdropping tabloid tattlers. Ordinarily tight-lipped women suddenly find themselves gabby and revealing secrets to Yvonnes, Adeles and Ninas.

Hair parlors have become sieves through which high scandals of the town are sifted. A feminine familiarity that would be impossible elsewhere is bred instantly. Above the whirr of drying machines, even we husbands waiting in ante-rooms are able now and then to hear salty rumors.

After all, men are greedier for gossip than women. We may greet it with a slight shoulder shrug and a disarming little smile, but secretly we "eat it up." More reputations are torn to tatters by men in speakeasy backrooms than over teacups in the drawing rooms.

I know one of those loose wristed male butterfly gossips who invariably has a juicy morsel of scandal at his tongue's end, and I profess to a certain abhorrence publicly, but secretly am always tickled pink when he prances in.

* * *

The old time barbershop was where an older generation "dished the dirt." It was a fountain of idle tattle and groundless rumor. But modern shops with their sanitized, deodorized and white tiled glitter have the chill of a hospital receiving ward. The walls are no longer adorned with prints of Maud S. or John L. The pinkish glamour of the Police Gazette has given way to the glazed opulence of periodicals featuring riding-to-hounds and gossip of Newport. Gone are rows of individual mugs with painted lodge emblems or other insignia of one's place in the business world. The Eddies and Guses, who between shaves or hair cuts could plink off a tune on the banjo or guitar, are missing. The slightly Rabelaisian story about the "Pullman porter and the deaf old lady" has given way to a polite reference to the stock market or another fall of the French cabinet. And for those of us who cup a wily ear for a little gossip, it is a pity.

So far—and it is none of my business but I'm pouting again—all I have seen hostesses do in tea rooms is to run off with the menus.

And while I'm so super critical here's a telegram from way out yonder in Des Moines with a sting: "We are pretty fed up reading about your spats. Have you no other accomplishment?"

I do a fairly good string trick.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

FATHERS whose daughters go to large cities to work should have heart to heart talks with them.

Fathers know the temptations that exist. If they have had large city experience they should tell what they know of the things a girl should avoid. Often little pleasures that seem so harmless at the time are fore-runners of something that might create serious complications.

Above all things fathers should tell their daughters that they will stand back of them, financially and otherwise. See that the girls are never without money sufficient to meet everyday requirements so that the need of money will never force them into a possibly unpleasant situation. The girl who knows that a telegram will bring the money she needs from her father will have a degree of independence which girls often need.

One of the worst things a father can do is to quarrel with a daughter before she leaves home and in anger state that she can expect no help from him.

The girl who goes away from home should feel fortified by all the backing her father can give, and be sure he will give it when occasion demands.
